Re-Entry Would Be In Pacific

Factors to Tell How Many Trips

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States announced today that the next manned orbital flight will be planned for as many as six orbits, sometime later this summer, with astronaut Walter M. Schirra as the pilot.

Would Take 9 Hours

D. Brainerd Holmes, manned space flight director of the civilian space agency, said the decision as to the specific mission—that is, how many orbits will actually be made—will depend upon many technical factors which will be evaluated constantly up to the time of flight and even during the first turns around the earth.

If the mission goes to six orbits it would involve a nine-hour flight, compared with the 4½ hours of three-orbit missions. The two U.S. orbital flights so far have been for three turns.

The flight plan will call for considerable drifting flight to conserve fuel for re-entry maneuvering.

If the flight goes to five or six orbits it would mean landing about 300 miles northeast of Midway Island in the Pacific Ocean, although the space craft would be launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla. That is because of the rotation of the earth during the extra flight time.

A four-orbit mission would bring the craft down about 200 miles east of Midway.

Landing points for one, two or three orbits would remain the same as in earlier Mercury-Atlas missions, off the southeastern coast of the United States.

In making the announcement, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration official said:

Over 3 'A Bonus'

"We believe that another three-orbit mission will increase considerably our growing knowledge of space flight. Anything more than three orbits should be considered a bonus."

The NASA official said astronaut L. Gordon Cooper will serve as backup pilot to Schirra.

Schirra, a Navy lieutenant commander, is a graduate of the Naval Academy at Annapolis, is married and has two children. He is a native of New Jersey.

The selection of Schirra and the planning for six orbits had been reported earlier by the San Diego Union in a copyrighted story from Washington for Wednesday editions.

Selection of the primary and secondary astronauts and the decision to extend the mission followed nearly a month's study by NASA on the Malcolm Scott Carpenter flight, the Union said.

Dutchess Probes Youth's Death, Larynx Fractured

Dutchess County authorities today were investigating the mysterious death of a 16-year-old Town of LaGrange youth which occured Tuesday night at the home of a neighbor where he went for help.

Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan told The Freeman that an autopsy prformed at St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie this morning disclosed Teau G. Chamberlain, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Chamberlain, Murray Hill Road, La Gangeville, died of asphyxiation resulting from a fractured larynx.

Quinlan and District Attorney Raymond C. Baratta are directing the investigation in an attempt to learn how the youth received severe abrasions of the throat and body bruises.

Quinlan said Mrs. John Gasparini, who resides about a quarter of a mile from the Chamberlain home, was alone at her residence about 10 p. m. when she was startled by a knock on the front door. Quinlan said Mrs. Gasparini became frantic and ran upstairs. Mrs. Gasparini's husband was at work at IBM, Poughkeepsie at the time.

The sheriff said young Chamberlain appeared in the house showing evidence he had difficulty breathing. He asked for a doctor. Mrs. Gasparini notified her husband who called two neighbors. They hurried to the Gasparini home. When the neighbors arrived they saw Chamberlain standing at the kitchen sink dousing his neck with water. A physician was called and LaGrangeville firemen were summoned. A resuscitator was applied in an effort to save the boy's life but at 10:30 Chamberlain was pronounced dead.

Quinlan said Chamberlain's parents last saw the youth alive at 9:30 p. m. and until they were notified of his death they thought he was sleeping in his bedroom.

Regents Secretary Is Girls' State Speaker

"I wish we had a hundred more programs like it," Fdererick Morse, secretary of the New York State Board of Regents, said this morning about the Girls' State program as he spoke at a session in State University College at New Paltz.

Although Morse's talk was generally about the educational system of the State of New York, the girls has several questions about Regents examinations. In answer to one of the questions as to why New York still has its Regents exams when most states have dropped them, Morse said:

"When a state pays up to 60 per cent of the bill for education it becomes the function of the state to examine the students. If we don't have the Regents examinations, we lose the opportunity for checking on the equality of education. So we give the same test in a small community as we give in a large community to be sure that each student gets the basic kinds of education."

Refers to Prayer

Apparently anticipating a question concerning the banning of the Regent's Prayer, Morse said:

"If the Regents Prayer is not constitutional, so be it. The Supreme Court is the law of the land and the Board of Regents is a law abiding force."

Morse's talk also included information about college regent scholarships, the scholarship incentive programs and state aid to education and he praised the work of Mrs. Bernard Kennedy and Mrs. Leonard Miscall, Girls' State director.

The girls also heard a talk by Alton Marshall, deputy director for the Division of the State Budget. He pointed out that the current fiscal budget for the State of New York is $2.6 million.

Points to New Paltz

He pointed out that more than half of this money goes for state aid to local government and that another 300 million goes for capital construction. He used the State University of New Paltz as an example of a large capital construction program.

"I was on the New Paltz campus two years ago and if you could see the change with all the new buildings, you would understand what I mean by a large capital construction program" he said.

Two years ago the college engaged in a $30 million building program.

Nomination of state officers, political rallies in charge of party leaders, and announcement of party platforms were some of the highlights on today's agenda at the Empire Girls State session at State University College at New Paltz.

Name Californian As N.Y. Director Of Welfare Dept.

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A Californian with a reputation for working closely with local officials takes over Sept. 1 as director of New York State's costly, and often controversial, public welfare activities.

George K. Wyman, former director of the California Social Welfare Department, was appointed Tuesday as state welfare commissioner to succeed Raymond W. Houston, who resigned.

Named by Gov. Knight

Wyman thought it was a prime function of the department to help local units to do better jobs, his former associates recalled.

"He brought a good deal of confidence with him into the social welfare business," one former employe commented. "He has the ability to express things in very simple terms, so that everybody buys them."

Wyman was appointed to the California post in 1954 by Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight. He resigned when Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown took office in 1959.

The New York State Board of Social Welfare, the collective head of the State Welfare Department, said, "We think Mr. Wyman is the best man in the country for the job."

The board said that it had considered candidates from all over the country and that its choice of

Outlook Improves For Early Action On JFK Measures

EDITOR'S NOTE—As Congress rounds out the sixth month of its current session, what are the prospects for action on some of President Kennedy's major legislative proposals? Jack Bell, chief of the AP's Senate staff, surveys the outlook for several key administration bills.

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress' archaic machinery is beginning to move creakingly toward some decisions on President Kennedy's major legislative proposals.

Despite an unresolved Senate-House spat over prestige that has blocked passage of money bills, administration prospects for early action on important measures seem improved.

A sugar quota bill, drastically revised from the measure the House previously passed, got the blessing and support in the Senate of Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Needed by Saturday

Final agreement between the two houses is needed on this measure before the fiscal year expires at midnight Saturday.

In this same deadline category is the administration's House-passed measure to raise the debt limit to $308 billion. Leaders hope to bang it through the Senate Thursday or Friday.

The House faces up to decisions on Kennedy's international trade expansion bill, cleared Tuesday by an 8-7 vote on the Rules Committee for procedures which would

Word Given About No Oran Sabotage

ALGIERS (AP)—Leaders of the terrorist Secret Army Organization in Oran, which has virtually held that city in its grip for months, appeared today to be giving up the bloody struggle.

It was too early to be certain that the secret army was fading off the scene in the western Algerian city.

Broadcasts Order

But there were these indications:

—French authorities reported that former Col. Jean Defour, one of the secret army leaders in western Algeria, made a broadcast Tuesday night ordering a halt to sabotage in Oran.

—Unconfirmed reports circulated in Oran that ex-Gen. Paul Gardy, had fled Oran with several of his aides. Gardy had announced he was taking over leadership of the secret army after several top figures in the organization were captured.

—Pierre Laffont, the director of the Oran paper, Echo D'Oran, and a leader of the European community, said Algeria should become independent in peace. In an editorial, Laffont called on residents of the Oran area to avoid new suffering during the days leading to independence.

No Fresh Violence

—There were no fresh reports of violence in Oran, which has frequently been tortured by explosions and fires for weeks. Telephone communications, cut by sabotage, were returning to normal.

A huge fire on oil tanks on the waterfront caused authorities to close the port Tuesday, blocking the exit of European refugees by ship for at least 48 hours.

—Rene Soyer, a French official who has been trying to mediate between Oran's secret army and the Moslem National Liberation Front (FLN), predicted a peace agreement by Friday. He left for Oran, apparently taking new instructions.

Others Optimistic

Other officials also expressed optimism that a deal could be worked out and terrorism halted in the west Algerian port before Algeria's Moslem majority endorses independence in a self-determination referendum Sunday.

Soyer began his mediation efforts after the deserter French officers directing European resistance in Oran rejected the peace pact worked out 10 days ago between the Algiers' secret army command and the Moslems.

Although vague in its promise of amnesty for European terrorists and the integration of Europeans in local security forces, the pact has brought peace to most of Algeria.

Black, left, wrote the majority decision of the Supreme Court ruling that it is a violation of the Constitution for New York to authorize the saying of official prayers in public schools. Rain, Hail Hit City, Hyde Park Has Fire

After a day of high humidity Ulster County was hit by a series of showers Tuesday afternoon, the rain being particulraly heavy in the city where rain fell at an intensity of three inches an hour for a period of some 15 to 20 minutes. The total rainfall registered at the city engineer's office was 1.60 inches, most of which fell between 3:45 and 4:30 p. m.

Lightning reportedly caused fire which resulted in extensive damage to a mansion on the former Vanderbilt estate at Hyde Park. Fourteen firemen suffered smoke inhalation and one volunteer was injured, but not seriously.

Heaviest Rain at 4

An early afternoon shower dropped about a quarter of an inch of rain but the heaviest rain came with the second shower shortly after 4 o'clock. Hail fell in many sections of the city.

Flood conditions were reported in many sections of the city where catch basins were unable to cope with the heavy rain. The Broadway underpass was flooded and traffic piled up at the spot before cars detoured around the flooded area.

In the county area, the Ulster County Extension Service reported heavy rains but apparently the fruit belt escaped the heavy hail which fell in Kingston. No reports of damage had been received at the John Street office early today and apparently there was little damage to fruit.

Central Hudson had some scattered interruptions and there were a few customers who reported telephone service out.

Damage estimated in excess of $50,000 was caused by a Tuesday night fire in the old Huyler mansion on the former Vanderbilt estate at Hyde Park, and authorities said lightning during one of a series of violent thunderstorms that swept the Hudson Valley, probably

Saugerties Youth in Race For Boys' State Governor

HAMILTON, N. Y. (AP) — Delegates to the 25th annual Boys' State go to the polls today to choose their state "governor" and other officials.

They will be faced with voting for the Federalist Party, which promises public hearings on the state budget, or the Nationalists, who would stengthen civil rights in the state.

A total of 1,025 high school boys are attending the week-long exercise in governmental operations and practical politics, sponsored by the American Legion at Colgate University.

Brian E. Legg, 17, of Saugerties, is the Federalists' gubernatorial candidate. The Nationalists' standard-bearer is Allen R. Bentley, 16, of Cortland.

Gov. Rockefeller, in an address at Tuesday's session, told the boys that a political leader must be willing to take unpopular stands occasionally.

"A man has got to go with his own conscience. . .even though he may sometimes be going against the wishes of his party," Rockefeller said.

Other candidates in today's election include:

Lieutenant governor — Federalist, Larry R. Davis, 17, of Earlville; Nationalist, Mark A. Mikolas, 16, of Binghamton.

Comptroller — Federalist, Arthur F. Jones, 16, of Frankfort; Nationalist, William R. Stephenson, 16, Bemus Point, Chautauqua County.

Ennist Is Going To Grand Jury On Holdup Charge

William C. Ennist, 16, of Box 50, Bloomington, charged with a holdup and burglary, through his attorney Charles J. Saccoman, today waived preliminary hearing before Special City Judge Hugh R. Elwyn, and the case was referred to the grand jury.

Police charge Ennist with having taken $88.60 at gunpoint from Lloyd Markle, of 96 Broadway, early Tuesday at the Kingston Diner, 318 Broadway, where it is said, he used a .22 calibre rifle taken in an alleged earlier burglary at the Elston Sport Shop, 260 Fair Street. He is also charged with having taken a hunting knife, flashlight and ammunition.

Says Burglary Admitted

Ennist, police said, was apprehended by Sgt. Julius Glassman on the Boulevard within an hour after the alleged stickup. County Investigator Arthur Brown said the youth admitted committing a June 13 burglary at the Wiltwyck Country Club from which $55 and a $69.50 wrist watch were reported missing.

Solons Hit Atheism, Red Help

Election of High Tribunal Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of Congress, still firing salvos of criticism at the Supreme Court's ruling against public school prayers, have introduced amendments to the Constitution to override the decision.

But congressional leaders—and the long, tedious mechanics involved—cast doubt on the move's success.

Overruling Power Asked

Charges of atheism and giving aid to communism were hurled across Capitol Hill at the white marble court building by members of the legislative branch, some of whom contended the justices had taken God out of the law of the land.

While amendments to legalize classroom praying were introduced in both House and Senate, there were also demands for stronger action, including amendments to require Supreme Court justices to stand for election and giving Congress the power to overrule the court's decisions.

The possibility was seen as remote, however, that any of the suggested constitutional changes could win the needed two-thirds majority in both houses and ratification by three-fourths of the states.

Dirksen Doubtful

In the Senate, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he didn't think the proposals to put classroom prayers in the Constitution could be passed.

"The proposition of church and state is so ingrained into our people that I doubt that such an amendment would be adopted," Dirkson said.

A similar view was expressed in the House by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the Judiciary Committee, who declared the court had no other choice.

"The First Amendment is well grounded in history and has served to save the United States from civil religious strife," Celler said.

The court held 6 to 1 Monday that a prayer drafted by New York's Board of Regents and recommended for recital at the beginning of each school day was "an establishment of religion"

State's Defense Orders Declining Sen. Javits Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., accuses the Kennedy Administration of "persistent refusal to follow its avowed policy of channelling more defense orders to major labor-surplus areas."

This refusal, the senator said, "has reached appalling proportions" and is aggravating the economic problems of the New York State's major areas of unemployment.

Javits said Tuesday a report he had prepared on defense procurement showed that "the most blatant example is the situation in the Buffalo-Niagara area, one of New York State's two areas of major labor-surplus."

The other area is the Utica-Rome area.

He said that in the Buffalo-Niagara area, Defense Department figures show government contract awards totaling $17,408,000 for the first quarter of this year, a 30 per cent decline from the corresponding period in 1961, when the total was $25,028,000.

In the Utica-Rome area, Javits said, prime defense - procurement contracts for the first three months of this year totaled $10,268,000, a drop of 12 per cent from the first quarter of 1961.

Not Isolated Cases

Javits said the declines "are not isolated cases but reflect an accelerated decline in New York State's percentage of total military prime-contract awards."

The state's share of the total defense-contract awards has declined from 15.3 per cent in the Korean War period to 12 per cent by last June 30 and to 10 per cent

No Fresh Violence

—There were no fresh reports of violence in Oran, which has frequently been tortured by explosions and fires for weeks. Telephone communications, cut by sabotage, were returning to normal.

A huge fire on oil tanks on the waterfront caused authorities to close the port Tuesday, blocking the exit of European refugees by ship for at least 48 hours.

—Rene Soyer, a French official who has been trying to mediate between Oran's secret army and the Moslem National Liberation Front (FLN), predicted a peace agreement by Friday. He left for Oran, apparently taking new instructions.

Others Optimistic

Other officials also expressed optimism that a deal could be worked out and terrorism halted in the west Algerian port before Algeria's Moslem majority endorses independence in a self-determination referendum Sunday.

Soyer began his mediation efforts after the deserter French officers directing European resistance in Oran rejected the peace pact worked out 10 days ago between the Algiers' secret army command and the Moslems.

Although vague in its promise of amnesty for European terrorists and the integration of Europeans in local security forces, the pact has brought peace to most of Algeria.

ON OPPOSITE SIDES—Associate Justice Hugo L. Black, left, wrote the majority decision of the Supreme Court ruling that it is a violation of the Constitution for New York to authorize the saying of official prayers in public schools. Associate Justice Stewart Potter, right, was the only dissenter in the 6-1 decision handed down June 25. (AP Wirephoto)

Rain, Hail Hit City, Hyde Park Has Fire

After a day of high humidity Ulster County was hit by a series of showers Tuesday afternoon, the rain being particulraly heavy in the city where rain fell at an intensity of three inches an hour for a period of some 15 to 20 minutes. The total rainfall registered at the city engineer's office was 1.60 inches, most of which fell between 3:45 and 4:30 p. m.

Lightning reportedly caused fire which resulted in extensive damage to a mansion on the former Vanderbilt estate at Hyde Park. Fourteen firemen suffered smoke inhalation and one volunteer was injured, but not seriously.

Heaviest Rain at 4

An early afternoon shower dropped about a quarter of an inch of rain but the heaviest rain came with the second shower shortly after 4 o'clock. Hail fell in many sections of the city.

Flood conditions were reported in many sections of the city where catch basins were unable to cope with the heavy rain. The Broadway underpass was flooded and traffic piled up at the spot before cars detoured around the flooded area.

In the county area, the Ulster County Extension Service reported heavy rains but apparently the fruit belt escaped the heavy hail which fell in Kingston. No reports of damage had been received at the John Street office early today and apparently there was little damage to fruit.

Central Hudson had some scattered interruptions and there were a few customers who reported telephone service out.

Damage estimated in excess of $50,000 was caused by a Tuesday night fire in the old Huyler mansion on the former Vanderbilt estate at Hyde Park, and authorities said lightning during one of a series of violent thunderstorms that swept the Hudson Valley, probably

Saugerties Youth in Race For Boys' State Governor

HAMILTON, N. Y. (AP) — Delegates to the 25th annual Boys' State go to the polls today to choose their state "governor" and other officials.

They will be faced with voting for the Federalist Party, which promises public hearings on the state budget, or the Nationalists, who would stengthen civil rights in the state.

A total of 1,025 high school boys are attending the week-long exercise in governmental operations and practical politics, sponsored by the American Legion at Colgate University.

Brian E. Legg, 17, of Saugerties, is the Federalists' gubernatorial candidate. The Nationalists' standard-bearer is Allen R. Bentley, 16, of Cortland.

Gov. Rockefeller, in an address at Tuesday's session, told the boys that a political leader must be willing to take unpopular stands occasionally.

"A man has got to go with his own conscience. . .even though he may sometimes be going against the wishes of his party," Rockefeller said.

Other candidates in today's election include:

Lieutenant governor — Federalist, Larry R. Davis, 17, of Earlville; Nationalist, Mark A. Mikolas, 16, of Binghamton.

Solons Hit Atheism, Red Help

Election of High Tribunal Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of Congress, still firing salvos of criticism at the Supreme Court's ruling against public school prayers, have introduced amendments to the Constitution to override the decision.

But congressional leaders—and the long, tedious mechanics involved—cast doubt on the move's success.

Overruling Power Asked

Charges of atheism and giving aid to communism were hurled across Capitol Hill at the white marble court building by members of the legislative branch, some of whom contended the justices had taken God out of the law of the land.

While amendments to legalize classroom praying were introduced in both House and Senate, there were also demands for stronger action, including amendments to require Supreme Court justices to stand for election and giving Congress the power to overrule the court's decisions.

The possibility was seen as remote, however, that any of the suggested constitutional changes could win the needed two-thirds majority in both houses and ratification by three-fourths of the states.

Dirksen Doubtful

In the Senate, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he didn't think the proposals to put classroom prayers in the Constitution could be passed.

"The proposition of church and state is so ingrained into our people that I doubt that such an amendment would be adopted," Dirkson said.

A similar view was expressed in the House by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the Judiciary Committee, who declared the court had no other choice.

"The First Amendment is well grounded in history and has served to save the United States from civil religious strife," Celler said.

The court held 6 to 1 Monday that a prayer drafted by New York's Board of Regents and recommended for recital at the beginning of each school day was "an establishment of religion"

Ennist Is Going To Grand Jury On Holdup Charge

William C. Ennist, 16, of Box 50, Bloomington, charged with a holdup and burglary, through his attorney Charles J. Saccoman, today waived preliminary hearing before Special City Judge Hugh R. Elwyn, and the case was referred to the grand jury.

Police charge Ennist with having taken $88.60 at gunpoint from Lloyd Markle, of 96 Broadway, early Tuesday at the Kingston Diner, 318 Broadway, where it is said, he used a .22 calibre rifle taken in an alleged earlier burglary at the Elston Sport Shop, 260 Fair Street. He is also charged with having taken a hunting knife, flashlight and ammunition.

Says Burglary Admitted

Ennist, police said, was apprehended by Sgt. Julius Glassman on the Boulevard within an hour after the alleged stickup. County Investigator Arthur Brown said the youth admitted committing a June 13 burglary at the Wiltwyck Country Club from which $55 and a $69.50 wrist watch were reported missing.

Nailer Cooper, 21, of Box 375, Lake Katrine, one of two young men charged with having entered a Hurley Avenue apartment while two women were asleep earlier in the month, was given a suspended sentence of

Governor Scores Sewage Aid Plan

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A plan of federal aid to help localities construct sewage-treatment plants contains "highly discriminatory, short-change features. . . which work against New York and other urban states," Gov. Rockefeller says.

Rockefeller, who has frequently been accused by New York City officials of "short-changing" the city in the distribution of state-aid funds for schools and other activities, said the $600,000 limit on federal funds for any individual sewage project is 'absurdly small."

Would Remove Limits

He also called for the removal of limits on aids to individual states.

State's Defense Orders Declining Sen. Javits Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., accuses the Kennedy Administration of "persistent refusal to follow its avowed policy of channelling more defense orders to major labor-surplus areas."

This refusal, the senator said, "has reached appalling proportions" and is aggravating the economic problems of the New York State's major areas of unemployment.

Javits said Tuesday a report he had prepared on defense procurement showed that "the most blatant example is the situation in the Buffalo-Niagara area, one of New York State's two areas of major labor-surplus."

The other area is the Utica-Rome area.

He said that in the Buffalo-Niagara area, Defense Department figures show government contract awards totaling $17,408,000 for the first quarter of this year, a 30 per cent decline from the corresponding period in 1961, when the total was $25,028,000.

In the Utica-Rome area, Javits said, prime defense - procurement contracts for the first three months of this year totaled $10,268,000, a drop of 12 per cent from the first quarter of 1961.

Not Isolated Cases

Javits said the declines "are not isolated cases but reflect an accelerated decline in New York State's percentage of total military prime-contract awards."

The state's share of the total defense-contract awards has declined from 15.3 per cent in the Korean War period to 12 per cent by last June 30 and to 10 per cent

Total Disability Possible Now for Many GI Policies

Veterans holding GI Life insurance policies were notified today by Charles Culver, state veteran counselor, New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs and John Tyler, director of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, that a total disability income provision may be added to most GI Life Insurance policies for a small additional cost.

The veteran officials explained that a policy holder must be in good health and under 60 years of age to qualify for this insurance feature. A veteran with a disability income provision added to his policy, will receive an income of $10 a month for each $1,000 of government insurance in force provided he becomes totally disabled from any cause before he reaches the age of 60. These payments begin after six months of total disability and continue as long as the disability lasts.

Veterans who have any questions about GI insurance will receive up to the minute information about this and any other veteran benefit by contacting Culver or Tyler, at the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main Street, Monday through Friday.

Eyes Amendment To Permit Prayer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., said today he will propose a constitutional amendment to permit prayer in the public schools.

"I was shocked by yesterday's decision of the Supreme Court," Beall said, "and I feel that legislation should be introduced immediately to reaffirm the nation's faith and trust in the Supreme Being."

The high court ruled 6-1 that a nonsectarian prayer authorized by New York State authorities for use in public schools violated the Constitution's requirement for separation of church and state.

Beall said he was checking the language of his proposed amendment with constitutional lawyers, but expected to introduce it in the Senate later this week.

He said the amendment proposal would declare in essence that nothing in the Constitution should be interpreted to "deny the right of any school to make available to its students periodic expressions of prayer or religious observance, provided that participation by students shall not be mandatory."

Beall said the Founding Fathers themselves had made clear their acknowledgement of a Deity, and that the principle has been restated with every currency issue bearing the words "In God We Trust" and in the pledge of allegiance to the flag with the words "under God."

Eyes Amendment To Permit Prayer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., said today he will propose a constitutional amendment to permit prayer in the public schools.

"I was shocked by yesterday's decision of the Supreme Court," Beall said, "and I feel that legislation should be introduced immediately to reaffirm the nation's faith and trust in the Supreme Being."

The high court ruled 6-1 that a nonsectarian prayer authorized by New York State authorities for use in public schools violated the Constitution's requirement for separation of church and state.

Beall said he was checking the language of his proposed amendment with constitutional lawyers, but expected to introduce it in the Senate later this week.

He said the amendment proposal would declare in essence that nothing in the Constitution should be interpreted to "deny the right of any school to make available to its students periodic expressions of prayer or religious observance, provided that participation by students shall not be mandatory."

Beall said the Founding Fathers themselves had made clear their acknowledgement of a Deity, and that the principle has been restated with every currency issue bearing the words "In God We Trust" and in the pledge of allegiance to the flag with the words "under God."

POOR COPYRIGHT LAW

One of the most notable failures to revise legal regulations in line with changing conditions is encountered in the area of copyright law. The law has not undergone basic change since 1909, though pertinent conditions are vastly different than they were half a century ago.

The period since enactment of the 1909 copyright law has been one of great technological development. Some of the present devices using copyrighted material—radio, motion pictures with sound, television and stereophonic tape, for example—were unknown 50 years ago.

Changes in cultural and economic conditions also are significant in this respect. The size of the market for works in the fields of literature, music and art, and consequently the market value of such creations, has increased enormously. At the same time, the value of the dollar has gone down. The copyright law has not been revised to take this into account.

Even with regard to so basic a thing as life expectancy, the law is not in line with what has taken place. The period of copyright protection fixed in 1909 is unchanged, though Americans can now expect to live considerably longer than was the case at that time.

The legal granting of copyright is extended primarily to foster creative effort by assuring that those engaged in producing works of entertainment and intellect shall have the fruits of their labor. If Americans are sincere in their apparent desire to stimulate cultural activity, one of the most effective moves in this direction would be to prod Congress into basic revision of copyright law.

MORE ABOUT JOHNNY

For years, standardized intelligence tests have been given in the nation's schools. "I.Q." has long been a familiar term in the language.

Children now take an average of five psychological or intelligence tests during the course of a school year. The purpose, of course, is to gain a profile of a child's native abilities and his mental health, to serve as a basis against which to judge his actual and potential performance in school.

Now, an investigation is being undertaken to see just what effect these tests themselves have on children, and also parents and teachers. There is strong evidence that the very act of testing works subtle changes upon the tested.

A $333,000 grant from the Carnegie Corporation to the Russell Sage Foundation will explore such questions as:

How does a child's attitude toward these tests influence his attitude toward study? Will an indication of low ability spur him on to make up for it by hard work, or will it do just the opposite?

Does teacher tend to give a grade that is related more to a pupil's test score than to his actual classroom work?

What effect on parents does a knowledge of their child's achievement limits have, and what effect does it have on their relationship toward him?

An I.Q.-conscious public, as well as educators and sociologists, will be extremely interested in the findings of this inquiry.

INVEST IN AMERICA

A million new jobs a year call for at least $17,000 new capital investment per job—seventeen billion dollars per year. And at least another twenty billion dollars a year is needed to maintain the plants and machinery providing the 67 million jobs we now enjoy. Where is the money coming from?

From the same source of capital that has provided it in the past, savings in the form of retained earnings of business enterprises and the savings of the American people.

You don't have to own stock in a corporation to be a capitalist, an investor. That's only one way. If you put your savings in a bank or savings and loan institution, or take out life insurance or buy real estate, your money is put to work by business and industry to develop jobs, production of goods and services. That's what investment means—putting money to work.

Let's voluntarily and wisely Invest in America: our funds and our faith in our future. We are all capitalists, investors of our savings.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE DODO

In the struggle for existence, Man has reduced mountains, harnessed streams, emptied forests of trees, created deserts and destroyed men and animals. This has often been called progress.

I like dirt roads and said that I would fight hard to prevent anyone from putting a black top on my dirt road. Said another, "You cannot stop progress." But if spoiling the beauty of a rural scene is progress, let there be progres. For who can fail to be moved by the pussy-willow emerging in the Springtime or the old-fashioned lilac growing alongside of a stone wall or the smell of the Earth after a Spring rain?

Of course, there are some who are moved by nothing but a belly-dancer and we must leave such to Senator McClellan's investigators. For the question of demand and supply enters here; if there is a demand for bums to satisfy bums, there will undoubtedly be a supply. Life is like that and no legislation has yet been discovered to impose morals or even a sense of decency upon those who prefer vice and hoolliganism.

Among the progresses made over the centuries by man has been the extermination of wild life throughout the world. This process is continuing in many countries not only because man needs to eat flesh but because, since it is no longer pleasant for man to kill man, he spends days, if he can afford it, shooting wild animals who have done him no harm and whose life is as valuble as the shooter's. This is called sport and is quite a business for those who engage in it.

Besides, we use all sorts of poisons to kill bugs and parasites. And the poisons are eaten by birds and animals and then they die. And if enough of them die, there will be no pollination of plants and we shall die on our petard. Farmers have learned all about that and some are returning to the organic habits of their ancestors. When the earthworm disappears the product is not the same.

The American whooping crane, the grizzly bear and the rhinocerous are in danger. The World Wildlife Fund reports that 200 species of birds and mammals have been exterminated directly or indirectly by man. And the report says that they can never be re-created.

If this is progress, we do not need progress. If Man in his march toward a higher civilization, needs to destroy everything that is beautiful and unsynthetic upon this Earth, then he is as savage as those tribes that killed their aged to make room for the new-born.

Progress is a wonderful thing but when, in a world of overproduction, human beings starve and animals perish for lack of water, we have learned little more than Marco Polo knew.

For if you will read Marco Polo carefully and have before you a map with pins, you will find that many places that he mentioned as verdant and delightful are now deserts. In fact, I once calculated that the desert moved about 200 miles south of the Marco Polo line. That is a man-made desert, because it was man who destroyed the forests and therefore left wild life without protection and food. Shall man, in the present population explosion, increase the desert areas of this Earth? Even the 17-year locust refuses to come to New York.

It is something to think about these days as we look to the future. We have, in the United States been profligate in the destruction of wild life, in use of our natural resources and in the pollution of our rivers, even out to the sea, where oil and other waste materials are being dumped, killing fish and those animals and birds that prefer to live in or near water. We do not know what to do with our waste.

When I was a boy, the Hudson River was a beautiful stream in which boys swam and men fished. Today, the part of the river which I see in New York, is filthy beyond imagination. Its color approaches the ugliness of the Yellow River at its mouth. It carries into the ocean tons of disgusting debris. Has not civilization discovered a better way of handling man's waste materials than to turn our rivers into cesspools or into carriers of animal-killing chemicals?

Unproved Cancer Treatment Can Lead to Heartache

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

All too often the heartache and problems of the patient with inoperable cancer, and of members of the family, are increased by well-meaning advice to "try" some unauthorized, unsanctioned and unproved method of treatment.

Usually the recommended treatment is the "discovery" of a "foreign scientist" or of a physician who received his training abroad and who conducted his experiments in the laboratories of an "institute" whose facilities cannot be checked despite its high-sounding title.

Frequently the family physician's unfamiliarity with the treatment is interpreted as a measure of his "ignorance." The refusal of organized medicine to sanction the treatment is often interpreted as evidence that "doctors don't want to find a cure." Usually those who regard anything imported as being naturally superior to anything domestic regard the American insistence on definitive proof as additional evidence of our scientific backwardness.

We have already commented in these columns on the Koch treatment, already completely discredited in our courts, and on Krebiozen whose claims are presently being reviewed by federal authorities.

Here is a list of some other unproved methods of cancer treatment which have been studied by the American Cancer Society. Each one has failed to present evidence that its use, as directed, "results in any objective benefit in the treatment of cancer in human beings."

Gerson diet treatment employing liver, vitamins and fresh vegetables and fruit prepared in glass utensils and chopped or juiced in special machines offered for sale at $150. Also included in treatment are frequent and copious enemas, often of coffee, and injections of liver extract. In 1947, a committee of the N. Y. County Medical Society thoroughly reviewed Dr. Gerson's work including histories of patients who were said to have benefited from the treatment. "This study failed to disclose any scientific evidence of objective improvement."

Carcin and Neo-Carcin. Consisting of tablets said to contain glandular extracts, organic and inorganic substances, polypeptides, mesothorium and thorium and/or of a serum obtained from "especially bred, selected white mice." These products were said by Dr. Jacob Pawlotzsky to prevent cancer in the susceptible and to cure cancer in 70 per cent of serious cases. Permission to market Carcin in France was denied by the Ministry of Public Health on the ground that it was "ineffectual."

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA) — Picking himself off the floor after the surprise knockdown 215-205 vote which defeated the Kennedy administration farm bill in the House of Representatives, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has already begun to fight another round in his battle to get new legislation through Congress this year.

The official line at Department of Agriculture is "no comment" until the full strategy can be worked out.

But it can be stated authoritatively that the administration is not taking the House vote as a complete and final defeat. A six-vote switch would have changed the result in the administration's favor.

AS SOON AS THE VOTE was tallied department officials in charge of the legislation went to work on changes that might be made to get an acceptable bill. They worked most of the night and were at it again early next morning.

The House vote did not kill the bill for the session. It merely sent the bill back to the House Agriculture Committee for reconsideration. The legislation has already been sent back to committee three times. So what comes up next will be a fourth round in a long hard fight.

That puts the business up to House Agriculture Committee Chairman Harold D. Cooley, D-N. C., and his 22 Democrats, 14 Republican colleagues. The chairman, sometimes unpredictable, is reported to be willing to make another try. But he has been known to change his mind.

The administration already has a farm bill passed by the Senate. This is an important factor in the decision not to give up after the House licking. The Senate bill is a lot tougher than the final bill on which the House voted.

There is little chance that the Senate bill will be taken up by the House without change. But if any kind of legislation can be put through the House, it will then go to conference with the Senate. And there are good chances that a bill acceptable to the administration can be agreed on.

IN TRYING TO ANALZE what caused the House to reverse itself on the final farm bill vote, after defeating a number of crippling amendments in four days of tough debate, a number of factors are cited. It was no one issue.

Some of the amendments adopted on the floor, like those on release and reapportionment of acreage allotments, lost the administration a few votes.

The 48 anti-administration Democrats—37 from the South—held the balance of power, obviously. Other defecting Democrats included some city Democrats who don't like to be considered administration rubber stamps.

The circus atmosphere of the House "debate" on the bill also sickened a number of congressmen. They swallowed the amendments but couldn't stomach the whole bill.

THE ESTES CASE is not believed to have turned any Democratic votes against the farm bill, but it may have caused some farm belt Republicans who might otherwise have voted for the bill in principle to vote against it.

This helped House Minority Leader Charles Halleck to hold his forces together with only one defector.

Opposition to the Kennedy-Freeman program by American Farm Bureau Federation and the cattlemen's organizations influenced many congressmen to vote against it.

WHILE REPUBLICANS claim the House vote is a repudiation of Kennedy control and regimentation farm proposals, Democrats charge the Republicans with irresponsible action by voting in effect to continue the present farm chaos at a cost to taxpayers of $1 billion a year.

Democrats say the Republican philosophy is disclosed in the recently published letter by Eisenhower administration farm adviser Martin Sorkin.

He stated that it was not the responsibility of Republicans to propose solutions to farm problems, but to criticize the Democratic administration at every point.

Court Ruling Seen Barring Only Mandatory Prayers

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

The Supreme Court in its latest decision does not bar prayer as such in the public schools. It doesn't forbid the mention of God in the classroom. It merely says that no state government or any other branch of government can "direct" the saying of any prayer. In fact, it bars "official" prayers. It sees no objection to voluntary prayers, but does ban any religious "exercise."

The decision rendered by the highest court of the land Monday is not as sweeping as first reports in the press may have indicated. It is true that Justice Douglas, in his concurring opion, made some generalizations of his own that will evoke controversy—especially in Congress where legislation on Federal aid to church - related colleges is pending. The controlling judgement is, however, the ruling of the court by a vote of 6 to 1. It was set forth in the opinion written by Justice Black.

But even the formal opinion of the court must be separated into two parts—the actual ruling and the so-called "dictum." The latter is just an expression of views by one justice and is not necessarily agreed to by the other justices who concur on the main point of the decision. Here is the ruling of the court as pronounced by Justice Black:

"We think that the Constitutional prohibition against laws respecting an establishment of religion must at least mean that in this country it is no part of the business of government to compose official prayers for any group of the American people to recite as a part of a religious program carried on by government."

An Important Footnote

Justice Black wrote a footnote to the opinion in which he makes an important distinction as follows:

"There is of course nothing in the decision reached here that is inconsistent with the fact that school children and others are officially encouraged to express love for our country by reciting historical documents such as the Declaration of Independence which contain references to the deity or by singing officially espoused anthems which include the composer's profession of faith in a supreme being, or with the fact that there are many manifestations in our public life of belief in God. Such patriotic or ceremonial occasions bear no true resemblance to the unquestioned religious exercise that the State of New York has sponsored in this instance."

Thus, there is no bar to the singing of such songs as "God Bless America" or the verse in "The Star-Spangled Banner" which says: "and this be our motto—'in God is our trust.'" Also, the pledge of allegiance to the flag is not affected, although in 1954 two words—"under God"—were added by an act of Congress. The phrase now reads, "one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

All these vocal expressions involve apparently a voluntary action by the individual. They are not recited by official direction, nor do they contain anything which could be regarded as an "official prayer."

But what shall be done about Christmas celebrations or the reciting of any prayer in the classroom? No governmental body now can require such exercise. But if a class of pupils voluntarily sets up a program at Christmas and wants to sing any song, this is not barred by the new court ruling. Some pupils could object and could refrain from participation. They could even leave for the period of such programs. What is really barred is any form of religious exercise prescribed by any branch of government or by any individual on the public payroll.

A Religious 'Exercise'

The prayer which brought the present case to the Supreme Court of the United States for a ruling was very brief. It said:

"Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence upon Thee, and we beg Thy blessing upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country."

There was a regulation under the New York State law prescribing the prayer which said students should not be compelled to take part in the reciting and that students could be excused from being in the room at the time. But the Supreme Court has said, in effect, that all this makes no difference because the prayer was written by and "directed" by a governmental body. It was a religious "exercise" for those who remained.

Justice Douglas, in a "dictum" of his own, declares in a concurring opinion that he has grave doubts about the way the Supreme Court's own proceedings are opened by the marshal, who says: "God save the United States and this honorable court." He also points out that each house of Congress opens its daily sessions by a prayer by official chaplains and guest chaplains of various denominations. Justice Douglas wrote:

"Yet for me the principle is the same, no matter how briefly the prayer is said, for in each of the instances given the person praying is a public official on the public payroll, performing a religious exercise in a governmental institution. . . .

"At the same time I cannot say that to authorize this prayer (in the House or Senate or courtroom) is to establish a religion in the strictly historic meaning of those words. A religion is not established in the usual sense merely by letting those who chose to do so say the prayer that the public school teacher leads. Yet once government finances a religious exercise it inserts a decisive influence into our communities."

But the above "dictum," which expresses, for instance, fears about possible consequences, does not become the "law of the land." The Supreme Court decides only the "law of the case." And in this case the court merely says that "official" prayers, which the teachers are "directed" to deliver in the classroom are unconstitutional.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The mayor of Pecos, Texas, broke into poetry when the Billie Sol Estes fall-out began to settle. Cecil Cothrun, who owns a little jewelry store and the local radio station, planted a poem on page one of Estes' paper, the Daily News, now defunct, which ran, in part:

"If a wrong has been done in our community,
Separating, dividing, causing disunity,
Do we have a right, as citizens,
alone,
To judge, condemn, uphold or condone?
I challenge any person to say he's a man
To face me squarely and shake my hand
And tell me he is free of all mistakes
Cause God don't make men of any such makes.
Let us all pull together, and all get aboard
A prayer is more powerful than the hated sword."

This opus was surrounded by a border of job-press ding-bats, symbolic eagles and shields, and a firecracker, repeated over and over. There was three times this much, some of it worse.

I have hinted at reprisals against members of John Birch or suspects and against their families.

Russ Peoples was chief of police in a brief Reform Administration. He investigated a fire in an automobile which had recently been insured. He got wind of peculiar conduct by a doctor who taught wrestling to some of the Youth of Pecos. He went out after marijuana shacks in the cotton camps. He had had 10 years' actual police experience in Abilene and Coleman before Pecos: and training in the FBI. So he was fired by a 2 to 1 vote of the City Council and two days later the man who voted for Peoples was fired on the spot from his job as manager of a big store. Such jobs are scarce so this man had to find a make-do as a laborer in a lumber yard in Midland, 100 miles away. He is a native of the region, of pioneer stock from Comanche days and the father of a family of five girls, two of them young women. He was on warning not to vote for Peoples but, as the Leading Citizens plaintively boast in the fact of all this notoriety, there are some very good American characters in Pecos. This one's name is John Davenport.

Marj Carpenter, the utility reporter on the Independent, biweekly, told me of an attempt to frame her as an accessory in the death of the physician whom Peoples was about to arrest for peculiar conduct. Mrs. Carpenter is a hearty, serious woman who hurries home at noon to fix her children's lunch in school season. She is a Conservative Democrat, but that word has a local meaning identical with Joe Kennedy's opinion of All Buiness Men.

On the night of May 11, 1961, the wife of the unfortunate physician, invited Mrs. Carpenter to a movie. After the show, Mrs. Carpenter dropped the other girl at her home and went on home herself. The doctor's wife found him unconscious and he died next day. Peoples, as chief of police, was planning to pick him up that day on legal charges already prepared. Mrs. Carpenter then heard that she was about to be accused of enticing her friend to the movie leaving the doctor alone. She quickly remembered, however, that it was the other woman who gave the invitation, and had two witnesses. Such is the clean frame of mind in Pecos, where Billie Sol babbled sermons as a lay preacher and little boys and little girls swam segregated in the pool at his home.

Some citizens angrily disbelieved the rumors about the doctor. Others said he should have been allowed to vanish quietly. But Doctor Dunn, a native son of Pecos, maintains that he had a duty to rid his profession of such a man. Doctor Dunn is the one individual who started the Estes inquiry with a confidential tip to the FBI. He says Estes never fooled him. And he supported Peoples in all his inquiries. Doctor Dunn and Peoples tipped Narcotics about marijuana and other dope coming up from Mexico by the Rio Grande crossings and the trails to the backlots of Pecos whence it seemed to flow into the underworld commerce. But Doctor Dunn was afraid he might scare this hen off the nest and that was why three weeks ago he bound me not to mention his name at all. He is dogged, blond and mirthless.

James O'Brien, the editor of the Big Ben Sentinel, of Marfa, ran an editorial blasting Doctor Dunn as a nincompoop, a medicince man and an egotistical ass who ran around at night in a radio car with a gun and a tin badge. But many cars thereabouts have radio, many drivers carry guns and Doctor Dunn then was an official police surgeon. On the same day, Bill Beckham, editor of the Wink Bulletin, in the ghastly ghost slum of Wink north and east of Pecos wrote: "We were certainly glad our good friend Doctor Dunn received official credit for starting the campaign which resulted in the fall of the empire of the financial juggler, Billie Sol. The doctor worked long and hard with great courage against fantastic odds and against an opposition which claimed that Estes was a little tin god who could not be hurt by anyone. The clique did everything from threatening his wife and children to attempting to ruin his practise. We are glad the people will learn the truth about this fighting American." Wink lately was notorious for an appropriation of about $1,000,000 for Urban Renewal. It is not far from No Trees, Tex.

Doctor Dunn is the fair-haired hero of the National Executive Board of John Birch, including Spruille Braden, Bracken Lee, General Bonner Fellers and Marlin T. Phelps, the retired chief justice of the Arizona Supreme Court.

This is first blood for John Birch and the right wing extremists.

POOR COPYRIGHT LAW

One of the most notable failures to revise legal regulations in line with changing conditions is encountered in the area of copyright law. The law has not undergone basic change since 1909, though pertinent conditions are vastly different than they were half a century ago.

The period since enactment of the 1909 copyright law has been one of great technological development. Some of the present devices using copyrighted material—radio, motion pictures with sound, television and stereophonic tape, for example—were unknown 50 years ago.

Changes in cultural and economic conditions also are significant in this respect. The size of the market for works in the fields of literature, music and art, and consequently the market value of such creations, has increased enormously. At the same time, the value of the dollar has gone down. The copyright law has not been revised to take this into account.

Even with regard to so basic a thing as life expectancy, the law is not in line with what has taken place. The period of copyright protection fixed in 1909 is unchanged, though Americans can now expect to live considerably longer than was the case at that time.

The legal granting of copyright is extended primarily to foster creative effort by assuring that those engaged in producing works of entertainment and intellect shall have the fruits of their labor. If Americans are sincere in their apparent desire to stimulate cultural activity, one of the most effective moves in this direction would be to prod Congress into basic revision of copyright law.

MORE ABOUT JOHNNY

For years, standardized intelligence tests have been given in the nation's schools. "I.Q." has long been a familiar term in the language.

Children now take an average of five psychological or intelligence tests during the course of a school year. The purpose, of course, is to gain a profile of a child's native abilities and his mental health, to serve as a basis against which to judge his actual and potential performance in school.

Now, an investigation is being undertaken to see just what effect these tests themselves have on children, and also parents and teachers. There is strong evidence that the very act of testing works subtle changes upon the tested.

A $333,000 grant from the Carnegie Corporation to the Russell Sage Foundation will explore such questions as:

How does a child's attitude toward these tests influence his attitude toward study? Will an indication of low ability spur him on to make up for it by hard work, or will it do just the opposite?

Does teacher tend to give a grade that is related more to a pupil's test score than to his actual classroom work?

What effect on parents does a knowledge of their child's achievement limits have, and what effect does it have on their relationship toward him?

An I.Q.-conscious public, as well as educators and sociologists, will be extremely interested in the findings of this inquiry.

INVEST IN AMERICA

A million new jobs a year call for at least $17,000 new capital investment per job—seventeen billion dollars per year. And at least another twenty billion dollars a year is needed to maintain the plants and machinery providing the 67 million jobs we now enjoy. Where is the money coming from?

From the same source of capital that has provided it in the past, savings in the form of retained earnings of business enterprises and the savings of the American people.

You don't have to own stock in a corporation to be a capitalist, an investor. That's only one way. If you put your savings in a bank or savings and loan institution, or take out life insurance or buy real estate, your money is put to work by business and industry to develop jobs, production of goods and services. That's what investment means—putting money to work.

Let's voluntarily and wisely Invest in America: our funds and our faith in our future. We are all capitalists, investors of our savings.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE DODO

In the struggle for existence, Man has reduced mountains, harnessed streams, emptied forests of trees, created deserts and destroyed men and animals. This has often been called progress.

I like dirt roads and said that I would fight hard to prevent anyone from putting a black top on my dirt road. Said another, "You cannot stop progress." But if spoiling the beauty of a rural scene is progress, let there be progres. For who can fail to be moved by the pussy-willow emerging in the Springtime or the old-fashioned lilac growing alongside of a stone wall or the smell of the Earth after a Spring rain?

Of course, there are some who are moved by nothing but a belly-dancer and we must leave such to Senator McCellan's investigators. For the question of demand and supply enters here; if there is a demand for bums to satisfy bums, there will undoubtedly be a supply. Life is like that and no legislation has yet been discovered to impose morals or even a sense of decency upon those who prefer vice and hoolliganism.

Among the progresses made over the centuries by man has been the extermination of wild life throughout the world. This process is continuing in many countries not only because man needs to eat flesh but because, since it is no longer pleasant for man to kill man, he spends days, if he can afford it, shooting wild animals who have done him no harm and whose life is as valuble as the shooter's. This is called sport and is quite a business for those who engage in it.

Besides, we use all sorts of poisons to kill bugs and parasites. And the poisons are eaten by birds and animals and then they die. And if enough of them die, there will be no pollination of plants and we shall die on our petard. Farmers have learned all about that and some are returning to the organic habits of their ancestors. When the earthworm disappears the product is not the same.

The American whooping crane, the grizzly bear and the rhinocerous are in danger. The World Wildlife Fund reports that 200 species of birds and mammals have been exterminated directly or indirectly by man. And the report says that they can never be re-created.

If this is progress, we do not need progress. If Man in his march toward a higher civilization, needs to destroy everything that is beautiful and unsynthetic upon this Earth, then he is as savage as those tribes that killed their aged to make room for the new-born.

Progress is a wonderful thing but when, in a world of overproduction, human beings starve and animals perish for lack of water, we have learned little more than Marco Polo knew.

For if you will read Marco Polo carefully and have before you a map with pins, you will find that many places that he mentioned as verdant and delightful are now deserts. In fact, I once calculated that the desert moved about 200 miles south of the Marco Polo line. That is a man-made desert, because it was man who destroyed the forests and therefore left wild life without protection and food. Shall man, in the present population explosion, increase the desert areas of this Earth? Even the 17-year locust refuses to come to New York.

It is something to think about these days as we look to the future. We have, in the United States been profligate in the destruction of wild life, in use of our natural resources and in the pollution of our rivers, even out to the sea, where oil and other waste materials are being dumped, killing fish and those animals and birds that prefer to live in or near water. We do not know what to do with our waste.

When I was a boy, the Hudson River was a beautiful stream in which boys swam and men fished. Today, the part of the river which I see in New York, is filthy beyond imagination. Its color approaches the ugliness of the Yellow River at its mouth. It carries into the ocean tons of disgusting debris. Has not civilization discovered a better way of handling man's waste materials than to turn our rivers into cesspools or into carriers of animal-killing chemicals?

Unproved Cancer Treatment Can Lead to Heartache

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

All too often the heartache and problems of the patient with inoperable cancer, and of members of the family, are increased by well-meaning advice to "try" some unauthorized, unsanctioned and unproved method of treatment.

Usually the recommended treatment is the "discovery" of a "foreign scientist" or of a physician who received his training abroad and who conducted his experiments in the laboratories of an "institute" whose facilities cannot be checked despite its high-sounding title.

Frequently the family physician's unfamiliarity with the treatment is interpreted as a measure of his "ignorance." The refusal of organized medicine to sanction the treatment is often interpreted as evidence that "doctors don't want to find a cure." Usually those who regard anything imported as being naturally superior to anything domestic regard the American insistence on definitive proof as additional evidence of our scientific backwardness.

We have already commented in these columns on the Koch treatment, already completely discredited in our courts, and on Krebiozen whose claims are presently being reviewed by federal authorities.

Here is a list of some other unproved methods of cancer treatment which have been studied by the American Cancer Society. Each one has failed to present evidence that its use, as directed, "results in any objective benefit in the treatment of cancer in human beings."

Gerson diet treatment employing liver, vitamins and fresh vegetables and fruit prepared in glass utensils and chopped or juiced in special machines offered for sale at $150. Also included in treatment are frequent and copious enemas, often of coffee, and injections of liver extract. In 1947, a committee of the N. Y. County Medical Society thoroughly reviewed Dr. Gerson's work including histories of patients who were said to have benefited from the treatment. "This study failed to disclose any scientific evidence of objective improvement."

Carcin and Neo-Carcin. Consisting of tablets said to contain glandular extracts, organic and inorganic substances, polypeptides, mesothorium and thorium and/or of a serum obtained from "especially bred, selected white mice." These products were said by Dr. Jacob Pawlotzsky to prevent cancer in the susceptible and to cure cancer in 70 per cent of serious cases. Permission to market Carcin in France was denied by the Ministry of Public Health on the ground that it was "ineffectual."

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA) — Picking himself off the floor after the surprise knockdown 215-205 vote which defeated the Kennedy administration farm bill in the House of Representatives, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has already begun to fight another round in his battle to get new legislation through Congress this year.

The official line at Department of Agriculture is "no comment" until the full strategy can be worked out.

But it can be stated authoritatively that the administration is not taking the House vote as a complete and final defeat. A six-vote switch would have changed the result in the administration's favor.

AS SOON AS THE VOTE was tallied department officials in charge of the legislation went to work on changes that might be made to get an acceptable bill. They worked most of the night and were at it again early next morning.

The House vote did not kill the bill for the session. It merely sent the bill back to the House Agriculture Committee for reconsideration. The legislation has already been sent back to committee three times. So what comes up next will be a fourth round in a long hard fight.

That puts the business up to House Agriculture Committee Chairman Harold D. Cooley, D-N. C., and his 22 Democrats, 14 Republican colleagues. The chairman, sometimes unpredictable, is reported to be willing to make another try. But he has been known to change his mind.

The administration already has a farm bill passed by the Senate. This is an important factor in the decision not to give up after the House licking. The Senate bill is a lot tougher than the final bill on which the House voted.

There is little chance that the Senate bill will be taken up by the House without change. But if any kind of legislation can be put through the House, it will then go to conference with the Senate. And there are good chances that a bill acceptable to the administration can be agreed on.

IN TRYING TO ANALZE what caused the House to reverse itself on the final farm bill vote, after defeating a number of crippling amendments in four days of tough debate, a number of factors are cited. It was no one issue.

Some of the amendments adopted on the floor, like those on release and reapportionment of acreage allotments, lost the administration a few votes.

The 48 anti-administration Democrats—37 from the South—held the balance of power, obviously. Other defecting Democrats included some city Democrats who don't like to be considered administration rubber stamps.

The circus atmosphere of the House "debate" on the bill also sickened a number of congressmen. They swallowed the amendments but couldn't stomach the whole bill.

THE ESTES CASE is not believed to have turned any Democratic votes against the farm bill, but it may have caused some farm belt Republicans who might otherwise have voted for the bill in principle to vote against it.

This helped House Minority Leader Charles Halleck to hold his forces together with only one defector.

Opposition to the Kennedy-Freeman program by American Farm Bureau Federation and the cattlemen's organizations influenced many congressmen to vote against it.

WHILE REPUBLICANS claim the House vote is a repudiation of Kennedy control and regimentation farm proposals, Democrats charge the Republicans with irresponsible action by voting in effect to continue the present farm chaos at a cost to taxpayers of $1 billion a year.

Democrats say the Republican philosophy is disclosed in the recently published letter by Eisenhower administration farm adviser Martin Sorkin.

He stated that it was not the responsibility of Republicans to propose solutions to farm problems, but to criticize the Democratic administration at every point.

Court Ruling Seen Barring Only Mandatory Prayers

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

The Supreme Court in its latest decision does not bar prayer as such in the public schools. It doesn't forbid the mention of God in the classroom. It merely says that no state government or any other branch of government can "direct" the saying of any prayer. In fact, it bars "official" prayers. It sees no objection to voluntary prayers, but does ban any religious "exercise."

The decision rendered by the highest court of the land Monday is not as sweeping as first reports in the press may have indicated. It is true that Justice Douglas, in his concurring opion, made some generalizations of his own that will evoke controversy—especially in Congress where legislation on Federal aid to church - related colleges is pending. The controlling judgement is, however, the ruling of the court by a vote of 6 to 1. It was set forth in the opinion written by Justice Black.

But even the formal opinion of the court must be separated into two parts—the actual ruling and the so-called "dictum." The latter is just an expression of views by one justice and is not necessarily agreed to by the other justices who concur on the main point of the decision. Here is the ruling of the court as pronounced by Justice Black:

"We think that the Constitutional prohibition against laws respecting an establishment of religion must at least mean that in this country it is no part of the business of government to compose official prayers for any group of the American people to recite as a part of a religious program carried on by government."

An Important Footnote

Justice Black wrote a footnote to the opinion in which he makes an important distinction as follows:

"There is of course nothing in the decision reached here that is inconsistent with the fact that school children and others are officially encouraged to express love for our country by reciting historical documents such as the Declaration of Independence which contain references to the deity or by singing officially espoused anthems which include the composer's profession of faith in a supreme being, or with the fact that there are many manifestations in our public life of belief in God. Such patriotic or ceremonial occasions bear no true resemblance to the unquestioned religious exercise that the State of New York has sponsored in this instance."

Thus, there is no bar to the singing of such songs as "God Bless America" or the verse in "The Star-Spangled Banner" which says: "and this be our motto—'in God is our trust.'" Also, the pledge of allegiance to the flag is not affected, although in 1954 two words—"under God"—were added by an act of Congress. The phrase now reads, "one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

All these vocal expressions involve apparently a voluntary action by the individual. They are not recited by official direction, nor do they contain anything which could be regarded as an "official prayer."

But what shall be done about Christmas celebrations or the reciting of any prayer in the classroom? No governmental body now can require such exercise. But if a class of pupils voluntarily sets up a program at Christmas and wants to sing any song, this is not barred by the new court ruling. Some pupils could object and could refrain from participation. They could even leave for the period of such programs. What is really barred is any form of religious exercise prescribed by any branch of government or by any individual on the public payroll.

A Religious 'Exercise'

The prayer which brought the present case to the Supreme Court of the United States for a ruling was very brief. It said:

"Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence upon Thee, and we beg Thy blessing upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country."

There was a regulation under the New York State law prescribing the prayer which said students should not be compelled to take part in the reciting and that students could be excused from being in the room at the time. But the Supreme Court has said, in effect, that all this makes no difference because the prayer was written by and "directed" by a governmental body. It was a religious "exercise" for those who remained.

Justice Douglas, in a "dictum" of his own, declares in a concurring opinion that he has grave doubts about the way the Supreme Court's own proceedings are opened by the marshal, who says: "God save the United States and this honorable court." He also points out that each house of Congress opens its daily sessions by a prayer by official chaplains and guest chaplains of various denominations. Justice Douglas wrote:

"Yet for me the principle is the same, no matter how briefly the prayer is said, for in each of the instances given the person praying is a public official on the public payroll, performing a religious exercise in a governmental institution. . . .

"At the same time I cannot say that to authorize this prayer (in the House or Senate or courtroom) is to establish a religion in the strictly historic meaning of those words. A religion is not established in the usual sense merely by letting those who chose to do so say the prayer that the public school teacher leads. Yet once government finances a religious exercise it inserts a decisive influence into our communities."

But the above "dictum," which expresses, for instance, fears about possible consequences, does not become the "law of the land." The Supreme Court decides only the "law of the case." And in this case the court merely says that "official" prayers, which the teachers are "directed" to deliver in the classroom are unconstitutional.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The mayor of Pecos, Texas, broke into poetry when the Billie Sol Estes fall-out began to settle. Cecil Cothrun, who owns a little jewelry store and the local radio station, planted a poem on page one of Estes' paper, the Daily News, now defunct, which ran, in part:

"If a wrong has been done in our community,
Separating, dividing, causing disunity,
Do we have a right, as citizens, alone,
To judge, condemn, uphold or condone?
I challenge any person to say he's a man
To face me squarely and shake my hand
And tell me he is free of all mistakes
Cause God don't make men of any such makes.
Let us all pull together, and all get aboard
A prayer is more powerful than the hated sword."

This opus was surrounded by a border of job-press ding-bats, symbolic eagles and shields, and a firecrocker, repeated over and over. There was three times this much, some of it worse.

I have hinted at reprisals against members of John Birch or suspects and against their families.

Russ Peoples was chief of police in a brief Reform Administration. He investigated a fire in an automobile which had recently been insured. He got wind of peculiar conduct by a doctor who taught wrestling to some of the Youth of Pecos. He went out after marijuana shacks in the cotton camps. He had had 10 years' actual police experience in Abilene and Coleman before Pecos: and training in the FBI. So he was fired by a 2 to 1 vote of the City Council and two days later the man who voted for Peoples was fired on the spot from his job as manager of a big store. Such jobs are scarce so this man had to find a make-do as a laborer in a lumber yard in Midland, 100 miles away. He is a native of the region, of pioneer stock from Comanche days and the father of a family of five girls, two of them young women. He was on warning not to vote for Peoples but, as the Leading Citizens plaintively boast in the fact of all this notoriety, there are some very good American characters in Pecos. This one's name is John Davenport.

Marj Carpenter, the utility reporter on the Independent, biweekly, told me of an attempt to frame her as an accessory in the death of the physician whom Peoples was about to arrest for peculiar conduct. Mrs. Carpenter is a hearty, serious woman who hurries home at noon to fix her children's lunch in school season. She is a Conservative Democrat, but that word has a local meaning identical with Joe Kennedy's opinion of All Buiness Men.

On the night of May 11, 1961, the wife of the unfortunate physician, invited Mrs. Carpenter to a movie. After the show, Mrs. Carpenter dropped the other girl at her home and went on home herself. The doctor's wife found him unconscious and he died next day. Peoples, as chief of police, was planning to pick him up that day on legal charges already prepared. Mrs. Carpenter then heard that she was about to be accused of enticing her friend to the movie leaving the doctor alone. She quickly remembered, however, that it was the other woman who gave the invitation, and had two witnesses. Such is the clean frame of mind in Pecos, where Billie Sol babbled sermons as a lay preacher and little boys and little girls swam segregated in the pool at his home.

Some citizens angrily disbelieved the rumors about the doctor. Others said he should have been allowed to vanish quietly. But Doctor Dunn, a native son of Pecos, maintains that he had a duty to rid his profession of such a man. Doctor Dunn is the one individual who started the Estes inquiry with a confidential tip to the FBI. He says Estes never fooled him. And he supported Peoples in all his inquiries. Doctor Dunn and Peoples tipped Narcotics about marijuana and other dope coming up from Mexico by the Rio Grande crossings and the trails to the backlots of Pecos whence it seemed to flow into the underworld commerce. But Doctor Dunn was afraid he might scare this hen off the nest and that was why three weeks ago he bound me not to mention his name at all. He is dogged, blond and mirthless.

James O'Brien, the editor of the Big Ben Sentinel, of Marfa, ran an editorial blasting Doctor Dunn as a nincompoop, a medicince man and an egotistical ass who ran around at night in a radio car with a gun and a tin badge. But many cars thereabouts have radio, many drivers carry guns and Doctor Dunn then was an official police surgeon. On the same day, Bill Beckham, editor of the Wink Bulletin, in the ghastly ghost slum of Wink north and east of Pecos wrote: "We were certainly glad our good friend Doctor Dunn received official credit for starting the campaign which resulted in the fall of the empire of the financial juggler, Billie Sol. The doctor worked long and hard with great courage against fantastic odds and against an opposition which claimed that Estes was a little tin god who could not be hurt by anyone. The clique did everything from threatening his wife and children to attempting to ruin his practise. We are glad the people will learn the truth about this fighting American." Wink lately was notorious for an appropriation of about $1,000,000 for Urban Renewal. It is not far from No Trees, Tex.

Doctor Dunn is the fair-haired hero of the National Executive Board of John Birch, including Spruille Braden, Bracken Lee, General Bonner Fellers and Marlin T. Phelps, the retired chief justice of the Arizona Supreme Court.

This is first blood for John Birch and the right wing extremists.

Take the opposite: the rigid rear axle. What if your car hits a rut hole?

Clunk. Seasoned drivers wait for this thump.

In a Volkswagen, it never comes. "I've been tooling around in my Volks for 3 years," says one commuter, "and I'm still surprised when the jolt doesn't come."

Volkswagens also have torsion bar suspension. (Not many passenger cars have this, either.) Ordinary springs can "hit bottom." VW torsion springs twist. The more they twist, the more spring they develop. This cradles the car. You get a sure-footed ride over rough terrain.

Crooked wheels?

That's what keeps the Volkswagen on the level.

CREATING A SPLASH—One way to solve Chicago's traffic problem would seem to be to drive right into the lake. You'd need an "Amphicar," however, which is what is being demonstrated above in Lake Michigan. The Amphicar is a two-door, four-passenger convertible equipped with everything a car needs, plus navigation lights, bilge pump and twin propellers. Built in Germany, it has a cruising speed of 70 m.p.h. on land and about 14 m.p.h. in water.

Bingo Agency Will Eye Profits

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The most important job of the state's new Bingo Control Commission will be ascertaining that profits from the legalized gambling game are used in the way the law intended, the commission chairman said today. Some bingo-operators can be expected to connive, he said.

Ira H. Ball, a Utica attorney, commented as he and the four other members of the commission were sworn in by Secretary of State Caroline Simon.

Big Job: Rocky

Gov. Rockefeller, who witnessed the ceremony, told the commissioners they had taken on a tremendous job.

The commission's first meeting, largely for organization purposes, also was called for today.

A Moreland Act Commission appointed by Rockefeller investigated bingo after the game became enmeshed in scandal. Criminal elements had infiltrated some phases of the game and were reaping profits from it.

The investigators recommended extensive changes, including the appointment of the five-member commission to replace the nine-member State Lottery Control Commission originally charged with policing the game.

Bingo was legalized in New York State in 1957 for sponsorship by religious, fraternal, charitable, veterans and other non-profit groups. Proceeds may be used only for legitimate expenses of the games and for the official purposes of the sponsoring organization.

Ball told a reporter, after being sworn in, that he would seek to have at least three accountants added to the commission staff to check financial reports submitted by organizations that sponsor bingo.

A single accountant has been doing this job, he said. A total of 1,187 organizations have been licensed to play bingo in the state.

Ball said supervision to see that bingo profits were used properly constituted the heart of the enforcement problem.

The chairman said the new commission would take all possible steps to keep the game honest but there probably would always be "conniving" by some persons involved in operating the games.

Manganese Production

Although the United States produced less than 1 per cent of the total world output of manganese (which rose 4 per cent in 1960), it consumed more than any other country in the world, according to the 1962 Britannica Book of the Year.

Double Standard Makes It Seem Worse for Them

Problems of the Woman Drinker Considered in Three Categories

EDITOR'S NOTE—The medical view that alcoholism is a disease is widespread among the general public. But there's a subtle qualification. Through habit, or tradition or the eternal double standard, the disease in the eyes of the public seems more unforgivable in a woman than a man. This and other special problems of the woman drinker are examined in this third article in a five-part series.

By JOY MILLER
Associated Press Women's Editor

She is rich, respected, a patron of the arts.

Don't try to reach Clarissa in the afternoon though because she stays in her bedroom with formidable "headaches." Her grown children and devoted husband urge her to see a doctor. She gently but firmly refuses.

Mary lives in a conventional split-level house in the suburbs with three small children and a husband who doesn't like to come home anymore. Unkempt house, children running wild, humiliating scenes—he's thinking about divorce.

Karri is a smart career girl who knows her way around. She downs a stinging shot of whisky every morning to face getting up, and snatches periodic pickups during the day. "I can always cut it out if I think it's getting the upper hand," she insists.

These three women — women who might be your friends, your next door neighbors, even your wife—are alcoholics.

Three out of how many? Some experts estimate there are one million women alcoholics. Others say perhaps 2½ million, about the same as for men.

Ratio About Even

Dr. Marvin Block, chairman of the American Medical Association Committee on Alcoholism, thinks the ratio between men and women could be about 50-50. He says the currently accepted ratio of one woman to five men is very misleading. The low figure refers primarily to clinic patients, and women are much less likely to seek help in public for a problem they, or their families, try to hide from the world.

A spokesman for Alcoholics Anonymous, which does not break down its attendance figures according to sex, says, however, that more and more women are now attending its meetings.

"It's hard enough to see a man drunk—but a woman!" This is an American proverb H. L. Mencken traced back to 1907. But it sums up the double standard attitude prevailing today.

The medical view that alcoholism is a disease—and should be treated as a disease—hasn't overcome the mass opinion that problem drinking in women can be equated with vice and moral turpitude.

Why The Increase

Why is the number of women who drink compulsively apparently increasing?

For one thing, drinking has been moved to the home from the saloon — where, you'll recall, it was, "Daddy, dear daddy, come home with me now," never mommy.

Now, predinner cocktails are an evening ritual in which the wife joins. At parties the good hostess is one who keeps each glass filled with doubles, her own included. And to keep terribly gay, she can slip herself extras in the kitchen while her husband tends bar.

But alcoholism in women doesn't flourish solely on quiet residential streets, behind blinds drawn against the afternoon sun. It can start on the business scene.

Dr. Giorgio Lolli, former director of the Yale Plan Clinic for Alcoholics, says women often drink to escape the tensions resulting from their entrance into the man's world of business — tensions unknown when their place was only in the home, or when they were in college.

Need to Admit Addiction

Most women could be helped if they'd admit their addiction and accept treatment for it, says Dr. Aedgewick Mead of the California Rehabilitation Center at Vallejo.

"Of course you don't begin by just asking the lady if she is an alcoholic," he points out. "This will only get you injured innocence."

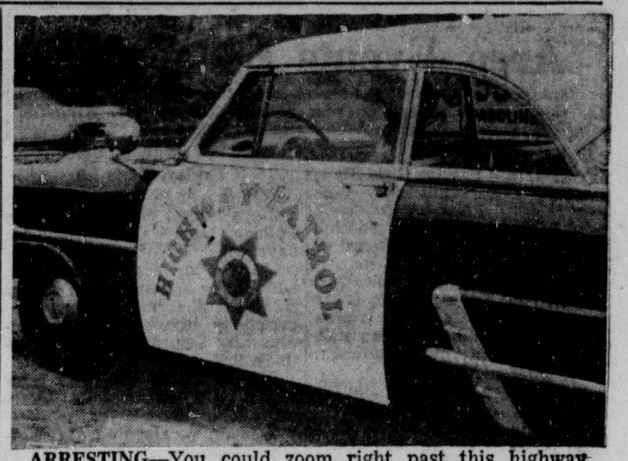
Most women car summon up at least one good reason why they're not alcoholics.

"I never drink in the morning. I only drink sherry. I never have more than two drinks in the evening. I don't drink at all at parties. I only drink when I'm tense."

Specific Date

A specific date was set for the observance of Thanksgiving Day as a legal holiday in the United States on Dec. 26, 1941, when President Franklin Roosevelt designated the fourth Thursday in November as the date of its observance.

The written Chinese language contains more than 40,000 characters.



ARRESTING—You could zoom right past this highway patrolman near Watsonville, Calif., and he'd never chase you. "Policeman" is a dummy and the patrol car is also phony. The pair do a good job of slowing down speeding motorists, however. Philanthropist Harvey E. West of Placerville, with permission of California officials, has placed a number of the dummy cars along roadsides. They are moved around to different locations so that motorists won't know for sure whether a patrol car is dummy or real.

NEW YORK (AP) —Canada's fiscal belt tightening comes just as the United States starts its big debate as to whether it should loosen its own.

Canada is raising interest rates, curbing imports, seeking outside financial support for its weakened dollar, which it already had devalued. Its austerity program is due to outside pressure on its currency and slackening of its domestic economy.

The United States at midyear also is worrying about a domestic economy that isn't growing as fast as earlier hoped, about a deficit in its international payments that puts some pressure on the Yankee dollar, about a sharp drop in stock prices that weakens confidence in the U.S. economy both here and abroad.

Canada's Woe Different

But in the United States today's debate is over whether to increase the Treasury deficit by raising government spending, or cutting taxes, or both. The aim is to get the economy rolling faster to cut the rate of unemployment—or to head off a possible recession.

Canada's fiscal problem differs from the American one largely in this: Canada's imports have been running well ahead of its exports for some time. This didn't matter much until Americans stopped pouring investment dollars across the border. The United States has been running a surplus of exports over imports for years.

The American problem is that other spending abroad—foreign aid, military costs, travel, investment —has more than wiped out this trade surplus and left the United States with a payment deficit—more dollars going out than coming in. This has been behind the loss of gold in recent years and the recurring flurries of speculative bidding up of the price of gold in the world's free markets.

Austerity Practically Forced

Canada has turned to austerity because its fiscal affairs were in a shape that practically forced this.

The United States is in no such fix. European doubts about the continuing strength of the American dollar worry Washington, but it is trying various means to counter this and to cut, if not eliminate, its deficit of payments.

The U.S. economy, if not growing as fast as hoped, is strong—in spite of the doubts finding expression in the stock market.

Conservatives believe the U.S. economy would be stronger if the government started living within its means, stopped inflation-breeding deficits, encouraged private business by interfering with it less.

The opposite view is that instead of any fiscal austerity what the economy needs most now is a stimulus—and many are advocating that the quickest needle would be a Treasury deficit. Some favor still more government spending; some want quick tax cuts.

The Canadian example may add spice to the debate this side of the border.

South looked over dummy carefully and thought, "I won't open any more 21 point three no-trump bids."

Of course, the grand slam wasn't the worst in the world. South had 12 top tricks and a heart finesse would give him his grand slam.

Now, if you take a look at the East-West hands you will see the doubleton queen of hearts resting quietly with East. South could not see this but when the time came he picked up that doubleton queen just as surely as if he had been peeking.

How did South do this? By the use of squeeze tactics to prove that West did not hold that queen.

All South had to do was to take three clubs and six diamonds. By this time everyone was down to three cards. One of West's cards had to be the queen of spades. No one would ever lead the king of spades against a grand slam contract without the queen in back of it.

Then South took his king of hearts and played a second heart. When West followed to this heart he was left with just one card—the queen of spades.

Hence, East was marked with the queen of hearts and North's ace picked it up.

Of course, South was lucky. Had East been dealt three hearts there would have been no way to make the hand.

Phoenicia Area Church Launches Building Program

A $20,000 to $30,000 building program was outlined at the recent quarterly conference of the Phoenicia Methodist Church by the Rev. H. Chase Page, pastor.

Under the presiding rule of the Rev. George P. Werner, superintendent of the Kingston District of the Methodist Church, the Phoenicia Church unanimously approved the building program which will include a kitchen, dining hall, a minimum of six class rooms, a study, two rest room facilities, and some furnishings. The Rev. Mr. Werner reminded the members of the Quarterly Conference that this project would demand sacrifices on the part of the members of this church.

The kick-off dinner for the fund-raising crusade for this building project will be held Thursday, July 5 at 6:30 p. m. The Rev. Mr. Werner and Rev. Alex Porteus, executive secretary of the New York Conference Board of Missions and Church Extension, will be guest speakers for the evening. The dinner will be free to all members of the church. Baby sitters and organized playground supervision will be provided for the evening. Canvassing for this pledge drive will be carried on from July 6 to July 14.

The Rev. Mr. Werner adjourned the important meeting by saying "I am pleased that you are moving ahead and showing such good judgment."

Another sign of growing old is when the future gets here quicker than it used to.

Salesman Given Sporting Chance To Shorten Term

HERKIMER, N.Y. (AP)—A securities salesman sentenced to serve 10½ to 15 years in Attica State Prison on charges of forgery and grand larceny in the sale of stocks has a chance to shorten his term.

"You are a speculator and a gambler, and I am going to give you a sporting chance," Herkimer County Judge Edmund A. McCarthy said Tuesday after sentencing Anthony R. Frankewich, 43, of Herkimer.

McCarthy said that if Frankewich made restitution of about $65,000, which he is alleged to have obtained from customers illegally, before the expiration of the first of three consecutive 3½-to-5-year terms, the remainder of the sentences would be suspended.

Frankewich pleaded guilty to all counts in four indictments charging first-degree grand larceny and first-degree forgery in the sale to Herkimer County residents of the stock of several companies.

Bullet Wounds Pair

Two Dutchess County youths were wounded with a single bullet Monday night when a .22 caliber rifle accidentally discharged. State police said William Stephen Bilenky, 17, of Millbrook, received a puncture wound of the left index finger, and a friend, Lloyd Wilson, also 17, of Maple Avenue, Millbrook, received a wound of the left upper arm. Both were treated by a nearby physician, who removed the bullet from Wilson's arm. Bilenky was showing the gun sights to his friend when the butt of the weapon struck a bed and the rifle discharged.

Suffers Fracture

Police were notified this morning that James Kenneth Bridge, 4, of 416 Hasbrouck Avenue, suffered a fractured left collar bone in a fall from a Hasbrouck Park sliding board. He was treated by a doctor.

Fire Levels Building

PAUL SMITHS, N.Y. (AP)—An early-morning fire today leveled the administration building at Paul Smith's College—a building that also housed the village post office, the local telephone company and the headquarters of an electric company.

No one was reported injured.

The Bloomingdale Fire Department said the fire was believed to have started in a telephone switchboard. A switchboard operator in the building reported the fire at about 5:30 a.m.

Action Doubted

forbidden by the First Amendment. It is a non-denominational prayer and pupils whose parents objected could be excused from reciting it.

Cloud of Uncertainty

Justice Hugo L. Black, who wrote the majority opinion, said that placing "the power, prestige and financial support of government" behind a particular form of religious observance tends to coerce religious minorities to conform.

Even those who remained noncommital about the court itself, however, expressed concern that the ruling, underscoring as it does the doctrine of separation of church and state, casts a cloud of uncertainty over a whole range of federal programs of assistance to church-supported institutions, such as hospitals, libraries and colleges.

One making a broad interpretation of the ruling was Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., who said: "One effect of the decision, in my view, is to make it clear that the Congress cannot enact legislation granting or loaning tax funds to church schools for any services other than those which pupils would need—even in the absence of their attendance from school—such as health services and the lunch program."

Rep. William H. Ayres, R-Ohio, summed up the feeling of most members concerned about the effect of the decision on such legislation when he said, "It complicates an already confused situation."

Democrats Pick Ex-GOP Backer, FacesFormerDem

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Democrats in South Carolina's 2nd Congressional District have picked a state legislator who backed the Republican ticket in 1960 to run next fall against a Republican who used to be a Democrat.

State Rep. Albert Watson, a 40-year-old Columbia lawyer, won the Democratic nomination for Congress Tuesday in a close runoff primary with Dr. Frank Owens 61, Columbia physician and former mayor.

In North Dakota, Republican Sen. Milton R. Young was running away from his opponent in a bid for a third-term nomination. Voting was light in the statewide primary that featured no other contests among top candidates.

In an Idaho runoff, attorney Orval Hansen took the Republican nomination for the 2nd Congressional District from former Congressman John Sanborn.

In Rhode Island, State Rep. John H. Chafee, of Warwick, was endorsed for governor by the Republican State Central Committee. His main opponent, Louis V. Jackvony Jr., announced after the balloting that he would enter a primary. Democrats have not yet endorsed candidates.

In South Carolina, unofficial returns from 260 of 261 precincts showed Watson ahead 17,615 to 16,393 for Owens.

In November, Watson faces former Democratic State Rep. Floyd Spence who is the GOP nominee. Mrs. Corinne Riley, elected to serve out the term of her late husband, is not seeking re-election.

Governor Scores

meeting of the State Conference of Mayors, Rockefeller said expenditures of $762 million would be necessary over the next 10 years if state communities were to provide sewage-treatment facilities and halt water pollution caused by dumping sewage into rivers and streams.

But New York State is entitled to only $5.3 million a year of federal appropriations totaling $100 million annually to help build sewage plants, he said.

"If the federal government's professed interest in helping urban areas is sincere," he said, "here is a wonderful way to start—by giving a fairer break to the biggest urban area in the country. . ."

In a speech prepared for delivery to the conference today, Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson urged localities not to look for "new sources of revenue," but to maintain their own responsibility for raising money.

"Finding 'new' sources of revenue most often is just euphemism of finding news ways to extract money from the same source—the tax-payer," he said.

Reidy Succeeds Ryan

"The closer we keep the responsibility for raising money to the privilege of spending it, the more efficient and economical will our government be," Wilson said.

Mayor Daniel J. Reidy of Ardsley was elected Tuesday to succeed Mayor William D. Ryan of Newburgh as president of the conference.

Other new officers include:

Expect JFK Word

the Eisenhower administration was that the United States would actively support the Nationalist defense of those islands, only if a Red attack on them was considered to be the first step in an an attack on Formosa.

The United States has sent units of the 7th Fleet into Formosan waters, possibly with the dual purpose of defending the Nationalist stronghold against any assault and at the same time discouraging the Nationalist forces from moving against the Red Chinese.

George W. Anderson Jr., chief of naval operation, said Tuesday night he foresees "no real trouble" in the Formosa Strait. He told newsmen in Las Vegas, Nev., that he doubts Red China will launch any serious attack on the offshore islands.

Warning Added, Too

The United States is reported to have told Red China through its ambassador at Warsaw that this country would not support any invasion attempt by Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek.

At the same time American Ambassador John Moors Cabot is said to have warned Red Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping Nan against any Communist strike at the Chinese Nationalists.

The ambassadors discussed the Formosa Strait situation at a Warsaw meeting last Saturday.

The Peiping regime began moving heavy troop reinforcements into the coastal region of Fukien Province opposite Formosa about two weeks ago. Its propagandists began a campaign accusing the United States of planning to assist a Nationalist assault on the mainland.

Settlement Made

A settlement was reached Tuesday afternoon in an automobile negligence action being tried before Justice William Deckelman and a jury in Supreme Court. The action was brought by Kurt Forst and wife of Kingston against Emmett Cunningham of New York City. It arose out of a collision on Route 28 between Kingston and West Hurley in July 1959. Plaintiffs suffered injuries. Howard C. St. John appeared for plaintiffs and Roy L. Featherstone for defendants. Today another automobile negligence action, Frieda Ross and another against Empire State Produce Distributors, Inc., was on trial. Alex Nirenberg of Ellenville for plaintiffs and Cook and Cook for defendants.

Rain, Hail Hit

started the blaze which burned out of control more than two hours.

At least 14 firemen suffered smoke inhalation and received oxygen at the scene. One fireman was injured, but not seriously.

Owned by Dr. Vaughn

Sergeant George Rymph, of the Dutchess County sheriff's office, told The Freeman, the mansion was owned by Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Vaughn and located in Bard Park, Hyde Park. The residence, the former Huyler mansion on the Vanderbilt estate, was purchased by the Vaughns from Elmer Van Wagner, former Hyde Park supervisor, who purchased properties on the Vanderbilt estate.

Dr. Vaughn was in Mexico at the time of the fire. He was notified by telephone by Mrs. Vaughn and prepared to return home as soon as possible.

See Sharp Flash

Rymph said Mrs. Vaughn and two children were at home shortly after 6 p. m. when they saw a sharp flash of lightning. Sometime later Mrs. Vaughn heard crackling of flames and saw smoke pouring from a dormer. She summoned firemen.

Hyde Park and Roosevelt Fire companies with six pieces of apparatus and ambulances responded. Several large lines of hose were pressed into service and tons of water were pumped into the 35-room residence.

During the height of the fire several firemen were felled by smoke and had to be assisted from the burning mansion. The supply of oxygen became exhausted and an emergency supply was rushed to the scene by the Nichols Oxygen Service.

Large Tree Struck

Sergeant Rymph said lightning struck a 60-foot oak tree which was in direct line with the mansion, and authorities agreed that the bolt evidently started the fire. Rymph said although fire damage was confined to the upper part of the house, smoke and water damage was extensive throughout the residence. He said the damage was in excess of $50,000.

In Kingston manhole covers, which popped on several streets, caused some traffic trouble, but the rain was so heavy during brief intervals that traffic was either slowed or stopped completely when windshield wipers proved inadequate.

Surcharges in storm sewers flooded streets from catch basins and the direct fall of rain caused slight floods on many streets.

Salesman Given Sporting Chance To Shorten Term

HERKIMER, N.Y. (AP)—A securities salesman sentenced to serve 10½ to 15 years in Attica State Prison on charges of forgery and grand larceny in the sale of stocks has a chance to shorten his term.

"You are a speculator and a gambler, and I am going to give you a sporting chance," Herkimer County Judge Edmund A. McCarthy said Tuesday after sentencing Anthony R. Frankewich, 43, of Herkimer.

McCarthy said that if Frankewich made restitution of about $65,000, which he is alleged to have obtained from customers illegally, before the expiration of the first of three consecutive 3½-to-5-year terms, the remainder of the sentences would be suspended.

Frankewich pleaded guilty to all counts in four indictments charging first-degree grand larceny and first-degree forgery in the sale to Herkimer County residents of the stock of several companies.

Bullet Wounds Pair

Two Dutchess County youths were wounded with a single bullet Monday night when a .22 caliber rifle accidentally discharged. State police said William Stephen Bilenky, 17, of Millbrook, received a puncture wound of the left index finger, and a friend, Lloyd Wilson, also 17, of Maple Avenue, Millbrook, received a wound of the left upper arm. Both were treated by a nearby physician, who removed the bullet from Wilson's arm. Bilenky was showing the gun sights to his friend when the butt of the weapon struck a bed and the rifle discharged.

Fire Levels Building

PAUL SMITHS, N.Y. (AP)—An early-morning fire today leveled the administration building at Paul Smith's College—a building that also housed the village post office, the local telephone company and the headquarters of an electric company.

No one was reported injured.

The Bloomingdale Fire Department said the fire was believed to have started in a telephone switchboard. A switchboard operator in the building reported the fire at about 5:30 a.m.

Action Doubted

forbidden by the First Amendment. It is a non-denominational prayer and pupils whose parents objected could be excused from reciting it.

Cloud of Uncertainty

Justice Hugo L. Black, who wrote the majority opinion, said that placing "the power, prestige and financial support of government" behind a particular form of religious observance tends to coerce religious minorities to conform.

Even those who remained noncommital about the court itself, however, expressed concern that the ruling, underscoring as it does the doctrine of separation of church and state, casts a cloud of uncertainty over a whole range of federal programs of assistance to church-supported institutions, such as hospitals, libraries and colleges.

One making a broad interpretation of the ruling was Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., who said: "One effect of the decision, in my view, is to make it clear that the Congress cannot enact legislation granting or loaning tax funds to church schools for any services other than those which pupils would need—even in the absence of their attendance from school—such as health services and the lunch program."

Rep. William H. Ayres, R-Ohio, summed up the feeling of most members concerned about the effect of the decision on such legislation when he said, "It complicates an already confused situation."

Democrats Pick Ex-GOP Backer, FacesFormerDem

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Democrats in South Carolina's 2nd Congressional District have picked a state legislator who backed the Republican ticket in 1960 to run next fall against a Republican who used to be a Democrat.

State Rep. Albert Watson, a 40-year-old Columbia lawyer, won the Democratic nomination for Congress Tuesday in a close runoff primary with Dr. Frank Owens 61, Columbia physician and former mayor.

In North Dakota, Republican Sen. Milton R. Young was running away from his opponent in a bid for a third-term nomination. Voting was light in the statewide primary that featured no other contests among top candidates.

In an Idaho runoff, attorney Orval Hansen took the Republican nomination for the 2nd Congressional District from former Congressman John Sanborn.

In Rhode Island, State Rep. John H. Chafee, of Warwick, was endorsed for governor by the Republican State Central Committee. His main opponent, Louis V. Jackvony Jr., announced after the balloting that he would enter a primary. Democrats have not yet endorsed candidates.

In South Carolina, unofficial returns from 260 of 261 precincts showed Watson ahead 17,615 to 16,393 for Owens.

In November, Watson faces former Democratic State Rep. Floyd Spence who is the GOP nominee. Mrs. Corinne Riley, elected to serve out the term of her late husband, is not seeking re-election.

Governor Scores

meeting of the State Conference of Mayors, Rockefeller said expenditures of $762 million would be necessary over the next 10 years if state communities were to provide sewage-treatment facilities and halt water pollution caused by dumping sewage into rivers and streams.

But New York State is entitled to only $5.3 million a year of federal appropriations totaling $100 million annually to help build sewage plants, he said.

"If the federal government's professed interest in helping urban areas is sincere," he said, "here is a wonderful way to start—by giving a fairer break to the biggest urban area in the country. . ."

In a speech prepared for delivery to the conference today, Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson urged localities not to look for "new sources of revenue," but to maintain their own responsibility for raising money.

"Finding 'new' sources of revenue most often is just euphemism of finding news ways to extract money from the same source—the tax-payer," he said.

Reidy Succeeds Ryan

Mayor Daniel J. Reidy of Ardsley was elected Tuesday to succeed Mayor William D. Ryan of Newburgh as president of the conference.

Other new officers include:

Expect JFK Word

the Eisenhower administration was that the United States would actively support the Nationalist defense of those islands only if a Red attack on them was considered to be the first step in an an attack on Formosa.

The United States has sent units of the 7th Fleet into Formosan waters, possibly with the dual purpose of defending the Nationalist stronghold against any assault and at the same time discouraging the Nationalist forces from moving against the Red Chinese.

George W. Anderson Jr., chief of naval operation, said Tuesday night he foresees "no real trouble" in the Formosa Strait. He told newsmen in Las Vegas, Nev., that he doubts Red China will launch any serious attack on the offshore islands.

Warning Added, Too

The United States is reported to have told Red China through its ambassador at Warsaw that this country would not support any invasion attempt by Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek.

At the same time American Ambassador John Moors Cabot is said to have warned Red Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping Nan against any Communist strike at the Chinese Nationalists.

The ambassadors discussed the Formosa Strait situation at a Warsaw meeting last Saturday.

The Peiping regime began moving heavy troop reinforcements into the coastal region of Fukien Province opposite Formosa about two weeks ago. Its propagandists began a campaign accusing the United States of planning to assist a Nationalist assault on the mainland.

Settlement Made

A settlement was reached Tuesday afternoon in an automobile negligence action being tried before Justice William Deckelman and a jury in Supreme Court. The action was brought by Kurt Forst and wife of Kingston against Emmett Cunningham of New York City. It arose out of a collision on Route 28 between Kingston and West Hurley in July 1959. Plaintiffs suffered injuries. Howard C. St. John appeared for plaintiffs and Roy L. Featherstone for defendants. Today another automobile negligence action, Frieda Ross and another against Empire State Produce Distributors, Inc., was on trial. Alex Nirenberg of Ellenville for plaintiffs and Cook and Cook for defendants.

Rain, Hail Hit

started the blaze which burned out of control more than two hours.

At least 14 firemen suffered smoke inhalation and received oxygen at the scene. One fireman was injured, but not seriously.

Owned by Dr. Vaughn

Sergeant George Rymph, of the Dutchess County sheriff's office, told The Freeman, the mansion was owned by Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Vaughn and located in Bard Park, Hyde Park. The residence, the former Huyler mansion on the Vanderbilt estate, was purchased by the Vaughns from Elmer Van Wagner, former Hyde Park supervisor, who purchased properties on the Vanderbilt estate.

Dr. Vaughn was in Mexico at the time of the fire. He was notified by telephone by Mrs. Vaughn and prepared to return home as soon as possible.

See Sharp Flash

Rymph said Mrs. Vaughn and two children were at home shortly after 6 p. m. when they saw a sharp flash of lightning. Sometime later Mrs. Vaughn heard crackling of flames and saw smoke pouring from a dormer. She summoned firemen.

Hyde Park and Roosevelt Fire companies with six pieces of apparatus and ambulances responded. Several large lines of hose were pressed into service and tons of water were pumped into the 35-room residence.

During the height of the fire several firemen were felled by smoke and had to be assisted from the burning mansion. The supply of oxygen became exhausted and an emergency supply was rushed to the scene by the Nichols Oxygen Service.

Large Tree Struck

Sergeant Rymph said lightning struck a 60-foot oak tree which was in direct line with the mansion, and authorities agreed that the bolt evidently started the fire. Rymph said although fire damage was confined to the upper part of the house, smoke and water damage was extensive throughout the residence. He said the damage was in excess of $50,000.

Westchester Poll Is for Stratton, Only 308 Ballot

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., says a poll of Democratic committeemen in Westchester County on their choice for the party's gubernatorial nominee bears out what other polls have demonstrated.

"If the enrolled Democrats around the state are given a fair chance to be heard, I am confident I will be overwhelmingly chosen as the candidate to defeat Gov. Rockefeller," the Schenectady congressman said.

William Luddy, Westchester County Democratic chairman, said Tuesday that the poll showed that Stratton was favored for the nomination.

He said only 308 of the 1,100 committeemen submitted ballots in the poll.

Stratton said the results bore out "what earlier polls have demonstrated in Syracuse, Rochester and Rockland County."

The Westchester ballots contained the names of 12 other possible candidates.

With Stratton in the top four in the poll were Dist. Atty. Frank D. O'Connor of Queens County, Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan of Manhattan, and former Postmaster General James A. Farley.

Carol Lawrence Says Television Made Her Actress

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Carol Lawrence, who became a singing and dancing star on Broadway, says that television turned her into an actress.

"Nowadays in show business, television exposure is absolutely essential," remarked the pretty dark-haired performer. "It can be death if you don't get it. It helps so much."

Carol, particularly after her smash success in Broadway's "West Side Story," was in great demand for the popular television variety shows—where she had a chance to act in sketches with the stars.

"And if I had not had a chance with Garry Moore, Perry Como and the others, the producers would never have given me a chance to do a straight acting role in 'The Dybbuk.'"

"The Dybbuk," one of a high-level, syndicated series called "Play of the Week" led directly to meaty acting parts in motion pictures—"The View from the Bridge."

Now, Miss Lawrence is a triple-threat performer.

CBS, which plans to revive good gay "Pantomime Quiz"—a perennial summer replacement—as a prime-time fall show, is busily giving the parlor game a new look.

Mike Stokey (who owns the package) will be replaced as leader by Pat Harrington, Jr. and they are changing the name to "Stump the Stars." But under all the paint, the game's the same.

Recommended tonight: "Perilous," NBC, 9-10 (EDT) — spy stuff with Joan Fontaine and Maximilian Schell; "Scene of the Crime," CBS, 10-11—Betty White and Harry Townes in a Steel Hour suspense story.

Tangier Principal's Post to Poet's Son

TANGIER (AP) — Omar Pound, son of poet Ezra Pound, has been named principal of the American School of Tangier.

The new principal attended Hamilton College at Clinton, N.Y., and received a master's degree from McGill University, Montreal. He takes over the new post in September.

The school, founded in 1950, is supported by the U.S. government and private funds.

Stop Gone

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Lost: Sylvan Township's only traffic signal, last seen winking red and yellow lights at the intersection of U. S. 12 and Michigan 92. Township officials suspect the light was removed inadvertently by a State Highway Department crew, or workers on a new interstate route nearby.

Syracuse Specialist Named Bureau Head

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Dr. J.G. Fred Hiss of Syracuse, a heart specialist for more than 40 years, was named today as director of the Bureau of Heart Disease of the State Health Department.

Health Commissioner Herman E. Hilleboe named Hiss to the post, which pays $16,394 a year.

Hiss will be the first, permanent chief of the bureau, which was created a year ago and has had a provisional director since then.

N. Y. Lends Original Proclamation Draft

ANNAPOLIS Md. (AP) — New York State will lend Maryland the original draft of the Emancipation Proclamation for display during a Civil War Centennial observance.

The document, by which President Abraham Lincoln in 1863 proclaimed the freedom of about 3 million slaves in 10 southern states, will be brought here by C.F. Gosnell, New York State Librarian, and Enoch Squires, chairman of the New York State Civil War Centennial Commission.

It will be received by Gov. J. Millard Tawes and will be exhibited in the State House here during the commemoration of the Civil War by Tidewater counties. The celebration begins Saturday.

Lincoln's draft of the historic proclamation is owned by New York State.

Stop Gone

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Lost: Sylvan Township's only traffic signal, last seen winking red and yellow lights at the intersection of U. S. 12 and Michigan 92. Township officials suspect the light was removed inadvertently by a State Highway Department crew, or workers on a new interstate route nearby.

Killed Resnick Under Duress, Defendant Claims

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—One of five defendants in the Sam L. Resnick murder trial was quoted Tuesday as saying he did the job under implied duress.

A statement signed by 19-year-old Jessie Tillis was introduced as evidence. It quoted him as saying:

"I thought they would do me the same way, so I helped them (the other defendants)."

Tillis and four other Phoenix-area Negroes are accused of strangling Resnick, 61, a retired Albany, N.Y. jeweler.

The other defendants are brothers Clemmie, 19, and R. E. Jackson, 21; John Henry Lewis Jones, 21; and Ernest Spurlock, 20.

Tillis' statement was given to sheriff's investigators shortly after his arrest.

The statement also quoted Tillis as admitting being with Clemmie Jackson when the death plan was developed, going along with all but Clemmie to the death spot and helping strangle Resnick with a rope.

The prosecution contends Resnick was killed and his body looted by all but Clemmie. Clemmie is accused of setting up the slaying.

The defendants claim Resnick hired them to kill him because he suffeed from incurable cancer.

Outlook Improves

bar amendments from the floor.

Although there were no showdown votes, the House Agriculture Committee seemed to be making some headway in salvaging part of the Kennedy farm program in a new measure to replace the strict-controls bill passed by the Senate and rejected by the House.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Senate Democratic leader, predicted final compromises between the two houses will produce a wheat control provision and an extension of the present feed grains program.

There were some signs of movement, too, on the long-deadlocked bill for federal aid to higher education. Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., discussed the matter with Kennedy at a White House meeting Tuesday.

Hint Medicare Action

In this case, the House wants loans and grants and the Senate wants only loans to colleges. Kennedy has favored the latter approach.

Democratic leaders reiterated their announcement that a modified version of Kennedy's program for financing medical care for the elderly through Social Security taxes will be offered in the Senate late in the week.

Dirksen served notice, however, that there will be rounded discussion before any votes are reached.

Democratic sponsors are shooting for a showdown vote before July 15. Their plan is to attach the proposal to a House-passed welfare bill and try in that way to gain a vote on the modified proposal in both houses.

Not all of the developments were encouraging to the administration.

Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., said in a statement that the House-passed Kennedy tax revision bill may have to be taken off the congressional firing line temporarily to get other important legislation passed.

Woman Injured In Mishap, 25 in Camp Bus Unhurt

A Red Hook woman was injured and 28 persons including 25 camp counselors escaped injury at 4:40 p. m. Tuesday when a bus and two cars were involved in a collision on Route 9, Town of Hyde Park.

State Police Sergeant Robert Broderick of the Hyde Park station, reported the bus was owned by the Hudson Bus Transportation Co., of Jersey City, N. J., and operated by William J. Houston, 51, of Lakewood, N. J.

Troopers said the bus driver and 25 counselors, reportedly on their way to Camp Ramapo, Rhinebeck, for the summer escaped injury. State Police said the bus was traveling north following a car operated by William H. Coon, 64, of Hyde Park. Ahead of the Coon car was a vehicle driven by Anna Bennison, 42, of Red Hook.

According to troopers, the Bennison car slowed to make a left turn off Route 9, and Coon brought his car almost to a stop when it was struck in the rear by the bus. Coon's car was pushed ahead into the Bennison vehicle.

Ruby Aiken, 58, of Red Hook, a passenger in the Bennison car was taken to St. Francis' Hospital, Poughkeepsie and treated for a laceration of her neck.

$185,000 in Gems Taken From Suite Of Jerry Lewis

NEW YORK (AP)—The five-room hotel suite of comedian Jerry Lewis and his wife, Patti, was looted of $185,000 in jewels Tuesday night while they were at a studio taping a television show.

Police said there was no sign of a forced entry into the apartment, which had been ransacked.

Lewis said his wife was most distressed about losing a pendant worth a couple of hundred dollars, which he gave her 18 years ago when they were married.

The jewelry was partly covered by insurance.

Police records indicated an estimated $300,000 worth of jewelry had been stolen from midtown hotels within the past two months.

There have been no arrests or recoveries in any of the cases.

Church Council Has Statement On Prayer Ruling

SYRACUSE—A spokesman for the New York State Council of Churches, in a prepared statement, today ,says, that, "The decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in ruling unconstitutional the 'Regents prayer', widely used in New York State schools, has become a matter of immediate concern to church people generally. The long-range effect on a variety of other religious or religiously motivated expressions will doubtless become a matter of much speculation. How far the Court's decision will reach is already a matter of much speculation. Whether purely "voluntary" expressions of religious belief in any form, or the use of traditional sayings or songs (e. g., The pledge of allegiance to the flag or the singing of "America") will finally be prohibited cannot now be determined."

The statement continued, "One certain fact stands out in relief. The Released Time permission for children to be excused with parental consent from school attendance at set periods to receive religious instruction under the guidance of their respective churches has been declared constitutional and now becomes of increasing importance."

"The State Council of Churches, in line with its long established policy, urges all its denominational bodies, local councils and member churches to consider with fresh emphasis the possibilities for religious guidance that such a Released Time program affords."

Commercial Exhibits

The only source of income to conduct the Ulster County Fair is from entry fees, concessions and the rental of commercial space. Because of the large crowds attracted to the fair the officials believe it makes an excellent place to exhibit and advertise. Anyone interested in commercial space should contact Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, who also serves as secretary of the Ulster County Agriculture Society, sponsors of the fair.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Low-Priced Stocks Aren't Always Cheap

A) Let me congratulate you on $1,000. I am not interested in yield, only in growth, and I would like to buy stocks under $2.00 a share. What do you suggest?" V.T.

A) I suggest that you alter your thinking a little.

One of the most common and dangerous delusions I encounter is that very low-priced stocks are necessarily cheap. There are few issues now selling below $2.00 that are not in that range because their quality is poor and their risk is high.

I beg you not to get speculation confused with growth. Speculation means the deliberate assumption of risk in the hope of attaining substantial profit When you buy growth, however, you expect over a period of time a steady advance in price, which is achieved by rising earnings and dividends.

I know of no good speculation or growth stock in the price range you designate. In fact, my mail is full of requests from worried investors who bought very low-priced stocks, have suffered severe losses, and now wonder what to do about them.

Q) "When I graduated from high school recently, I was extremely fortunate to receive nearly $200 in gifts. Since I have a scholarship which will cover my college tuition costs, I would like to invest this money for future use. Can you please help me?" T.D.

A) Let me congratulate you on winning a college scholarship. Nothing pleases me more than assisting young people with serious aspirations. Also it's a fine thing for you to develop an interest in investments so early in life.

There are many fine growth stocks which should reward you well over the years. However, I am going to suggest that you put this money in a savings bank or insured savings and loan association until you have a chance to accumulate a larger amount. You'll earn about 4 per cent interest and the money will be readily available—without danger of loss—in the event you need additional funds for college expenses.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Democratic leaders reiterated their announcement that a modified version of Kennedy's program for financing medical care for the elderly through Social Security taxes will be offered in the Senate late in the week.

Dirksen served notice, however, that there will be rounded discussion before any votes are reached.

Democratic sponsors are shooting for a showdown vote before July 15. Their plan is to attach the proposal to a House-passed welfare bill and try in that way to gain a vote on the modified proposal in both houses.

Not all of the developments were encouraging to the administration.

Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., said in a statement that the House-passed Kennedy tax revision bill may have to be taken off the congressional firing line temporarily to get other important legislation passed.

Woman Injured In Mishap, 25 in Camp Bus Unhurt

A Red Hook woman was injured and 28 persons including 25 camp counselors escaped injury at 4:40 p. m. Tuesday when a bus and two cars were involved in a collision on Route 9, Town of Hyde Park.

State Police Sergeant Robert Broderick of the Hyde Park station, reported the bus was owned by the Hudson Bus Transportation Co., of Jersey City, N. J., and operated by William J. Houston, 51, of Lakewood, N. J.

Troopers said the bus driver and 25 counselors, reportedly on their way to Camp Ramapo, Rhinebeck, for the summer escaped injury. State Police said the bus was traveling north following a car operated by William H. Coon, 64, of Hyde Park. Ahead of the Coon car was a vehicle driven by Anna Bennison, 42, of Red Hook.

According to troopers, the Bennison car slowed to make a left turn off Route 9, and Coon brought his car almost to a stop when it was struck in the rear by the bus. Coon's car was pushed ahead into the Bennison vehicle.

Ruby Aiken, 58, of Red Hook, a passenger in the Bennison car was taken to St. Francis' Hospital, Poughkeepsie and treated for a laceration of her neck.

$185,000 in Gems Taken From Suite Of Jerry Lewis

NEW YORK (AP)—The five-room hotel suite of comedian Jerry Lewis and his wife, Patti, was looted of $185,000 in jewels Tuesday night while they were at a studio taping a television show.

Police said there was no sign of a forced entry into the apartment, which had been ransacked.

Lewis said his wife was most distressed about losing a pendant worth a couple of hundred dollars, which he gave her 18 years ago when they were married.

The jewelry was partly covered by insurance.

Police records indicated an estimated $300,000 worth of jewelry had been stolen from midtown hotels within the past two months.

There have been no arrests or recoveries in any of the cases.

Church Council Has Statement On Prayer Ruling

SYRACUSE—A spokesman for the New York State Council of Churches, in a prepared statement, today says, that, "The decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in ruling unconstitutional the 'Regents prayer', widely used in New York State schools, has become a matter of immediate concern to church people generally. The long-range effect on a variety of other religious or religiously motivated expressions will doubtless become a matter of much speculation. How far the Court's decision will reach is already a matter of much speculation. Whether purely "voluntary" expressions of religious belief in any form, or the use of traditional sayings or songs (e. g., The pledge of allegiance to the flag or the singing of "America") will finally be prohibited cannot now be determined."

The statement continued, "One certain fact stands out in relief. The Released Time permission for children to be excused with parental consent from school attendance at set periods to receive religious instruction under the guidance of their respective churches has been declared constitutional and now becomes of increasing importance."

"The State Council of Churches, in line with its long established policy, urges all its denominational bodies, local councils and member churches to consider with fresh emphasis the possibilities for religious guidance that such a Released Time program affords."

Commercial Exhibits

The only source of income to conduct the Ulster County Fair is from entry fees, concessions and the rental of commercial space. Because of the large crowds attracted to the fair the officials believe it makes an excellent place to exhibit and advertise. Anyone interested in commercial space should contact Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, who also serves as secretary of the Ulster County Agriculture Society, sponsors of the fair.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Low-Priced Stocks Aren't Always Cheap

ROGER E. SPEAR

A) Let me congratulate you on $1,000. I am not interested in yield, only in growth, and I would like to buy stocks under $2.00 a share. What do you suggest?" V.T.

A) I suggest that you alter your thinking a little.

One of the most common and dangerous delusions I encounter is that very low-priced stocks are necessarily cheap. There are few issues now selling below $2.00 that are not in that range because their quality is poor and their risk is high.

I beg you not to get speculation confused with growth. Speculation means the deliberate assumption of risk in the hope of attaining substantial profit When you buy growth, however, you expect over a period of time a steady advance in price, which is achieved by rising earnings and dividends.

I know of no good speculation or growth stock in the price range you designate. In fact, my mail is full of requests from worried investors who bought very low-priced stocks, have suffered severe losses, and now wonder what to do about them.

Q) "When I graduated from high school recently, I was extremely fortunate to receive nearly $200 in gifts. Since I have a scholarship which will cover my college tuition costs, I would like to invest this money for future use. Can you please help me?" T.D.

A) Let me congratulate you on winning a college scholarship. Nothing pleases me more than assisting young people with serious aspirations. Also it's a fine thing for you to develop an interest in investments so early in life.

There are many fine growth stocks which should reward you well over the years. However, I am going to suggest that you put this money in a savings bank or insured savings and loan association until you have a chance to accumulate a larger amount. You'll earn about 4 per cent interest and the money will be readily available—without danger of loss—in the event you need additional funds for college expenses.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Fess Parker is on the prowl for a new image, and he's going back to Washington to get it.

No more the buckskin of Davy Crockett, king of the wild frontier.

Now it's Ivy League duds of Mr. Smith, senator of the new frontier.

Not that Fess is taking sides in the political arena. He is leaping into 1962 Washington with a new television series, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington."

Watchers of the late, late show will recall the movie of the same name that starred young James Stewart in 1939. It has been updated for a series to star Fess, who now graduates to the upper house. He was a member of the House of Representatives in the Crockett trilogy that made him a star—and problems—eight years ago.

The problems were strictly career; Fess has no quarrel with what else Davy did for him.

"No, indeed," he affirmed. "If it hadn't been for Davy, I might still be hauling my guitar around town and hunting for jobs."

Because of Davy — and what came after—Fess and friends are now putting up a $1.5-million trailer park in Santa Barbara.

His problem, then?

"The image," he explained "I've been working for several years now to get out of costumes. Maybe this series will do it. Maybe I'll be able to join the 20th century.

"There is no doubt that the image has held me back," he admitted. "That's why I want to play Mr. Smith in a different style—crisper, sharper and more contemporary than I have before."

Mr. Smith will go to Washington from some undesignated state, roughly somewhere between the Rockies and the Mississippi. His party affiliation will also be clouded, but that doesn't mean he'll avoid issues.

"The format of the show is situation comedy," Fess explained. "But underneath the comedy will be a point or two about our government and how it works."

School Board Ends Contract With Architect

At a brief meeting on Monday evening the Saugerties Board of Education voted six to two to terminate the contracts with the architectural firm of Sargent-Webster-Crenshaw and Folley as of April 25, and the board of education pay all claims to said firm out of the school fiscal year, 1961-62.

Richard Smith made the motion, seconded by Harry Hoffman, with Jack Pakanen, Charles Riccardi, Henry Breitenbach, Steve Stykos voting yes on the motion and Mrs. Agnes Schroeder and Robert Herb dissenting.

All bills caused by the bond issue proposals of May 9 and June 21 total approximately $20,000 as follows: $7,860.57 and $9,159 for architectural fees; $450 and $50 options on properties; $750 surveying fees; $809 boring expenses; $277.12 election expenses. The option money will be saved if a decision to build on the site should be made before the option expires.

The board also decided that four voting machines should be provided at all future voting meetings.

The board agreed to dismiss the Citizens Advisory Group and extended appreciation to Miss Grace Anderson and Norman Nitschke, co-chairmen of the group and to all the members who aided in the school issue during the past year and a half.

They approved the decision of Attorney Daniel Lamb, chairman of the special meeting, that the vote on the bond issue was defeated by 404 votes, but left the way open to any local citizen who disagrees with the decision to file an objection with the district's attorneys, Rosenblum and Lamb.

The board appointed a building committee consisting of Steve Stycos, Henry Breitenbach, Harry Hoffman, Charles Riccardi and Richard Smith to receive suggestions from any and all sources within the district and to begin a study of ways and means to meet the building needs of the school district.

The board approved the appointment of Marvin Lee Bowman as second librarian at the high school. He is a native of Virginia, married and has one child. He is a graduate of the College of William and Mary.

Dr. Morse reported that there are still three teaching positions to be filled—a reading specialist and two kindergarten positions.

No more the buckskin of Davy Crockett, king of the wild frontier.

Now it's Ivy League duds of Mr. Smith, senator of the new frontier.

Not that Fess is taking sides in the political arena. He is leaping into 1962 Washington with a new television series, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington."

Watchers of the late, late show will recall the movie of the same name that starred young James Stewart in 1939. It has been updated for a series to star Fess, who now graduates to the upper house. He was a member of the House of Representatives in the Crockett trilogy that made him a star—and problems—eight years ago.

The problems were strictly career; Fess has no quarrel with what else Davy did for him.

"No, indeed," he affirmed. "If it hadn't been for Davy, I might still be hauling my guitar around town and hunting for jobs."

Because of Davy — and what came after—Fess and friends are now putting up a $1.5-million trailer park in Santa Barbara.

His problem, then?

"The image," he explained "I've been working for several years now to get out of costumes. Maybe this series will do it. Maybe I'll be able to join the 20th century.

"There is no doubt that the image has held me back," he admitted. "That's why I want to play Mr. Smith in a different style—crisper, sharper and more contemporary than I have before."

Mr. Smith will go to Washington from some undesignated state, roughly somewhere between the Rockies and the Mississippi. His party affiliation will also be clouded, but that doesn't mean he'll avoid issues.

"The format of the show is situation comedy," Fess explained. "But underneath the comedy will be a point or two about our government and how it works."

School Board Ends Contract With Architect

At a brief meeting on Monday evening the Saugerties Board of Education voted six to two to terminate the contracts with the architectural firm of Sargent-Webster-Crenshaw and Folley as of April 25, and the board of education pay all claims to said firm out of the school fiscal year, 1961-62.

Richard Smith made the motion, seconded by Harry Hoffman, with Jack Pakanen, Charles Riccardi, Henry Breitenbach, Steve Stykos voting yes on the motion and Mrs. Agnes Schroeder and Robert Herb dissenting.

All bills caused by the bond issue proposals of May 9 and June 21 total approximately $20,000 as follows: $7,860.57 and $9,159 for architectural fees; $450 and $50 options on properties; $750 surveying fees; $809 boring expenses; $277.12 election expenses. The option money will be saved if a decision to build on the site should be made before the option expires.

The board also decided that four voting machines should be provided at all future voting meetings.

The board agreed to dismiss the Citizens Advisory Group and extended appreciation to Miss Grace Anderson and Norman Nitschke, co-chairmen of the group and to all the members who aided in the school issue during the past year and a half.

They approved the decision of Attorney Daniel Lamb, chairman of the special meeting, that the vote on the bond issue was defeated by 404 votes, but left the way open to any local citizen who disagrees with the decision to file an objection with the district's attorneys, Rosenblum and Lamb.

The board appointed a building committee consisting of Steve Stycos, Henry Breitenbach, Harry Hoffman, Charles Riccardi and Richard Smith to receive suggestions from any and all sources within the district and to begin a study of ways and means to meet the building needs of the school district.

The board approved the appointment of Marvin Lee Bowman as second librarian at the high school. He is a native of Virginia, married and has one child. He is a graduate of the College of William and Mary.

Dr. Morse reported that there are still three teaching positions to be filled—a reading specialist and two kindergarten positions.

Youth Activities Planned July 7-8

The Southside Men's Club will sponsor a weekend of activity for the young people of that area between the ages of 6 and 14 July 7, 8 with a movie starting at dusk on Saturday evening and a Field Day planned for the afternoon and evening on Sunday.

A full schedule of events is planned for Sunday including all competitive races, bicycle rides, ball games and free refreshments for everyone, including parents and friends of the south side children. James Freligh, secretary of the men's organization, said that to date over 130 entries have been received for participation and those not yet registered may obtain entry blanks from him or from Christy Hubert. There is no charge for any of the events to be held at the Southside Playground.

The yearly reports were made by the standing committee chairmen as follows: cancer control—80 pounds material, 10 white shirts, 10 hours spent by a member making pads; child welfare—used clothing for eight children was distributed valued at $72.50; community service—57 hours; membership 118-paid-up members; Poppy chairman—Sarah Underhill reported a successful campaign; publicity—11 articles in three papers, one picture; rehabilitation—adult clothing valued at $50 donated, baskets of fruit and cigarettes. A donation was sent to the Albany Veterans Administration Hospital.

The 42nd annual convention will be held at the Hotel Astor, New York, Aug. 9, 10, 11. Delegates will be incoming president, Gladys Amend with Barbara Grace as alternate.

Committee Hears Land Acquisition Program in State

Conservation Commissioner Harold G. Wilm met in Albany Monday with members of his advisory committee to outline land acquisition programs within the Forest Preserve and discuss plans for developing the recreation potential of the state's remote wilderness areas.

The advisory committee includes Attorney S. James Matthews of Kingston, vice chairman of the State Fish and Wildlife Management Board.

As recognized leaders in natural resource conservation, advisory committee members represent a broad range of conservation interests including, forestry, agriculture, soils, water, fish and game, public recreation, boating and conservation education.

Referring to the Forest Preserve, Commissioner Wilm told the committee that there is no area in the state where purchase of a single acre of land can mean so much to future recreation and resource management programs.

"Because of the 'patchwork quilt' pattern of the 2.5 million acre Forest Preserve," he explained, "a seemingly insignificant parcel of land may provide public access to thousands of acres of inaccessible wilderness.

New York's $75-million Park and Recreation Land Acquisition Bond Act provides funds for "forest perserve" purchases primarily to consolidate or provide public access to existing state holdings in the Adirondack and Catskill regions. The department plans to add approximately 200,000 acres to the Forest Preserve under the bond act program.

Dr. Wilm reported that purchase agreements for interior tracts covering more than 37,000 acres at a total cost of $1,015,018 have been signed under the program to insure continued outdoor opportunities for those who enjoy the remote wilderness.

He assured the advisory committee that land purchases in the Adirondack and Catskill regions were not being made merely to create impressive acreages.

"Planned acquisitions will help consolidate isolated sections and provide adequate public access for those who prefer to 'pack in' to the remote areas.

"In addition," he pointed out, "property is also being obtained on the fringe of the Preserve for eventual development as campsites, boat launching facilities and public hunting and fishing areas."

Because family camping is increasing in popularity as a source of outdoor recreation enjoyment, he continued, suitable facilities must be provided.

Campsites such as Lake Harris (Essex County), Cascade Lake and Limekiln Lake (Hamilton County) and Nick's Lake (Herkimer County) have been acquired or are under purchase agreement and purchase of additional sites is planned.

Why We Say--

CROCODILE TEARS

Crocodiles have been observed shedding tears while devouring their victims — probably because they've bitten off more than they can swallow at one time. We use the expression "crocodile tears" for tears that are as false and as empty of real emotion as those of the crocodile.

MODENA NEWS

Miss Glennie M. Wager—Telephone TU 3-7136

MODENA — The postponed meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Modena Methodist Church, was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joseph E. Hasbrouck. Those present were Mrs. Lizzie Hyatt and Mrs. Eldred Smith of Ardonia, Mrs. LeRoy Gruman of Clintondale, Mrs. Joseph Simmons of Ireland Corners, Mrs. Lester Arnold, Mrs. William Decker, and Miss Emma Behm of Modena. The newly appointed pastor of the Modena Methodist Church, the Rev. W. H. Weaver, visited the meeting. The next meeting on Thursday, July 5, at 2 p. m., will be held at the home of Mrs. Decker, when plans will be completed for the annual church fair Wednesday afternoon and evening, July 11, at the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall.

The former home of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harry Paltridge in this area, has been sold to the Rodriguez family, who will take possession at an early date.

Local members of the Ulster County Home Demonstration Service attended the final meeting for the present season, at the home of Mrs. Paul Kelley, Clintondale, last Tuesday evening. The project was preparations for winter bouquets.

Assisting in the listing of those signing up for the free chest X-ray, held throughout Ulster County at mobile units in Wallkill, New Paltz and Highland, were the Mmes. James Palen, Harold West, Louis Secunda, Albert Molson, Lester Wager Jr., Herbert Winters Jr. and in Ardonia, the Mmes. Roy Jensen, Robert Coy, Eugene Coy, Ella Schoenbery. Transportation was arranged by Eldred Smith, chief engineer of the Modena Fire Department.

Chief Eldred Smith, 2nd Assistant William Goehren, and county delegates Kenneth Dimsey and Gordon Rhodes, of the Modena Fire Department, attended a meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association held Tuesday evening at the Bloomington Fire House.

At this time, William Goehren and Richard Marquard of Modena, Mike Possai of Plattekill and Leonard Farhiro of Sawkill joined the association.

Living Costs Hold Steady for May

WASHINGTON (AP) —Living costs were unchanged in May at the record level set in April.

Lower prices for food and gasoline balanced out higher housing and medical care costs to leave the government index at 105.2 per cent of the 1957-59 base period. This means it costs about a nickel more now to buy the same goods that could be obtained for a dollar in the prior period.

Robert J. Myers, deputy Labor Department statistics commissioner, in announcing the figures today said the steadiness in May was "welcome little respite" after living-cost increases in February, March and Aprilm

Myers predicted, however, a small living cost increase will be shown for June when those figures become available a month from now.

While living costs remained steady in May, the after-tax earnings of factory production workers hit a new record. Both the average weekly work hours and hourly earnings increased.

The average factory worker heading a family of four earned $86.05 weekly after deduction of federal income and Social Security taxes in May. This topped the prior high of $85.70 set in December.

At the beginning of 1960, Sweden's population was estimated at 7,475,000.

County Jails Not For Young, Says DA of Onondaga

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Onondaga County's district attorney urges that the number of youths in county jails be kept to a minimum as a result of reports of sexual advances made by older inmates on imprisoned youths.

Dist. Atty. Joseph A. Ryan, in a memorandum Tuesday, appealed to all peace justices and police officials in the county to avoid sending youths under 19 to jail unless they have been sentenced or are accused of crimes of violence.

Asked if the appeal resulted from the reports of sexual perversion, a spokesman for Ryan replied, "If you were to make that guess, you wouldn't be far from wrong."

Ryan urged that youths not charged with vicious crimes be released in the lowest possible bail or in the custody of their lawyers or parents.

The spokesman said the memorandum was issued "on the basis of progress so far" in a grand jury investigation of conditions at the jails. A 16-year-old boy testified last week.

In another development Tuesday, Sheriff Sarto C. Major made public two reports by the State Correction Commission critical of jail operations.

The reports said, among other things, that some prisoners had been released from their cell sections so they could visit prisoners in other sections.

The sheriff said he would comply at once with the commission's recommendations.

The two jails, in Syracuse and suburban Jamesville, were inspected by the commission after it received reports that some prisoners were being pampered.

Public Hearing Ordered on Bus Fare Proposals

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The Public Service Commission has ordered a public hearing on a proposal by the Niagara Frontier Transit System Inc. for higher bus fares for children and increased charges for transfers on its lines.

The order Tuesday blocked the company from putting the increases into effect July 15, as it had planned.

The hearing will be held in Buffalo July 24 as part of an investigation into the company's financial position. Authorization for the increases will depend on the results of the investigation.

The bus line had planned to boost school and other children's fares from 10 to 15 cents in Buffalo. The fares also would have been increased by 5 cents on the multi-zone route between Buffalo and North Tonawanda.

The price of transfers in the Buffalo area would have risen from 2 to 5 cents.

The company did not announce any increase in its 25-cent adult fare or for its operations in Niagara Falls.

Bridge for Sale, Can't Leave It Up

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—Anyone interested in buying a 1,400-foot bridge can enter his bid with the Niagara Falls Bridge Commission. Only thing is, the buyer cannot leave the bridge standing.

The bridge commission said Tuesday it was looking for a buyer for the 64-year-old suspension bridge spanning the lower Niagara River from Lewiston, N.Y. to Queenston, Ont. The bridge is to be replaced this fall by a new high-level bridge a short distance upstream.

The Bridge Commission stipulated that the bridge's buyer would have to demolish it by March 1, 1963. No price was listed for it.

Cohoes Boy Drowns On Grad Dance Day

COHOES, N. Y. (AP) — Keveny Academy held its graduation dance Tuesday night, but William Kelly, 19, of Cohoes, was not there.

Sheriff's deputies said he slipped from a log while swimming after he and two classmates had washed the automobile in which they were to ride to the dance.

Science at Work With Fish, Birds

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A world census of shark attacks, a cruise to another ocean for a veteran sailing ship, and a hint that birds can tell time are subjects for science at work.

Dangerous Waters

In the last years, sharks made at least 30 attacks on humans—without provocation. Six persons, among the 31 hurt, were injured fatally. Four attacks on boats by sharks failed to injure anyone.

So reports the Shark Research Panel of the American Institute of Biological Sciences. It makes an annual census of shark attacks that can be authenticated.

Last year's attacks ranged from U.S. mainland coasts to Hawaii and other Pacific islands, to Bermuda, Australia, Africa, the Mediterranean and even 150 miles up the Limpopo River of East Africa.

As for people who tried to hunt, trap or chase sharks, they provoked at least nine shark attacks. Ten persons were injured, but none fatally.

Another Ocean

The Columbia University research vessel Vema is sailing into another ocean. It is one of some 40 research craft peering into the unknown depths of the Indian Ocean.

The Vema's new purview covers some 28 million square miles — about 14 per cent of the earth's surface. Little is known of the earth's bottom surface and its history.

On an earlier voyage, the Vema discovered that the Indian Ocean connected south of Africa with a 4,500-mile crack in the earth's crust, a crack that follows an earthquake zone extending the entire length of the Atlantic Ocean.

School Official Changes Plea in Fund Shortage

LOCKPORT, N. Y. (AP) — A man charged with first-degree grand larceny for allegedly embezzling $4,691 from a school district while serving as its treasurer has changed his plea from innocent to guilty.

William H. Sargent, 43, pleaded guilty Tuesday before Niagara County Judge Frank H. Kronenberg. Sargent had pleaded innocent when indicted last month by a county grand jury.

He was suspended as treasurer of the Niagara-Wheatfield Central School District by the school board last Jan. 8 after a state audit revealed a $4,691 shortage in the district's deposited funds.

Boy, 14, Drowns

DUNKIRK, N. Y. (AP) — Carl Puglisi, 14, of Dunkirk, drowned Tuesday while swimming in Lake Erie at a beach in this Chautauqua County city.

Huguenot Historical Group Given Ratterman Paintings

A collection of 19 oil paintings done by her late brother, Walter G. Ratterman (1887-1944) has been presented to the Huguenot Historical Society of New Paltz by his sister, Mrs. Frederick P. Platt of Ratterman Road in Woodstock.

The group of family portraits covers work by artist Ratterman over a period of 50 years. The earliest work done in 1911 is a portrait of Mrs. Platt's father.

Kenneth E. Hasbrouck, president of the historical society, accepted the collection of paintings today in behalf of the society and its directors. Also included was a generous check from Mrs. Platt for the preservation and mainteiance of the paintings.

Mrs. Platt also announced two other grants that will liquidate the entire family collection which she inherited upon the death of her brother in 1944.

Four oil paintings will be donated the University of Illinois and placed in the Ratterman collection in the library of the university. The university in 1916 purchased the 8,000 volumes in the private library collection of the late Henry Armin Ratterman.

A portrait of George Arliss, the great English actor as he appeared in his role of Disraeli, will be donated to the theatre collection of the New York Public Library by Mrs. Platt.

In 1959, Mrs. Platt announced the sale of more than 200 oil paintings, portraits and other art work in the private collection of her late brother to a prominent New York collector.

Retired in 1934

Owing to ill health, the Woodstock artist retired from his art activities in 1934 and died in August, 1944. He is buried in the family plot in Woodstock Cemetery.

Ratterman was born in Cinninati, Ohio in 1887, only son of Annabelle Boyce and George Brinton Ratterman. His sisters were the late Florence Boyce and Pearl Margaret Ratterman; also Mrs. Frederick P. Platt, nee Dorothy Lillian Ratterman of Woodstock.

He purchased the Neil Reber Studio in July, 1925, on a right of way leading from Route 374 west to his studio which became recognized as Ratterman Road. In 1949, the Woodstock town board took this road over and in 1951 the board officially named it Ratterman Road in his memory in a resolution dated Oct. 16, 1951.

Ratterman studied at the Art Student's League and studied anatomy under Judson Smith of Woodstock. His free lancing covered the field of commercial art, illustrating, portraiture and fine art. The demand for his illustrations established him as one of the important illustrators of his day.

The liquidation of the family collection by Mrs. Platt also coincides with her departure from the imposing family residence on Ratterman Road. The residence was built in 1917 and purchased by Ratterman in 1925. He named it Pinecliff. It was enlarged and refurbished by Frederick Putnam Platt in 1947.

Mrs. Platt will vacate the premises on July 3 and it will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Munson of Kingston, who recently purchased it. Mrs. Platt will spend her summers in Woodstock and winters in Clearwater, Fla. For the remainder of this summer she will occupy a cottage behind the Woodstock Reformed Church.

Board Creates New Health Post At Onteora CS

Hazel Osborne has been appointed health corodinator for the Onteora Central Schools District at a supplemental salary of $500.

Favorable action creating the post was taken at the June 18 meeting of the Onteora Board of Education, after it was again recommended by District Principal Dr. George R. Sullivan.

Following discussion of a motion by Trustee Marie Kleine to create the post, Trustee H. Chase Page moved that the motion be amended to read "at a supplemental salary of $300." Trustee Allen seconded the move to amend.

On the vote, Trustees Allen, Page and G. Alfred Nussbaum were in favor of the amendment. Trustees Cruthers, Gordon, Greene, Kleine, Knight and Larys objected to the amendment. The amendment was declared defeated. President Gordon then declared the original motion carried.

Trustee Cruthers suggested that the school nurse-teachers wear uniforms while on duty, as not only would this practice be more practical, but would lend dignity to the job.

Upon the recommendation of the district principal, Trustee Page moved that the request of Mrs. Marjorie Black be approved as a part time senior stenographer for the school year 1962-63 prorated at 3/5 of approved annual salary; and to work additional hours as needed for peak loads to be paid at the same rate of pay, $1.94 per hour. Trustees Gordon, Cruthers, Greene, Kleine, Knight, Larys, Page and Nussbaum voted in favor. Trustee Allen voted no.

Clerical Appointments

The following clerical staff appointments were approved: Gertrude Barringer, stenographer, $3050; Joyce Bresadola, typist, $2920. Custodial staff appointments effective July 1 were Aldo Valentini custodian driver, $3400; Dallas Jackson, night custodian, $3300. Following the appointments, Trustee Knight requested that a "Table of Organization" chart be prepared for the 1962-63 school year.

George Feathers and Don Policastro of the Pine Hill-Kingston Bus Corp. were approved as bus drivers for the remainder of the year. James Short was approved as part time driver for district owned bus for the 1962-63 school year at pay rate of $1.63 per hour.

Three faculty appointments were made subject to fulfillment of certain stipulations: Ann Mayer, elementary, $5900; Katy Stowe, elementary music, $6100 on a part-time basis at 1200, one fifth of basic salary, and Glenda Hess, permanent substitute, secondary, $5300.

Upon recommendation of the district principal and a request from the music department, the board voted to transfer $347,03 of internal funds from the Scholarship Account to the Music Account to enable six students to attend the University of Vermont for four weeks intensive study.

Onteora Cited For Excellence In Physical Ed

The Onteora Central Schools and Andrew Shekitka, a physical education instructor, have been cited by the Amateur Athletic Union for their contribution "to the physical improvement of the people of our nation" by preparing participants for and conducting the Amateur Athletic Union Physical Fitness Tests.

Shekitka reported that total of 214 boys and girls in the Woodstock and West Hurley schools received the AAU Award. This award certifies that the youngster has "attained the physical fitness and proficiency standards" prescribed for track and field and therefore entitled to the award.

In contrast to the popular opinion of many people, Shekitka believes that our youngsters are not so physically unfit as some might have us believe. He asks: Can we, as adults, duplicate the high scores of these elementary students in the following events?

Sit-ups, 160; pull-ups, 13; standing broad jump, 6 feet, 3 inches; running high jump, 3 ft., 3½ inches; 40-yard dash, 6.6 seconds; 50 yard dash, 7.3 seconds; 60-yard dash, 8.9 seconds; quarter mile walk and run 1 minute, 48 seconds; half mile walk and run 3 minutes, 40 seconds; half mile walk and run 3 minutes, 40 seconds; three-quarter mile walk and run, 6 minutes, 3 seconds.

The announcement of the citation was made by Walter S. Van Wagenen, elementary principal of the Woodstock and West Hurley schools, who noted that this was the eighth consecutive year that Onteora has received this award.

Lutheran School Goes on Vacation Starting July 8

The classes of the Church School of Christ Lutheran Church will be suspended during the last four weeks of July, beginning July 8. They will resume following the completion of staff vacations on Sunday, Aug. 5. On Saturday, Aug. 4, the church school picnic will be held at the Mt. Tremper Lutheran Camp. Further details on the picnic will be forthcoming shortly.

Pastor Krapf announced that Mr. Donald Koeller, a member of the staff of the Mt. Tremper Lutheran Camp, will supply the pulpit of Christ Lutheran during his vacation in the month of August. Mr. Koeller is a graduate of Concordia Teachers College, River Forest, Ill., and received his Master's degree in Religious Education from Columbia University. Presently, he is the principal of the Lutheran Parochial School of the Wollaston Lutheran Church, (Missouri Synod) in Boston, where in addition to his duties as principal, he is engaged in a preaching and teaching ministry. His presence in the pulpit of Christ Lutheran is a manifestation of the ever-increasing convergence of Lutheran bodies in America.

This Sunday, the Sacrament of Holy Communion will be celebrated at Christ Lutheran. In addition, Robin Ericksen, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ericksen of Baltimore, Md., will be received into the Christian church through the Sacrament of Holy Baptism. Sponsors will be Mr. and Mrs. William Rosenthal of Babylon, L. I. Robin is a niece to Pastor Krapf.

Crafts Classes Open at Guild

The Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen has announced that under its Adult Education program two new classes in the crafts will begin on July 3. As usual, the Guild is fortunate in having two highly skilled and experienced teachers in Joan Pond and Iona Plath Alan.

Mrs. Pond will teach enameling on metal, an ever-popular subject. Home from Florida for the summer, she will instruct both beginners and advanced pupils in design and execution in this fascinating medium. A teacher of long standing, her name is synonymous with the crafts of Woodstock.

Mrs. Alan, a textile designer, industrial weaver and consultant for many years in New York, also happily here for the summer, has a rich background that covers fashion weaving in tweeds and custom weaving to the trade through decorators in upholsteries, casements, wall hangings, rugs and decorative accessories. She is also author of "Decorative Arts of Sweden," and while doing research for the book studied weaving in Stockholm. Her class will include beginners and advanced pupils, also.

A registration fee is charged for each class of ten three-hour lessons, and students pay for their working materials. For further information as to days, hours, etc., please call or see Mrs. Wangler, Guild Shop manager.

Parnassus Group Extends Plans

The newly formed Parnassus Square Creative Theatre of Woodstock has decided to devote their summer activities to "never-done-before" plays.

As the result of the large response from aspiring playwrights to the announcement last week of the establishment of this theatre group, the officers of the group have planned to concentrate their initial season on first plays by unknown playwrights, some of which will be read and discussed at private meetings and some will be performed and discussed publicly.

Another project of the Parnassus theatre is children's classes in Creative Dramatics.

Town Notes

David K. Hyatt, Woodstock painting contractor, has begun the job of painting the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen building, along with the Guild Cinema building on Tinker Street.

The Gordon Wing family have moved from their home on Brook Avenue to their newly purchased home on Pine Grove Street.

Christian Guild Sets Smorgasbord Supper

The Guild for Christian Service of the Woodstock Reformed Church will sponsor a smorgasbord supper on Tuesday, July 3, in the basement of the church.

There will be a variety of excellent food. Serving starts at 5:30 p. m.

Second Drawing For Blood Bank

The second drawing for the Woodstock Blood Bank will be held on Thursday, June 28, at St. Gregory's Church hall between 5:30 p. m. and 8:30 p. m.

Supper will be served to all blood donors. A total of 35 donors reported for the first drawing in April. The Blood Bank committee would be grateful to all eligible persons volunteering to donate blood.

Huguenot Historical Group Given Ratterman Paintings

A collection of 19 oil paintings done by her late brother, Walter G. Ratterman (1887-1944) has been presented to the Huguenot Historical Society of New Paltz by his sister, Mrs. Frederick P. Platt of Ratterman Road in Woodstock.

The group of family portraits covers work by artist Ratterman over a period of 50 years. The earliest work done in 1911 is a portrait of Mrs. Platt's father.

Kenneth E. Hasbrouck, president of the historical society, accepted the collection of paintings today in behalf of the society and its directors. Also included was a generous check from Mrs. Platt for the preservation and mainteiance of the paintings.

Mrs. Platt also announced two other grants that will liquidate the entire family collection which she inherited upon the death of her brother in 1944.

Four oil paintings will be donated the University of Illinois and placed in the Ratterman collection in the library of the university. The university in 1916 purchased the 8,000 volumes in the private library collection of the late Henry Armin Ratterman.

A portrait of George Arliss, the great English actor as he appeared in his role of Disraeli, will be donated to the theatre collection of the New York Public Library by Mrs. Platt.

In 1959, Mrs. Platt announced the sale of more than 200 oil paintings, portraits and other art work in the private collection of her late brother to a prominent New York collector.

Retired in 1934

Owing to ill health, the Woodstock artist retired from his art activities in 1934 and died in August, 1944. He is buried in the family plot in Woodstock Cemetery.

Ratterman was born in Cininnati, Ohio in 1887, only son of Annabelle Boyce and George Brinton Ratterman. His sisters were the late Florence Boyce and Pearl Margaret Ratterman; also Mrs. Frederick P. Platt, nee Dorothy Lillian Ratterman of Woodstock.

He purchased the Neil Reber Studio in July, 1925, on a right of way leading from Route 374 west to his studio which became recognized as Ratterman Road. In 1949, the Woodstock town board took this road over and in 1951 the board officially named it Ratterman Road in his memory in a resolution dated Oct. 16, 1951.

Ratterman studied at the Art Student's League and studied anatomy under Judson Smith of Woodstock. His free lancing covered the field of commercial art, illustrating, portraiture and fine art. The demand for his illustrations established him as one of the important illustrators of his day.

The liquidation of the family collection by Mrs. Platt also coincides with her departure from the imposing family residence on Ratterman Road. The residence was built in 1917 and purchased by Ratterman in 1925. He named it Pinecliff. It was enlarged and refurbished by Frederick Putnam Platt in 1947.

Mrs. Platt will vacate the premises on July 3 and it will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Munson of Kingston, who recently purchased it. Mrs. Platt will spend her summers in Woodstock and winters in Clearwater, Fla. For the remainder of this summer she will occupy a cottage behind the Woodstock Reformed Church.

Board Creates New Health Post At Onteora CS

Hazel Osborne has been appointed health corodinator for the Onteora Central Schools District at a supplemental salary of $500.

Favorable action creating the post was taken at the June 18 meeting of the Onteora Board of Education, after it was again recommended by District Principal Dr. George R. Sullivan.

Following discussion of a motion by Trustee Marie Kleine to create the post, Trustee H. Chase Page moved that the motion be amended to read "at a supplemental salary of $300." Trustee Allen seconded the move to amend.

On the vote, Trustees Allen, Page and G. Alfred Nussbaum were in favor of the amendment. Trustees Cruthers, Gordon, Greene, Kleine, Knight and Larys objected to the amendment. The amendment was declared defeated. President Gordon then declared the original motion carried.

Trustee Cruthers suggested that the school nurse-teachers wear uniforms while on duty, as not only would this practice be more practical, but would lend dignity to the job.

Upon the recommendation of the district principal, Trustee Page moved that the request of Mrs. Marjorie Black be approved as a part time senior stenographer for the school year 1962-63 prorated at 3/5 of approved annual salary; and to work additional hours as needed for peak loads to be paid at the same rate of pay, $1.94 per hour. Trustees Gordon, Cruthers, Greene, Kleine, Knight, Larys, Page and Nussbaum voted in favor. Trustee Allen voted no.

Clerical Appointments

The following clerical staff appointments were approved: Gertrude Barringer, stenographer, $3050; Joyce Bresadola, typist, $2920. Custodial staff appointments effective July 1 were Aldo Valentini custodian driver, $3400; Dallas Jackson, night custodian, $3300. Following the appointments, Trustee Knight requested that a "Table of Organization" chart be prepared for the 1962-63 school year.

George Feathers and Don Policastro of the Pine Hill-Kingston Bus Corp. were approved as bus drivers for the remainder of the year. James Short was approved as part time driver for district owned bus for the 1962-63 school year at pay rate of $1.63 per hour.

Three faculty appointments were made subject to fulfillment of certain stipulations: Ann Mayer, elementary, $5900; Katy Stowe, elementary music, $6100 on a part-time basis at 1200, one fifth of basic salary, and Glenda Hess, permanent substitute, secondary, $5300.

Upon recommendation of the district principal and a request from the music department, the board voted to transfer $347.03 of internal funds from the Scholarship Account to the Music Account to enable six students to attend the University of Vermont for four weeks intensive study.

Onteora Cited For Excellence In Physical Ed

The Onteora Central Schools and Andrew Shekitka, a physical education instructor, have been cited by the Amateur Athletic Union for their contribution "to the physical improvement of the people of our nation" by preparing participants for and conducting the Amateur Athletic Union Physical Fitness Tests.

Shekitka reported that total of 214 boys and girls in the Woodstock and West Hurley schools received the AAU Award. This award certifies that the youngster has "attained the physical fitness and proficiency standards" prescribed for track and field and therefore entitled to the award.

In contrast to the popular opinion of many people, Shekitka believes that our youngsters are not so physically unfit as some might have us believe. He asks: Can we, as adults, duplicate the high scores of these elementary students in the following events?

Sit-ups, 160; pull-ups, 13; standing broad jump, 6 feet, 3 inches; running high jump, 3 ft., 3½ inches; 40-yard dash, 6.6 seconds; 50 yard dash, 7.3 seconds; 60-yard dash, 8.9 seconds; quarter mile walk and run 1 minute, 48 seconds; half mile walk and run 3 minutes, 40 seconds; half mile walk and run 3 minutes, 40 seconds; three-quarter mile walk and run, 6 minutes, 3 seconds.

The announcement of the citation was made by Walter S. Van Wagenen, elementary principal of the Woodstock and West Hurley schools, who noted that this was the eighth consecutive year that Onteora has received this award.

Lutheran School Goes on Vacation Starting July 8

The classes of the Church School of Christ Lutheran Church will be suspended during the last four weeks of July, beginning July 8. They will resume following the completion of staff vacations on Sunday, Aug. 5. On Saturday, Aug. 4, the church school picnic will be held at the Mt. Tremper Lutheran Camp. Further details on the picnic will be forthcoming shortly.

Pastor Krapf announced that Mr. Donald Koeller, a member of the staff of the Mt. Tremper Lutheran Camp, will supply the pulpit of Christ Lutheran during his vacation in the month of August. Mr. Koeller is a graduate of Concordia Teachers College, River Forest, Ill., and received his Master's degree in Religious Education from Columbia University. Presently, he is the principal of the Lutheran Parochial School of the Wollaston Lutheran Church, (Missouri Synod) in Boston, where in addition to his duties as principal, he is engaged in a preaching and teaching ministry. His presence in the pulpit of Christ Lutheran is a manifestation of the ever-increasing convergence of Lutheran bodies in America.

This Sunday, the Sacrament of Holy Communion will be celebrated at Christ Lutheran. In addition, Robin Ericksen, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ericksen of Baltimore, Md., will be received into the Christian church through the Sacrament of Holy Baptism. Sponsors will be Mr. and Mrs. William Rosenthal of Babylon, L. I. Robin is a niece to Pastor Krapf.

Crafts Classes Open at Guild

The Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen has announced that under its Adult Education program two new classes in the crafts will begin on July 3. As usual, the Guild is fortunate in having two highly skilled and experienced teachers in Joan Pond and Iona Plath Alan.

Mrs. Pond will teach enameling on metal, an ever-popular subject. Home from Florida for the summer, she will instruct both beginners and advanced pupils in design and execution in this fascinating medium. A teacher of long standing, her name is synonymous with the crafts of Woodstock.

Mrs. Alan, a textile designer, industrial weaver and consultant for many years in New York, also happily here for the summer, has a rich background that covers fashion weaving in tweeds and custom weaving to the trade through decorators in upholsteries, casements, wall hangings, rugs and decorative accessories. She is also author of "Decorative Arts of Sweden," and while doing research for the book studied weaving in Stockholm. Her class will include beginners and advanced pupils, also.

A registration fee is charged for each class of ten three-hour lessons, and students pay for their working materials. For further information as to days, hours, etc., please call or see Mrs. Wangler, Guild Shop manager.

Parnassus Group Extends Plans

The newly formed Parnassus Square Creative Theatre of Woodstock has decided to devote their summer activities to "never-done-before" plays.

As the result of the large response from aspiring playwrights to the announcement last week of the establishment of this theatre group, the officers of the group have planned to concentrate their initial season on first plays by unknown playwrights, some of which will be read and discussed at private meetings and some will be performed and discussed publicly.

Another project of the Parnassus theatre is children's classes in Creative Dramatics.

Town Notes

David K. Hyatt, Woodstock painting contractor, has begun the job of painting the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen building, along with the Guild Cinema building on Tinker Street.

The Gordon Wing family have moved from their home on Brook Avenue to their newly purchased home on Pine Grove Street.

INTRODUCING A MARRIED SISTER

Q—My brother introduced me to a business associate of his the other day, as follows: "Mr. Smith, may I introduce you to my sister." I am married and have a different name from that of my brother. I think his introduction was inadequate and that he should have mentioned that my name is Mrs. Jones. He says that it is in bad taste to introduce a member of one's family as Mrs. or Miss. Which one of us is right?

A—If you were unmarried, he would be right. But since you are married and have a different name, you are right. To say "my sister" would naturally be taken for granted that your name is the same as his. He should have said, "my sister (pause, and then add) Mrs. Jones."

When Single Guest Is Late

Q—You have always said that a hostess is not expected to wait more than 15 minutes for a late dinner guest and that it was unfair to expect the other guests to wait for one delinquent one. Does this same rule apply when the late arrival is the only guest? Would it be rude for the family to begin eating before their guest has arrived?

A—If the family is a large one with several hungry children coming to the table, the same rule would apply and the late arrival need not be waited for. A husband and wife, however, with no other family would be very rude if they began to eat before the arrival of their guest.

Lonely Newcomers

Q—Because of my husband's job we moved into a completely strange city about five months ago. Since that time not one of my neighbors has been over to visit me. I am terribly lonesome as we are several hundred miles from home and I don't know a soul here. Would it be improper for me to take the initiative and go and visit some of the neighbors?

A—It will really not be proper for you to visit these neighbors until they have called on you, or asked you to come to see them. You might get to know them by joining the church, working for charities or by taking part in other activities in which they are interested.

INTRODUCING A MARRIED SISTER

Q—My brother introduced me to a business associate of his the other day, as follows: "Mr. Smith, may I introduce you to my sister." I am married and have a different name from that of my brother. I think his introduction was inadequate and that he should have mentioned that my name is Mrs. Jones. He says that it is in bad taste to introduce a member of one's family as Mrs. or Miss. Which one of us is right?

A—If you were unmarried, he would be right. But since you are married and have a different name, you are right. To say "my sister" would naturally be taken for granted that your name is the same as his. He should have said, "my sister (pause, and then add) Mrs. Jones."

When Single Guest Is Late

Q—You have always said that a hostess is not expected to wait more than 15 minutes for a late dinner guest and that it was unfair to expect the other guests to wait for one delinquent one. Does this same rule apply when the late arrival is the only guest? Would it be rude for the family to begin eating before their guest has arrived?

A—If the family is a large one with several hungry children coming to the table, the same rule would apply and the late arrival need not be waited for. A husband and wife, however, with no other family would be very rude if they began to eat before the arrival of their guest.

Lonely Newcomers

Q—Because of my husband's job we moved into a completely strange city about five months ago. Since that time not one of my neighbors has been over to visit me. I am terribly lonesome as we are several hundred miles from home and I don't know a soul here. Would it be improper for me to take the initiative and go and visit some of the neighbors?

A—It will really not be proper for you to visit these neighbors until they have called on you, or asked you to come to see them. You might get to know them by joining the church, working for charities or by taking part in other activities in which they are interested.

Her other attendants were the Misses Elizabeth and Edith Little and the Misses Jennifer, Nina, and Laura Schultz. The best man was Robert M. Updike, cousin of the bridegroom.

Miss Patterson was graduated from the New Lincoln School, and was a student at Mills College of Education and Bard College at Annandale-on-Hudson, N. Y., where she was active in the drama department for the past two years.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Trinity School of New York and of Colgate University, is employed with the Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association. He is the son of Mrs. Harold W. Updike of Jackson Heights, N. Y., and the late Mr. Updike, a vice president of the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York.

After the ceremony, a reception took place at The Angelus, in Byrdcliffe, Woodstock, summer home of the bride's parents.

The couple will make their home in the Osborne apartments in New York, upon their return from a Bermuda honeymoon.

Summer Theatres

Phoenicia Playhouse

By DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

Jane Cronin and Edward Zang who opened the season at Phoenicia Playhouse yesterday in the Jan de Hartog comedy, THE FOURPOSTER, did a remarkably fine job. They gave smooth, fluid performances and their "aging" qualities deserve only laudits.

The youthful stars achieved maximum success in holding the attention of their audience. Their performances were particularly commendable since they alone formed the cast of this highly amusing Broadway play.

In the audience for opening night were Senator G. Ogden Bush and Assemblyman Kenneth Wilson. Also the internationally well known folklorist, Sam Eskin.

THE FOURPOSTER was directed by Jordan Hott, an alumnus of Brooklyn College. Hott has a BA in English literature. Mr. Hott has directed plays in Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York City and several summer theatres in Massachusetts.

The interesting settings and lighting were done by Gary Zeller. Also assisting with the production were Andy Rasbury, stage manager; Robert Stephan, technical director; Ruth Friedman, assistant scenic designer; Virgil Doyle, costumes; and Lonnie Modica, Peggy Crain, Walter McGinn, technical assistants.

Jane Cronin, as Agnes in the play, has appeared in productions throughout New England and the Adirondacks. Off-Broadway she appeared in "The Lesson" and she, too, has been previously directed by Jodan Hott at his Charles Street Theatre in Boston. She appeared there as Estelle in the record run Boston production of "No Exit" by Sartre and was unanimously acclaimed for her performance.

Zang, who very capably portrayed the husband Michael in the play, has appeared at the Phoenix Theatre as Osric in "Hamlet" and the Call-Boy in "Androcles." He was a member of the acting company of the Charles Street Theatre of Boston, where he appeared in the "Crucible" and "The Ice Man Cometh," among other shows. His summer stock credits include appearances at Nantucket, Mass., and Martha's Vineyard, both resident companies.

THE FOURPOSTER will continue on stage through July 1. Curtain at 8:40. On July 3 J. Rosenblatt and J. Hott will present another Broadway hit, A TASTE OF HONEY.

Handmade Violin By William Oskay WinsNationalAward

A handmade violin and a viola made by William Oskay, violin maker of 168 Doris Street, Port Ewen, received high awards in a national violin making contest held in the Arts Building at Arizona State University, Tempe, Ariz., on June 10.

The violin, an Amati model, finished in a beautiful red brown varnish, received a first prize with 97½ points on the judging. The judge remarked that the violin was truly a concert instrument.

The viola, styled like a Stradivarius model, received 97 points on tone for first place and also a grand award for tone, varnish, and workmanship.

The contest is sponsored by the Violin and Guitar makers Association of Arizona. It is the only national contest of its kind. Violinmakers from 20 states were represented, many of them professionals who have been making violins and other string instruments for years. The association, of which Mr. Oskay is a member, publishes a journal once a month to promote better craftsmanship and exchange ideas between members, some of whom live in Scotland, England, Norway, and Italy.

The instruments were judged by Professor Miles Dreskell, head of the string section of the Arizona State Symphony. He remarked that the instruments of modern makers are improving all the time and that the instruments judged were the finest assembled to date.

Robert Wallace Sr., the president of the association, is well known all over the world for making inlayed violins. He wrote "we are proud of you and all the other young makers who choose to follow this art and keep it alive."

Mr. Oskay is also an industrial arts instructor in the Kingston High School. He does violinmaking and repair work at his home in his spare time. The awards received were certificates and a silver trophy.

Two More Judges Are Made Known For N.Y. Pageant

Two more judges were named today for the Miss New York State pageant to be held in Kingston July 5, 6 and 7.

Newest additions to the panel include Mrs. Helen Nimmo, wife of Bill Nimmo, who will return as master of ceremonies and Mrs. Vera Ruthforth Irwin, associate professor of drama at State University College, New Paltz.

21 Girls to Compete

Others previously announced by George Moore, president of the pageant's board of directors, include Curtis H. Bauer, president of the New York State Junior Chamber of Commerce; James F. Adams, lacrosse coach at West Point and Claude Monteux, musical director and conductor of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra.

Twenty-one contestants from all sections of the state will vie for the Miss New York State title during the local three-day pageant.

Has Done TV Shows

Mrs. Nimmo lives with her family on a 300-acre farm in Ancramdale. Helen Gillette, as she as known in the theatre, did a popular TV comedy commercial for two and a half years. She was awarded the "Most Popular and talented actress in her role, Annie the Waitress," Her previous career included comedy and dramatic roles including dancing. Some films are still being shown in the "Man Against Crime" series. On radio during the 40's her voice was heard on soap operas as Big Sister, Pepper Young, Thin Man and Armstrong Theater. A year in the Pacific, Japan and Korea as a master of ceremonies interrupted her legitimate theatre career, which started with George Abbott shows, Brother Rat, What a Life and the London Company of Room Service before the war. Her last appearance in legit was the nurse in "Harvey" being the second time to appear with Joe E. Brown. Aside from this she studied painting, sculpture, worked for art galleries, taught make-up and was a photographic model.

Mrs. Irwin is director of the New Paltz College Theatre Program. She is faculty advisor for Delta Psi Omega, honorary dramatic fraternity, and the New Paltz Players, the Campus theatre group. She holds the Bachelor of Science and Master of Arts degrees from New York University of Colorado. She has also worked with Margaret Webster in theatre productions at Woodstock.

At Paltz Since '47

A member of the New Paltz faculty since 1947, Mrs. Irwin has also had considerable other professional dramatics experience. She has done directing work with the Croton Community Players, the Highland Summer Theatre and various high school and college dramatics groups. In addition, she has worked extensively with children's theatre productions.

During the 1955-1956 school year, Mrs. Irwin accepted a Ford Fellowship in "Theatre in America" for the purpose of studying contemporary drama and theatre in the professional and academic fields in America. During the year she studied at Yale University, the University of Southern California, University of California at Los Angeles, Stanford University, the University of Arizona and in Professional Theatre in New York City. She has recently been awarded a scholarship for '62-'63 session of the Institute of Advanced Studies in the Theatre arts.

The pageant, the fourth to be held in Kingston, will be at the municipal auditorium on Broadway.

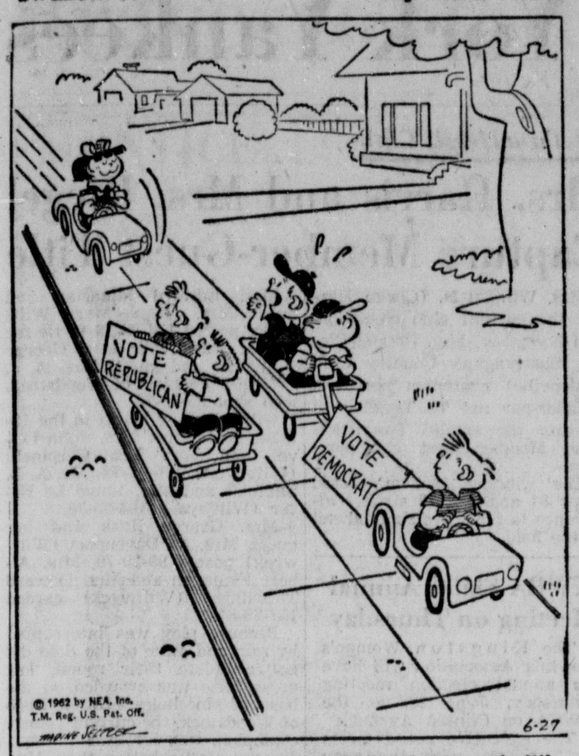
SWEETIE PIE By Nadine Seltzer



"Look out! Here comes a 'middle-of-the-roader'!"

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

At the present time I cannot seem to keep up to my mail, so I hope the readers will forgive me if I am a little slow in reaching their particular item. One interesting letter is from Mrs. Gilbert(Margaret Hasbrouck) Elliott now of New York City. She writes that she graduated from Kingston High School in 1921.

The other item is about John Burroughs and Elizabeth Burroughs, who is now Mrs. Kelley and both of these ladies graduated from KHS in 1921 and are in that Maroon Yearbook which I have before me now. Mrs. Kelly also did much of the art work in the 1921 Maroon. Will quote from above items real soon.

In my time they had story contests which latter were published in the Maroon but I just never had a chance to read them, but articles of facts of those days such as "Our Building" is interesting to me even today. I do not know who wrote it, no doubt a member of the Maroon staff.

Being this is the month of June and graduation I will quote in part from this article:

"Do we, the students of Kingston High School and the citizens of Kingston, fully realize what a beautiful structure our school building is? Six years ago last September, (this is from 1921 Maroon) the doors of the Kingston High School were opened for the first time to a group of some 800 students from both Kingston and Ulster Academies. Every part of the building was new and bright, fresh from the hands of the makers. We, the outgoing Senior Class, trust that in years to come this building will receive the same scrupulous care that it has in the past six years, as a testimony of the respect of KHS students for property entrusted to their care and devoted to their service."

An item on the water running down Spring Street hill the other day brought more response than I expected. At this writing the water is still bubbling merrily out of the ground, near the Orpheum on Spring Street and fans in all directions, being spattered by the cars and carefully avoided, if possible by those who have to cross the street on foot. I have seen members of the Kingston City workers trying to find or stem or reroute the water, and so far they have used dyes placed in homes nearby and have tested the water coming out, and think it is the old fresh spring water come to life and wildly having a time for itself.

The Orpheum building, once known as the Liscomb Opera house is also being repaired at that same location.

I am just wondering, if the fresh spring water could be turned to use. If the Orpheum building lot could be made into a large swimming pool, using fresh spring water, which is there in quantity, no doubt it would be enjoyed by residents and visitors.

Years ago we had a small pool over the viaduct. Now when swimming pools are so popular and those who have room and can afford it have it in their backyard, yet Kingston, such a tremendous municipality with such modern ideas does not have one. At least it would bring in an income, and if the springs could be used, water would be free.

In my day we went swimming at Kingston Point Beach when we had high tide only.

We could go to Greenkill Park, if we knew the owners. During Schmelling's time many went swimming for free and watched him train. Mrs. Sam (Helen) Mann and myself often went that summer. We had the lakes around here, and there was Tucker's Beach in Port Ewen and off the dock.

I remember all the Tucker youngsters were marvelous swimmers. I walked down that hill and back, no doubt close to a mile each way with Mrs. Ralph Bradford and her daughter, Norma.

"Look out! Here comes a 'middle-of-the-roader'!"

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

At the present time I cannot seem to keep up to my mail, so I hope the readers will forgive me if I am a little slow in reaching their particular item. One interesting letter is from Mrs. Gilbert(Margaret Hasbrouck) Elliott now of New York City. She writes that she graduated from Kingston High School in 1921.

The other item is about John Burroughs , and Elizabeth Burroughs, who is now Mrs. Kelley and both of these ladies graduated from KHS in 1921 and are in that Maroon Yearbook which I have before me now. Mrs. Kelly also did much of the art work in the 1921 Maroon. Will quote from above items real soon.

In my time they had story contests which latter were published in the Maroon but I just never had a chance to read them, but articles of facts of those days such as "Our Building" is interesting to me even today. I do not know who wrote it, no doubt a member of the Maroon staff.

Being this is the month of June and graduation I will quote in part from this article:

"Do we, the students of Kingston High School and the citizens of Kingston, fully realize what a beautiful structure our school building is? Six years ago last September, (this is from 1921 Maroon) the doors of the Kingston High School were opened for the first time to a group of some 800 students from both Kingston and Ulster Academies. Every part of the building was new and bright, fresh from the hands of the makers. We, the outgoing Senior Class, trust that in years to come this building will receive the same scrupulous care that it has in the past six years, as a testimony of the respect of KHS students for property entrusted to their care and devoted to their service."

An item on the water running down Spring Street hill the other day brought more response than I expected. At this writing the water is still bubbling merrily out of the ground, near the Orpheum on Spring Street and fans in all directions, being spattered by the cars and carefully avoided, if possible by those who have to cross the street on foot. I have seen members of the Kingston City workers trying to find or stem or reroute the water, and so far they have used dyes placed in homes nearby and have tested the water coming out, and think it is the old fresh spring water come to life and wildly having a time for itself.

The Orpheum building, once known as the Liscomb Opera house is also being repaired at that same location.

I am just wondering, if the fresh spring water could be turned to use. If the Orpheum building lot could be made into a large swimming pool, using fresh spring water, which is there in quantity, no doubt it would be enjoyed by residents and visitors.

Years ago we had a small pool over the viaduct. Now when swimming pools are so popular and those who have room and can afford it have it in their backyard, yet Kingston, such a tremendous municipality with such modern ideas does not have one. At least it would bring in an income, and if the springs could be used, water would be free.

In my day we went swimming at Kingston Point Beach when we had high tide only.

We could go to Greenkill Park, if we knew the owners. During Schmelling's time many went swimming for free and watched him train. Mrs. Sam (Helen) Mann and myself often went that summer. We had the lakes around here, and there was Tucker's Beach in Port Ewen and off the dock.

I remember all the Tucker youngsters were marvelous swimmers. I walked down that hill and back, no doubt close to a mile each way with Mrs. Ralph Bradford and her daughter, Norma.

Mike Ferraro Signs Bonus Contract With New York Yankees

Local Star Will Report to Fort Lauderdale Team

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Mike Ferraro, one of the top athletes in recent years at Kingston High School, signed a bonus contract this morning with the New York Yankees. Figures were not disclosed, but it's believed that the bonus itself will exceed $8,000 and will also include a college education for Ferraro and a guarantee of $500 a month minimum for playing ball in the Yankee organization.

The contract was signed early this morning. Al Todd, assistant to Yankee scout Bill Skiff, represented the American League club. Since Ferraro is under the legal age of 21, he was represented by Peter Ferraro, his father. The signing took place the day after Ferraro was graduated from Kingston High School.

MIKE FERRARO

Other Clubs Interested

In addition to the Yankees, the Boston Red Sox, Chicago Cubs, New York Mets and St. Louis Cardinals had expressed an interest in Ferraro, who climaxed a brilliant career by being named "Player of the Year" in both basketball and baseball in the DUSO League.

Coach Al Gruner, who had Ferraro on the varsity baseball team remarked, "From the Little League on up, Mike has improved his play and also his attitude. He made himself a ballplayer step by step and his last year in high school was just amazing. He proved he was both a ballplayer and a student of the game and if he continues to improve, he should make greater strides."

Hit More Than .500

Ferraro batted over .500 in league play this year and he drew much praise from opposing coaches. George Balcanoff of Newburgh Free Academy, labeled Ferraro as one of the best prospects he's seen in several years.

During his four years at Kingston High, Ferraro played basketball and baseball. He was selected to the All-DUSO team in both sports for two seasons. He also played football in his senior year, starting as a fullback.

Mike will report to Steve Souchouck at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in a few days. It's believed he will play in the Class D League with Fort Lauderdale and will then report to the Yankees Minor League camp next year.

Ferraro is the second Kingston resident to sign a bonus baseball contract. Clark Mains of Port Ewen signed with the New York Giants several years ago and won 20 games in a Class D League. However, arm trouble halted his progress. Ferraro, who last year helped hurl the Kingston American Legion team to the semi-finals of the state tournament, was signed by the Yankees as an infielder.

New Football Rules Preview For All-America Bowl Game

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The 1962 Intercollegiate Football Rules, plus an experimental expansion of the "wild-card" substitution rule, will be in effect for the second annual All-America Bowl game here Friday night.

The American Football Coaches Association, a sponsor of the game, announced the game rules Tuesday.

The major change in the intercollegiate rules permits punts to be downed inside the 10-yard-line and the ball left at the spot where it was touched down. Under the old rules, balls punted inside the 10 were brought out to the 20.

The wild-card expansion will allow both teams' coaches to increase from one to two the number of players they can substitute after each play.

The coaches association said it is proposing the two-man substitution to the Collegiate Rules Committee and wants to see it in action.

The 60 players in the game, divided into squads representing East and West, completed two-a-day practice sessions Tuesday and will drill once daily for the rest of the week.

The teams, consisting of many of last season's top college football seniors, are both loaded with outstanding backs and linemen.

Nine 1961 All-Americas will be in the game. The East has halfback Ernie Davis of Syracuse, fullback Bob Ferguson of Ohio State, end Bill Miller of Miami, center Alex Kroll of Rutgers, guard Roy Winston of Louisiana State and tackle Billy Neighbors of Alabama.

On the West squad are quarterback Sandy Stephens of Minnesota, tackle Merlin Olsen of Utah State and halfback Jimmy Saxton of Texas.

Every player in the game except Navy's Greg Mather and Army's Al Rushatz have signed to play professionally this fall. Mather and Rushatz have service careers.

Woody Hayes of Ohio State is head coach of the East and Minnesota's Murray Warmath of the West. The West won last year, 30-20.

NBC will televise the game nationally, with Buffalo blacked out.

Dark Acting Like Mandrake; Earl Wilson Hurls No-Hitter

Moves Pay Off As Giants Beat Cincinnati, 6-5

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Al Dark's a genius.

Or so it seemed Tuesday night as events unfolded at San Francisco, where the Giants' manager came up with a series of maneuvers resulting in a 6-5, 10-inning victory over Cincinnati that sent the Giants back into first place in the National League pennant scramble.

Dark made his first move in the seventh inning when the Giants, trailing 4-0, loaded the bases with pitcher Jack Sanford due at bat. Dark looked down his bench for a pinch hitter and selected Ed Bailey, hitless in his last 17 trips to the plate.

Bailey hit a grand slam homer —the first by a pinch hitter this season.

Strategy Pays Off

In the 10th, Dark's pre-game strategy paid off as Willie McCovey, inserted in the line-up against right-hander Joey Jay, opened with a single. Going to his reserves again, Dark sent Felipe Alou in to run for McCovey.

Alou broke from first as Orlando Cepeda rifled a single to right center, daringly rounded third as Vada Pinson fired the ball into the infield and decided to try and go all the way. He beat Don Blasingame's relay sliding under the tag with the winning run.

The triumph pushed the Giants back on top for the first time since June 8, a half-game ahead of the Los Angeles Dodgers, who were limited to five hits by Lew Burdette in a 2-1 Milwaukee victory.

Third-place Pittsburgh whipped the New York Mets 5-2, fourth-place St. Louis walloped the Chicago Cubs 15-3 and Philadelphia defeated Houston twice, 2-0 on Jack Hamilton's two-hitter and 6-4.

After Bailey's grand slam tied it in the seventh, the Reds went back in front in the top of the eighth on a triple by Johnny Edwards and a single by pinch hitter Jerry Lynch. Edwards earlier had hit a two-run homer. In the last of the eighth, Jim Davenport again knotted the score with a homer and set it up for the 10th inning fireworks that gave Stu Miller (4-3) the victory and Dave Sisler (2-3) the loss.

Burdette, who lost his first four decisions, won his sixth in a row with his fourth complete game. He lost his shutout in the ninth on Maury Wills' single, Jim Gilliam's double and Tommy Davis' sacrifice fly. Singles by Del Crandall and Frank Bolling around a walk accounted for the first run off Dodger starter Sandy Koufax (10-4) in the second. The Braves pushed across what proved to be the clincher in the sixth when Hank Aaron reached base on Wills' error, moved to third on Lee Maye's single and came across on a sacrifice fly by Crandall.

Five Hits For Mets

Rookie Donn Clendenon and Don Hoak each knocked in two runs as the Pirates won their seventh in eight games with the Mets. Clendenon got his pair with a triple and homer. The Mets collected only five hits off Joe Gibbon, who left in the second with a jammed finger, and relievers Earl Francis (4-5) and Elroy Face. Willard Hunter (1-3) was the loser.

Four homers—by Gene Oliver, Billy White, Charley James and Ken Boyer—paced a 15-hit offensive that subdued the Cubs and enabled Ernie Broglio (3-3) to go the distance despite allowing 10 hits. The home runs by James and Boyer came in the eighth as the Cards exploded for their season high of nine runs. Dick Ellsworth (4-11) absorbed most of the punishment and the defeat.

Hamilton (5-5) got all the support he needed in the opener when the Phils scored a pair in the second on Clay Dalrymple's double, singles by Don Demeter and Frank Torre. A force out and a wild pitch by Colts' starter Dick Farrell (5-8). Art Mahaffey (9-8) stopped the Colts in the nightcap on seven hits, and drove in what proved to be the winning run with a single in a three-run fourth. Jim Golden (5-5) lost it.

Bosox Pitcher Beats Belinsky With Great Effort

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

With thunderbolt swiftness matching the speed of his blazing fastball, Earl Wilson has zoomed to glittering stardom from the ranks of baseball's lesser known performers.

Tuesday night at Boston's Fenway Park, the Red Sox right-hander pitched the second no-hitter of the American League season—a 2-0 triumph over the Los Angeles Angels. Ironically, his defeated opponent was the year's other no-hit pitcher, fun-loving southpaw Bo Belinsky, who rocketed to fame with his masterpiece over Baltimore May 5.

Wilson, a strong-armed ex-catcher from Ponchatoula, La., allowed four men to reach base on walks and struck out five as he "just threw as hard as I could all the way."

He also gave himself all the support he needed with his second home run of the year.

Is Highly Regarded

Although his record in seven previous seasons as a professional has been far from sensational, Wilson has been highly regarded as a potential star by the Red Sox brass. Now the tall, 220-pound Negro has shed the "potential."

Pitching also sparkled elsewhere in the league. Cleveland salvaged a one-game lead in the standings, beating Detroit 3-1 on a combined four-hitter by Bob Hartman and Gary Bell and Al Luplow's 12th-inning homer after being blanked on six hits by Jim Bunning in the opener of the doubleheader, 6-0. Camilo Pascual struck out 12 and Rich Rollins did some heavy slugging as runnerup Minnesota trimmed New York 5-0. Milt Pappas of Baltimore fired a four-hit, 1-0 victory over Chicago. Kansas City rookie Dan Pfister won his first in the big time, edging Washington 2-1 with a six-hit performance.

All told, just 21 runs in six games—and four shutouts.

Like Belinsky, Wilson was an unlikely candidate for pitching stardom at season's start. He had been unimpressive in two previous short stays with the Red Sox—in 1959 and 1960—and was no better than 9-14 with Seattle of the Pacific Coast League last year.

This season the strapping, 26-year-old Louisianan had failed to go the distance in nine starts, although he had done well enough to win five of seven decisions.

Los Angeles' only real threat of a hit came in the ninth when lead-off man Billy Moran lifted a pop fly to short left which Eddie Bressoud snared with a running, over-the-shoulder catch. Two Angels managed to reach second base after walks.

Belinsky allowed just three hits in his seven innings but all three cost him. Wilson slugged his homer in the third, then singles by Pete Runnels and Carroll Hardy after an error gave Boston its second run.

Good Beginning

Hartman made his first appearance for Cleveland since being brought up from the minors and held Detroit to three-hits—including a homer and single by Bubba Morton—through 10 innings, then Bell won it by allowing a harmless single over the last two. Sam Jones was the hard-luck loser, lasting until the 12th when he gave way to Ron Nischwitz after a single by Ty Cline. Luplow promptly broke the long-standing tie with his fourth hit of the game and fifth of the night—the two-run homer.

Bunning also had a duel with Pedro Ramos in the first game until the seventh, when Dick McAuliffe homered with one on for the second hit off the Indian right-hander. Rocky Colavito made it a Tiger rout with a grand slam against Ramos in the eighth. Bunning struck out 10.

Rollins, whose average had skidded from .360 to .328 with only three hits in his eight previous games, got rich against Yankee starter Roland Sheldon. The Minnesota third baseman smashed homers his first two trips, both times with Lenny Green on base, then had a single off Sheldon and another off Bob Turley.

Pascual, winning his 11th against four losses, spaced nine hits, walked none and was at his curveballing best when it counted. He struck out Roger Maris three times and pinch hitter Mickey Mantle with the bases filled and one out in the ninth. It was the 11th loss in their last 16 games for the Yankees, who are only two percentage points ahead of the fourth-place Angels.

Baltimore won it in the last of the ninth against the White Sox and John Buzhardt when John Powell's single and two bunts loaded the bases and Charley Lau's 30-foot dribbler went for a hit. Pappas, now 8-3, pitched his fourth straight complete game.

Pfister turned in a neat six-hitter and the lone Washington run was unearned. Manny Jimenez, the league's top batter at .346, drove in the A's deciding run with a third inning double off loser Tom Cheney.

Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Riegel Capture Member-Guest Title

Mrs. William D. (Chris) Harris, the current club champion, and her guest, Mrs. Roland Riegel, Shawangunk Country Club (Ellenville) champion posted a 1-under-par net 71 Tuesday to capture the annual Twaalfskill Club Member-Guest championship.

The winning tandem posted gross 84 and had 13 strokes allowance to finsh five shots ahead of the field.

Mrs. Edward Minasian and guest, Mrs. Joseph Marr, Wiltwyck, posted 104-28-76 to tie for second place with Mrs. George Schneider and guest, Mrs. A. J. (Wiggie) de Lisio of Woodstock, who shot 95-19-76.

Other leading teams in the 15-team field were: Mrs. John Olivet and Mrs. Bea Carpinelli (Wiltwyck), 110-32-78; Mr. A. B. Shufeldt and Mrs. Lloyd Le Fever (Wiltwyck) 103-25-78.

Mrs. George Rusk and her guest, Mrs. M. Davenport (Wiltwyck) posted 99-20-79. Mrs. Albert Flanagan and Mrs. Howard Terwilliger (Wiltwyck) carded 107-28-81.

Because play was interrupted by rain and some of the field did not complete their round, low gross prize was awarded on the basis of nine holes. Mrs. de Lisio of Woodstock, the current county champion, won low gross with a 39, one stroke better than Mrs. Harris.

The prize for fewest putts (12) was shared by Mrs. Arthur Hazenbush and Mrs. Shufeldt.

Bosox's Wild Man Wilson Happy To Be No-Hit Wilson

By BOB SALMON
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP)—Big Earl Wilson traded in a nickname today.

Until Tuesday night it was "Wild Man" Wilson. Now it's "No Hit" Wilson.

The hulking, unassuming Wilson became the first Negro to pitch an American League no-hitter as he fast-balled his way to a 2-0 Boston Red Sox victory over the Los Angeles Angels at Fenway Park.

The 25-year-old right-hander gave up four walks. Only two Los Angeles runners got as far as second. He faced 31 batters.

A relative unknown outside of New England, Wilson—who packs 220 pounds on a muscular 6-foot 3-inch frame—finally rewarded Manager Mike Higgins and others who never lost faith in his great speed and pitching ability.

Wildness had always been Earl's downfall. This season he has regained his confidence, gone back to his main weapon—a blazingly fast ball—and compiled a 6-2 record.

"I just threw as hard as I could all the way," he grinned after the game. "I still don't think it's true. I can't believe it."

The only other Negro to hurl a major league no-hitter was Sam Jones, who beat the Pittsburgh Pirates on May 12, 1955, while with the Chicago Cubs.

"Actually, I think I had better stuff once before," Wilson said. "That was against Detroit a couple of years ago. I had a no-hitter going for about five innings but I couldn't keep it up."

It was the major leagues' second no-hitter of the season and by a quirk of fate the guy Wilson beat was left-hander Bo Belinksy, who spun a no-hitter in Los Angeles against Baltimore May 5.

Mike Ferraro Signs Bonus Contract With New York Yankees

Local Star Will Report to Fort Lauderdale Team

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Mike Ferraro, one of the top athletes in recent years at Kingston High School, signed a bonus contract this morning with the New York Yankees. Figures were not disclosed, but it's believed that the bonus itself will exceed $8,000 and will also include a college education for Ferraro and a guarantee of $500 a month minimum for playing ball in the Yankee organization.

The contract was signed early this morning. Al Todd, assistant to Yankee scout Bill Skiff, represented the American League club. Since Ferraro is under the legal age of 21, he was represented by Peter Ferraro, his father. The signing took place the day after Ferraro was graduated from Kingston High School.

Other Clubs Interested

In addition to the Yankees, the Boston Red Sox, Chicago Cubs, New York Mets and St. Louis Cardinals had expressed an interest in Ferraro, who climaxed a brilliant career by being named "Player of the Year" in both basketball and baseball in the DUSO League.

Coach Al Gruner, who had Ferraro on the varsity baseball team remarked, "From the Little League on up, Mike has improved his play and also his attitude. He made himself a ballplayer step by step and his last year in high school was just amazing. He proved he was both a ballplayer and a student of the game and if he continues to improve, he should make greater strides."

Hit More Than .500

Ferraro batted over .500 in league play this year and he drew much praise from opposing coaches. George Balcanoff of Newburgh Free Academy, labeled Ferraro as one of the best prospects he's seen in several years.

During his four years at Kingston High, Ferraro played basketball and baseball. He was selected to the All-DUSO team in both sports for two seasons. He also played football in his senior year, starting as a fullback.

Mike will report to Steve Souchouck at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in a few days. It's believed he will play in the Class D League with Fort Lauderdale and will then report to the Yankees Minor League camp next year.

Ferraro is the second Kingston resident to sign a bonus baseball contract. Clark Mains of Port Ewen signed with the New York Giants several years ago and won 20 games in a Class D League. However, arm trouble halted his progress. Ferraro, who last year helped hurl the Kingston American Legion team to the semi-finals of the state tournament, was signed by the Yankees as an infielder.

New Football Rules Preview For All-America Bowl Game

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The 1962 Intercollegiate Football Rules, plus an experimental expansion of the "wild-card" substitution rule, will be in effect for the second annual All-America Bowl game here Friday night.

The American Football Coaches Association, a sponsor of the game, announced the game rules Tuesday.

The major change in the intercollegiate rules permits punts to be downed inside the 10-yard-line and the ball left at the spot where it was touched down. Under the old rules, balls punted inside the 10 were brought out to the 20.

The wild-card expansion will allow both teams' coaches to increase from one to two the number of players they can sbustitute after each play.

The coaches association said it is proposing the two-man substitution to the Collegiate Rules Committee and wants to see it in action.

The 60 players in the game, divided into squads representing East and West, completed two-a-day practice sessions Tuesday and will drill once daily for the rest of the week.

The teams, consisting of many of last season's top college football seniors, are both loaded with outstanding backs and linemen.

Nine 1961 All-Americas will be in the game. The East has halfback Ernie Davis of Syracuse, fullback Bob Ferguson of Ohio State, end Bill Miller of Miami, center Alex Kroll of Rutgers, guard Roy Winston of Louisiana State and tackle Billy Neighbors of Alabama.

On the West squad are quarterback Sandy Stephens of Minnesota, tackle Merlin Olsen of Utah State and halfback Jimmy Saxton of Texas.

Every player in the game except Navy's Greg Mather and Army's Al Rushatz have signed to play professionally this fall. Mather and Rushatz have service careers.

Woody Hayes of Ohio State is head coach of the East and Minnesota's Murray Warmath of the West. The West won last year, 30-20.

NBC will televise the game nationally, with Buffalo blacked out.

Dark Acting Like Mandrake; Earl Wilson Hurls No-Hitter

Moves Pay Off As Giants Beat Cincinnati, 6-5

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Al Dark's a genius.

Or so it seemed Tuesday night as events unfolded at San Francisco, where the Giants' manager came up with a series of maneuvers resulting in a 6-5, 10-inning victory over Cincinnati that sent the Giants back into first place in the National League pennant scramble.

Dark made his first move in the seventh inning when the Giants, trailing 4-0, loaded the bases with pitcher Jack Sanford due at bat. Dark looked down his bench for a pinch hitter and selected Ed Bailey, hitless in his last 17 trips to the plate.

Bailey hit a grand slam homer —the first by a pinch hitter this season.

Strategy Pays Off

In the 10th, Dark's pre-game strategy paid off as Willie McCovey, inserted in the line-up against right-hander Joey Jay, opened with a single. Going to his reserves again, Dark sent Felipe Alou in to run for McCovey.

Alou broke from first as Orlando Cepeda rifled a single to right center, daringly rounded third as Vada Pinson fired the ball into the infield and decided to try and go all the way. He beat Don Blasingame's relay sliding under the tag with the winning run.

The triumph pushed the Giants back on top for the first time since June 8, a half-game ahead of the Los Angeles Dodgers, who were limited to five hits by Lew Burdette in a 2-1 Milwaukee victory.

Third-place Pittsburgh whipped the New York Mets 5-2, fourth-place St. Louis walloped the Chicago Cubs 15-3 and Philadelphia defeated Houston twice, 2-0 on Jack Hamilton's two-hitter and 6-4.

After Bailey's grand slam tied it in the seventh, the Reds went back in front in the top of the eighth on a triple by Johnny Edwards and a single by pinch hitter Jerry Lynch. Edwards earlier had hit a two-run homer. In the last of the eighth, Jim Davenport again knotted the score with a homer and set it up for the 10th inning fireworks that gave Stu Miller (4-3) the victory and Dave Sisler (2-3) the loss.

Burdette, who lost his first four decisions, won his sixth in a row with his fourth complete game. He lost his shutout in the ninth on Maury Wills' single, Jim Gilliam's double and Tommy Davis' sacrifice fly. Singles by Del Crandall and Frank Bolling around a walk accounted for the first run off Dodger starter Sandy Koufax (10-4) in the second. The Braves pushed across what proved to be the clincher in the sixth when Hank Aaron reached base on Wills' error, moved to third on Lee Maye's single and came across on a sacrifice fly by Crandall.

Five Hits For Mets

Rookie Donn Clendenon and Don Hoak each knocked in two runs as the Pirates won their seventh in eight games with the Mets. Clendenon got his pair with a triple and homer. The Mets collected only five hits off Joe Gibbon, who left in the second with a jammed finger, and relievers Earl Francis (4-5) and Elroy Face. Willard Hunter (1-3) was the loser.

Four homers—by Gene Oliver, Billy White, Charley James and Ken Boyer—paced a 15-hit offensive that subdued the Cubs and enabled Ernie Broglio (3-3) to go the distance despite allowing 10 hits. The home runs by James and Boyer came in the eighth as the Cards exploded for their season high of nine runs. Dick Ellsworth (4-11) absorbed most of the punishment and the defeat.

Hamilton (5-5) got all the support he needed in the opener when the Phils scored a pair in the second on Clay Dalrymple's double, singles by Don Demeter and Frank Torre. A force out and a wild pitch by Colts' starter Dick Farrell (5-8). Art Mahaffey (9-8) stopped the Colts in the nightcap on seven hits, and drove in what proved to be the winning run with a single in a three-run fourth. Jim Golden (5-5) lost it.

Shirley Christiana Leads on 484 Triple

Bosox Pitcher Beats Belinsky With Great Effort

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

With thunderbolt swiftness matching the speed of his blazing fastball, Earl Wilson has zoomed to glittering stardom from the ranks of baseball's lesser known performers.

Tuesday night at Boston's Fenway Park, the Red Sox right-hander pitched the second no-hitter of the American League season—a 2-0 triumph over the Los Angeles Angels. Ironically, his defeated opponent was the year's other no-hit pitcher, fun-loving southpaw Bo Belinsky, who rocketed to fame with his masterpiece over Baltimore May 5.

Wilson, a strong-armed ex-catcher from Ponchatoula, La., allowed four men to reach base on walks and struck out five as he "just threw as hard as I could all the way."

He also gave himself all the support he needed with his second home run of the year.

Is Highly Regarded

Although his record in seven previous seasons as a professional has been far from sensational, Wilson has been highly regarded as a potential star by the Red Sox brass. Now the tall, 220-pound Negro has shed the "potential."

Pitching also sparkled elsewhere in the league. Cleveland salvaged a one-game lead in the standings, beating Detroit 3-1 on a combined four-hitter by Bob Hartman and Gary Bell and Al Luplow's 12th-inning homer after being blanked on six hits by Jim Bunning in the opener of the doubleheader, 6-0. Camilo Pascual struck out 12 and Rich Rollins did some heavy slugging as runnerup Minnesota trimmed New York 5-0. Milt Pappas of Baltimore fired a four-hit, 1-0 victory over Chicago. Kansas City rookie Dan Pfister won his first in the big time, edging Washington 2-1 with a six-hit performance.

All told, just 21 runs in six games—and four shutouts.

Like Belinsky, Wilson was an unlikely candidate for pitching stardom at season's start. He had been unimpressive in two previous short stays with the Red Sox—in 1959 and 1960—and was no better than 9-14 with Seattle of the Pacific Coast League last year.

This season the strapping, 26-year-old Louisianan had failed to go the distance in nine starts, although he had done well enough to win five of seven decisions.

Los Angeles' only real threat of a hit came in the ninth when leadoff man Billy Moran lifted a pop fly to short left which Eddie Bressoud snared with a running, over-the-shoulder catch. Two Angels managed to reach second base after walks.

Belinsky allowed just three hits in his seven innings but all three cost him. Wilson slugged his homer in the third, then singles by Pete Runnels and Carroll Hardy after an error gave Boston its second run.

Good Beginning

Hartman made his first appearance for Cleveland since being brought up from the minors and held Detroit to three-hits—including a homer and single by Bubba Morton—through 10 innings, then Bell won it by allowing a harmless single over the last two. Sam Jones was the hard-luck loser, lasting until the 12th when he gave way to Ron Nischwitz after a single by Ty Cline. Luplow promptly broke the long-standing tie with his fourth hit of the game and fifth of the night—the two-run homer.

Bunning also had a duel with Pedro Ramos in the first game until the seventh, when Dick McAuliffe homered with one on for the second hit off the Indian right-hander. Rocky Colavito made it a Tiger rout with a grand slam against Ramos in the eighth. Bunning struck out 10.

Rollins, whose average had skidded from .360 to .328 with only three hits in his eight previous games, got rich against Yankee starter Roland Sheldon. The Minnesota third baseman smashed homers his first two trips, both times with Lenny Green on base, then had a single off Sheldon and another off Bob Turley.

Pascual, winning his 11th against four losses, spaced nine hits, walked none and was at his curveballing best when it counted. He struck out Roger Maris three times and pinch hitter Mickey Mantle with the bases filled and one out in the ninth. It was the 11th loss in their last 16 games for the Yankees, who are only two percentage points ahead of the fourth-place Angels.

Baltimore won it in the last of the ninth against the White Sox and John Buzhardt when John Powell's single and two bunts loaded the bases and Charley Lau's 30-foot dribbler went for a hit. Pappas, now 8-3, pitched his fourth straight complete game.

Pfister turned in a neat six-hitter and the lone Washington run was unearned. Manny Jimenez, the league's top batter at .346, drove in the A's deciding run with a third inning double off loser Tom Cheney.

Motorcade Set For 7 P. M., Game To Start at 8

Mike Spada Slated To Hurl Home Opener Against Visitors

Hoping for a break from the weatherman, the Kingston Braves will make a second attempt to open their home season tonight with a scheduled New York-New Jersey League game against the Poughkeepsie Hoe-Bowls. Game time at Dietz Stadium is 8 p. m. and a motorcade and ceremonies will precede the attraction.

The two clubs were scheduled to play on Saturday but rain, forced postponement until tonight. Mike Spada, who was scheduled to hurl the home opener last week for the Braves, will get the assignment from manager Dick Bartsch tonight.

Will Oppose Savino

Colorful Fritz Jordan is the Poughkeepsie pilot and he expects to start Mickey Savino, one of his outstanding athletes at Arlington High School, on the hill. Backing up SaVino will be Gary Brown and Jim McEnroe, two youthful chuckers.

Poughkeepsie has won its only league decision and has also captured four straight wins against non-circuit clubs. The Braves were blanked at Spring Valley two weeks ago and it's been their only start to date.

A motorcade, beginning at 7 p. m., from Broadway and Delaware Ave. will feature Sara Imhoff, Miss Page One Queen of the Kingston Newspaper Guild. The motorcade will proceed up Broadway to N. Front St. to the Stadium.

Dick McCarthy, the radio voice of Kingston, will be master of ceremonies on the field. Speakers will include Lou Maines, president of the Braves and Mayor John J. Schwenk.

Tonight's game will feature a "new look" on the part of both clubs. They both feature young, local talent and missing will be the likes of Tom Acker and the others who dominated the league but didn't excite the fans. These clubs figure to bring some more spectators to the park.

Pascual's New 'Style' Baffles League Hitters

NEW YORK (AP)—The Minnesota Twins were knocking on the door of first place today thanks to two of their All-Star candidates, pitcher Camilo Pascual and third baseman Rich Rollins.

Pascual blanked the New York Yankees 5-0 Tuesday night, striking out 12, and Rollins cracked four hits to snap a batting slump that has plummeted his average from .360 of 10 days ago to .328 before the game.

Pascual pitched his best game of the season, walking none and fanning Roger Maris three times as he registered his 11th triumph in 15 decisions. The dozen strikeouts increased his league leading total to 102 in 135 innings. He paced the league with 221 strikeouts last year but won only 15 against 16 defeats.

"I've changed my pitching style this year," he said. "Until this year, I used to hold the ball in my bare hand when I started my windup. I found out last year that they were reading my pitches.

"So this year I changed. Now I'm holding the ball in my glove. This way I don't give away my pitches. Why did I wait so long? I just refused to believe that they knew what I was throwing."

Pascual's chief hitting support came from Rollins, the 24-year-old native of Parma, Ohio, who collected half of Minnesota's eight hits off loser Roland Sheldon and two relief pitchers. The Kent State University alumnus rapped two home runs, each with a man on base, and added two singles before fouling out on an attempted sacrifice bunt in the ninth inning. Prior to Tuesday night, he had gone 3-for-34 to drop out of the batting lead.

Camper Tied With Abbatiello For Most Wins at Monticello

MONTICELLO, June 25—Bob Camper, 32-year-old Delaware reinsman, has spurted into a first place tie for the driving lead at Monticello Raceway with 21 nights of racing in the record books.

Camper went into the fourth full week of racing at the Mighty M with 12 wins, same as Carmine Abbatiello who was the leader almost from the beginning of the meeting. Camper won four dashes last week while Abbatiello was annexing one to force the deadlock.

Camper has started in 36 races and has five seconds and three thirds to show. Abbatiello has been to the post 47 times with eight seconds and four thirds.

Harold Dancer Jr., last year's dash champ, is right in the thick of the battle with nine wins in 34 starts. Next comes Frank Popfinger with eight. Tied with seven wins each are Norm Stephens, Bill Popfinger, Keith Waples and Ned Galentine.

Wiltwyck Invitational Opens on July 13

Three-Day Event Will Draw Area's Top Notch Golfers

The annual Wiltwyck Country Club Invitational golf tournament will be held on July 13-14-15 this year, Andy Petruski, general chairman of golf at the uptown layout, announced today.

John S. Provenzano, one of the prime movers of the Invitational, will be chairman for the event, Petruski said. Other members of the Wiltwyck men's golf committee are: Dr. Fred Holcomb, Jr., Ronnie Marks, Bill McCullen and Leon Randall.

The six-year old tournament had solidly established itself as one of the annual mid-Hudson area fixtures. It attracts the finest amateur golfers between Albany and Newburgh and virtually all of the "name" performers in Ulster County.

The format of the Invitational provides that each golfer will be competing with others in his class. Qualifying scores play a part in determining pairings, but the prime consideration is the entrant's handicap.

Several Flights

The low 16 qualifiers compete in the Championship Flight. The other flights will consist of eight players each.

All entry fees are returned to the players in the form of prizes, annually a magnificent array of merchandise awards, a Friday evening cocktail party and a Saturday night dinner-dance. Many participants in past events have commented to the committee that the Wiltwyck Invitational is the greatest "bargain" of the golf season.

The social functions that go with the tournament are open to all members of Wiltwyck Country Club. These events are scheduled to coincide with the Invitational, but are not restricted to the players, Provenzano emphasized. All Wiltwyck members and guests are invited.

Entries are now being received and may be addressed to John S. Provenzano, Wiltwyck Country Club.

Gail Purdy, the current New York State women's golf champion, carded a 78 at Northern Pines links Tuesday to score her first Northeastern Women's Golf Association victory of the season.

Miss Purdy was out in 41 and came back in 37 to win by a one-stroke margin over Linda Leader of Mohawk, the current district champion.

Jacksonville, League Leader, Unhappy at Home

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Most baseball clubs can't wait to get in the confines of their home parks. . .but not so the Jacksonville Suns.

The Suns, riding high atop the International Baseball League today with a six-game lead, have won 25 of their 31 games on the road. If they could keep up that rate at home, they'd be so far out front of the pack, no other team would have a chance of catching them.

At home, they have won only 24 of their 40 games, a pace that would just about hold down third place for them.

Tuesday night at Buffalo, the Suns struck for four runs in the eighth inning to edge the Bisons, 6-5, and run their current winning streak to six.

Mike De La Hoz, a recent acquisition from the Cleveland Indians, and Harry Chiti, late of the New York Mets, each crashed a home run in the big inning. But it was relief pitcher Ted Abernathy who drove home what proved to be the winning run when he singled home Larry Brown, who had doubled.

In other action, the Columbus Jets trounced the Rochester Red Wings, 7-3; the Atlanta Crackers downed the Toronto Maple Leafs, 6-3, and the Syracuse Chiefs edged the Richmond Virginians, 5-4.

Malcom Hart Favored To Win at Monticello

MONTICELLO—Canadian invader Malcolm Hart will start along the rail with Maurice Pusey in the sulky and has been established the 3-1 morning line favorite for the feature $1,400 Class B-2 pace tonight at Monticello Raceway.

Malcolm Hart, owned by Del Rosa Farm, Montreal, holds a 2:06 victory at Monticello. The four-year-old has been out eight times this year and has won three races and finished second once.

Free-legged Knight Parade is the second early choice at 4-1. The six-year-old Knight Dream stallion has drawn post three and will be driven by Howard Camden. Knight Parade has failed to win in three starts at the Mighty M, but can point to a second and third.

Three horses are listed at 5-1 for the eight-horse race. They are newcomer Valley Lilly, Cimbee and Sandra Dares.

Valley Lilly is a seven-year-old mare who will be making a late seasonal debut. Carmine Abbatiello will drive Valley Lily who in the past has campaigned regularly on the metropolitan ovals. Valley Lilly has the two post.

Cimbee will open from No. 5 with Ned Galentine and Sandra Dares in the next lane with Harold Dancer Jr. Cimbee won in 2:06.2 two starts back. Sandra Dares is winless in seven appearances.

Atomic Belle and Scotch Newport, both 8-1, and Scotch Tape, at 10-1 are the longshots in the mile dash.

Redlegs Fume But Giants Are Back in First

Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The unswooning San Francisco Giants are back in first place—in June, yet.

But Cincinnati figures the Giants should be about as far from the National League lead as it claims Felipe Alou was from home plate in the 10th inning play Tuesday night that put San Francisco on top.

The margin in each case is a half length. The Giants' 6-5 victory put them a half game ahead of Los Angeles instead of a half game behind and the Reds are fuming that Alou missed scoring the winning run by half a stride when he sped three bases on Orlando Cepeda's single to right-center field.

The hair-raising victory, accomplished after the Giants came from behind twice on Ed Bailey's pinch grand slam homer and Jim Davenport's home run, was No. 4 in a row and put San Francisco in the lead for the first time since June 8.

Alou's winning dash was set up by a hit-run signal with the game tied 5-5.

"There was no doubt in my mind he could make it," said third base coach Whitey Lockman. The Giants dugout agreed, nearly everyone yelling "send him in."

Alou, a former Dominican Republic Olympic Games sprinter, sped toward the plate, hit the dirt and, as Lockman saw it, "had the play a little better than tied."

Reds' catcher Johnny Edwards disagreed. Violently. The entire Cincinnati team stormed plate umpire Ed Sudol, but to no avail.

Giants' skipper Alvin Dark happily noted that there shouldn't be any more talk of a June swoon—the nosedive San Francisco has taken each of the last five years in the month of supposed bliss.

"We're back on top now," he said. "That's the place to be."

OLD Mr. BOSTON

YOU'RE MAKING A BIG MISTAKE IF YOU'RE NOT DRINKING 80 PROOF GIN!

If you think higher proof means higher quality — that's a mistake.

If you think you have to pay more money to get a better gin — that's a mistake.

If you think the gin most Englishmen drink is more than 80 proof — that's a mistake.

You should know, to begin with, that America is practically the only civilized country in the world that drinks high-proof gin. The British, who perfected gin, know that gin has an ideal taste and flavor balance, and they prefer it at milder, smoother 80 proof. Here's the whole story:

80 PROOF GIN TASTES BETTER

"Proof" is no measure of quality. It's a measure of alcohol content alone. (100 proof means 50% alcohol.) Alcohol itself has no flavor. The pleasant taste of gin comes entirely from the herbs with which it's distilled.

The best test of gin is to drink it straight or on-the-rocks. You'll find 80 proof gin has the big taste advantage of 80 proof mildness — with the same full flavor of higher proof gins.

80 PROOF GIN COSTS LESS

Gins are taxed by the U.S. on their proof or alcohol content, only. The lower the proof — the lower the taxes, and the lower the cost to you. When you buy an imported label, you add the cost of shipping and duties. That pushes the price even higher, without giving you 80 proof quality.

80 PROOF GIN MAKES BETTER MARTINIS

It makes them extra dry, as you like them, but not extra strong. Twenty years ago, the 3-to-1 Martini was standard. Today, with the trend to dryer Martinis, they're made 6-, 7-, even 8-to-1. As a result the modern Martini has climbed from a smooth 76.5 proof to an overwhelming 84 proof! Solution? Mix with 80 proof gin. It gives you the same full, dry gin flavor, but it returns the Martini to its original, more moderate proof.

80 PROOF GIN MAKES BETTER TALL DRINKS

When you mix a tall drink, like a collins or a gin 'n tonic, you dilute the strength of the gin "to taste." You also mix for balance of flavor. 80 proof gin will give you better balance. You don't have to drown it to drink it.

HOW TO MAKE DRY MARTINIS MAKE MORE SENSE

	Using Standard 36 Proof Dry Vermouth	Using 90 Proof Dry Gin	Using 80 Proof Dry Gin (or Vodka)
3 — to — 1	(Traditional)	76.5 Proof	69.0 Proof
5 — to — 1	(Dry)	81.0 Proof	72.6 Proof
8 — to — 1	(Extra Dry)	84.0 Proof	75.1 Proof

(The "standard" proof for today's bottled Martinis is a moderate 67.5 proof!)

OLD MR. BOSTON IS THE FINEST GIN YOU CAN BUY

It's vacuum distilled at an unusually low temperature in special glass-lined stills. Only at such a low temperature, is it possible to capture the most delicate essence of the herbs. This is one reason for Old Mr. Boston's flavor distinction. It is America's first and largest-selling 80 proof Dry Gin!

Motorcade Set For 7 P. M., Game To Start at 8

Mike Spada Slated To Hurl Home Opener Against Visitors

Hoping for a break from the weatherman, the Kingston Braves will make a second attempt to open their home season tonight with a scheduled New York-New Jersey League game against the Poughkeepsie Hoe-Bowls. Game time at Dietz Stadium is 8 p. m. and a motorcade and ceremonies will precede the attraction.

The two clubs were scheduled to play on Saturday but rain, forced postponement until tonight. Mike Spada, who was scheduled to hurl the home opener last week for the Braves, will get the assignment from manager Dick Bartsch tonight.

Will Oppose Savino

Colorful Fritz Jordan is the Poughkeepsie pilot and he expects to start Mickey Savino, one of his outstanding athletes at Arlington High School, on the hill. Backing up SaVino will be Gary Brown and Jim McEnroe, two youthful chuckers.

Poughkeepsie has won its only league decision and has also captured four straight wins against non-circuit clubs. The Braves were blanked at Spring Valley two weeks ago and it's been their only start to date.

A motorcade, beginning at 7 p. m., from Broadway and Delaware Ave. will feature Sara Imhoff, Miss Page One Queen of the Kingston Newspaper Guild. The motorcade will proceed up Broadway to N. Front St. to the Stadium.

Dick McCarthy, the radio voice of Kingston, will be master of ceremonies on the field. Speakers will include Lou Maines, president of the Braves and Mayor John J. Schwenk.

Tonight's game will feature a "new look" on the part of both clubs. They both feature young, local talent and missing will be the likes of Tom Acker and the others who dominated the league but didn't excite the fans. These clubs figure to bring some more spectators to the park.

Pascual's New 'Style' Baffles League Hitters

NEW YORK (AP)—The Minnesota Twins were knocking on the door of first place today thanks to two of their All-Star candidates, pitcher Camilo Pascual and third baseman Rich Rollins.

Pascual blanked the New York Yankees 5-0 Tuesday night, striking out 12, and Rollins cracked four hits to snap a batting slump that has plummeted his average from .360 of 10 days ago to .328 before the game.

Pascual pitched his best game of the season, walking none and fanning Roger Maris three times as he registered his 11th triumph in 15 decisions. The dozen strikeouts increased his league leading total to 102 in 135 innings. He paced the league with 221 strikeouts last year but won only 15 against 16 defeats.

"I've changed my pitching style this year," he said. "Until this year, I used to hold the ball in my bare hand when I started my windup. I found out last year that they were reading my pitches.

"So this year I changed. Now I'm holding the ball in my glove. This way I don't give away my pitches. Why did I wait so long? I just refused to believe that they knew what I was throwing."

Pascual's chief hitting support came from Rollins, the 24-year-old native of Parma, Ohio, who collected half of Minnesota's eight hits off loser Roland Sheldon and two relief pitchers. The Kent State University alumnus rapped two home runs, each with a man on base, and added two singles before fouling out on an attempted sacrifice bunt in the ninth inning. Prior to Tuesday night, he had gone 3-for-34 to drop out of the batting lead.

Camper Tied With Abbatiello For Most Wins at Monticello

MONTICELLO, June 25—Bob Camper, 32-year-old Delaware reinsman, has spurted into a first place tie for the driving lead at Monticello Raceway with 21 nights of racing in the record books.

Camper went into the fourth full week of racing at the Mighty M with 12 wins, same as Carmine Abbatiello who was the leader almost from the beginning of the meeting. Camper won four dashes last week while Abbatiello was annexing one to force the deadlock.

Camper has started in 36 races and has five seconds and three thirds to show. Abbatiello has been to the post 47 times with eight seconds and four thirds.

Harold Dancer Jr., last year's dash champ, is right in the thick of the battle with nine wins in 34 starts. Next comes Frank Popfinger with eight. Tied with seven wins each are Norm Stephens, Bill Popfinger, Keith Waples and Ned Galentine.

Wiltwyck Invitational Opens on July 13

Three-Day Event Will Draw Area's Top Notch Golfers

The annual Wiltwyck Country Club Invitational golf tournament will be held on July 13-14-15 this year, Andy Petruski, general chairman of golf at the uptown layout, announced today.

John S. Provenzano, one of the prime movers of the Invitational, will be chairman for the event, Petruski said. Other members of the Wiltwyck men's golf committee are: Dr. Fred Holcomb, Jr., Ronnie Marks, Bill McCullen and Leon Randall.

The six-year old tournament had solidly established itself as one of the annual mid-Hudson area fixtures. It attracts the finest amateur golfers between Albany and Newburgh and virtually all of the "name" performers in Ulster County.

The format of the Invitational provides that each golfer will be competing with others in his class. Qualifying scores play a part in determining pairings, but the prime consideration is the entrant's handicap.

Several Flights

The low 16 qualifiers compete in the Championship Flight. The other flights will consist of eight players each.

All entry fees are returned to the players in the form of prizes, annually a magnificent array of merchandise awards, a Friday evening cocktail party and a Saturday night dinner-dance. Many participants in past events have commented to the committee that the Wiltwyck Invitational is the greatest "bargain" of the golf season.

The social functions that go with the tournament are open to all members of Wiltwyck Country Club. These events are scheduled to coincide with the Invitational, but are not restricted to the players, Provenzano emphasized. All Wiltwyck members and guests are invited.

Entries are now being received and may be addressed to John S. Provenzano, Wiltwyck Country Club.

Jacksonville, League Leader, Unhappy at Home

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Most baseball clubs can't wait to get in the confines of their home parks. . .but not so the Jacksonville Suns.

The Suns, riding high atop the International Baseball League today with a six-game lead, have won 25 of their 31 games on the road. If they could keep up that rate at home, they'd be so far out front of the pack, no other team would have a chance of catching them.

At home, they have won only 24 of their 40 games, a pace that would just about hold down third place for them.

Tuesday night at Buffalo, the Suns struck for four runs in the eighth inning to edge the Bisons, 6-5, and run their current winning streak to six.

Mike De La Hoz, a recent acquisition from the Cleveland Indians, and Harry Chiti, late of the New York Mets, each crashed a home run in the big inning. But it was relief pitcher Ted Abernathy who drove home what proved to be the winning run when he singled home Larry Brown, who had doubled.

In other action, the Columbus Jets trounced the Rochester Red Wings, 7-3; the Atlanta Crackers downed the Toronto Maple Leafs, 6-3, and the Syracuse Chiefs edged the Richmond Virginians, 5-4.

Redlegs Fume But Giants Are Back in First

Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The unswooning San Francisco Giants are back in first place—in June, yet.

But Cincinnati figures the Giants should be about as far from the National League lead as it claims Felipe Alou was from home plate in the 10th inning play Tuesday night that put San Francisco on top.

The margin in each case is a half length. The Giants' 6-5 victory put them a half game ahead of Los Angeles instead of a half game behind and the Reds are fuming that Alou missed scoring the winning run by half a stride when he sped three bases on Orlando Cepeda's single to right-center field.

The hair-raising victory, accomplished after the Giants came from behind twice on Ed Bailey's pinch grand slam homer and Jim Davenport's home run, was No. 4 in a row and put San Francisco in the lead for the first time since June 8.

Alou's winning dash was set up by a hit-run signal with the game tied 5-5.

"There was no doubt in my mind he could make it," said third base coach Whitey Lockman. The Giants dugout agreed, nearly everyone yelling "send him in."

Alou, a former Dominican Republic Olympic Games sprinter, sped toward the plate, hit the dirt and, as Lockman saw it, "had the play a little better than tied."

Reds' catcher Johnny Edwards disagreed. Violently. The entire Cincinnati team stormed plate umpire Ed Sudol, but to no avail.

Giants' skipper Alvin Dark happily noted that there shouldn't be any more talk of a June swoon—the nosedive San Francisco has taken each of the last five years in the month of supposed bliss.

"We're back on top now," he said. "That's the place to be."

MONTICELLO—Canadian invader Malcolm Hart will start along the rail with Maurice Pusey in the sulky and has been established the 3-1 morning line favorite for the feature $1,400 Class B-2 pace tonight at Monticello Raceway.

Malcolm Hart, owned by Del Rosa Farm, Montreal, holds a 2:06 victory at Monticello. The four-year-old has been out eight times this year and has won three races and finished second once.

Free-legged Knight Parade is the second early choice at 4-1. The six-year-old Knight Dream stallion has drawn post three and will be driven by Howard Camden. Knight Parade has failed to win in three starts at the Mighty M, but can point to a second and third.

Three horses are listed at 5-1 for the eight-horse race. They are newcomer Valley Lilly, Cimbee and Sandra Dares.

Valley Lilly is a seven-year-old mare who will be making a late seasonal debut. Carmine Abbatiello will drive Valley Lily who in the past has campaigned regularly on the metropolitan ovals. Valley Lilly has the two post.

Cimbee will open from No. 5 with Ned Galentine and Sandra Dares in the next lane with Harold Dancer Jr. Cimbee won in 2:06.2 two starts back. Sandra Dares is winless in seven appearances.

Atomic Belle and Scotch Newport, both 8-1, and Scotch Tape, at 10-1 are the longshots in the mile dash.

OLD Mr. BOSTON

YOU'RE MAKING A BIG MISTAKE IF YOU'RE NOT DRINKING 80 PROOF GIN!

If you think higher proof means higher quality — that's a mistake.

If you think you have to pay more money to get a better gin — that's a mistake.

If you think the gin most Englishmen drink is more than 80 proof — that's a mistake.

You should know, to begin with, that America is practically the only civilized country in the world that drinks high-proof gin. The British, who perfected gin, know that gin has an ideal taste and flavor balance, and they prefer it at milder, smoother 80 proof. Here's the whole story:

80 PROOF GIN TASTES BETTER

"Proof" is no measure of quality. It's a measure of alcohol content alone. (100 proof means 50% alcohol.) Alcohol itself has no flavor. The pleasant taste of gin comes entirely from the herbs with which it's distilled.

The best test of gin is to drink it straight or on-the-rocks. You'll find 80 proof gin has the big taste advantage of 80 proof mildness — with the same full flavor of higher proof gins.

80 PROOF GIN COSTS LESS

Gins are taxed by the U.S. on their proof or alcohol content, only. The lower the proof — the lower the taxes, and the lower the cost to you. When you buy an imported label, you add the cost of shipping and duties. That pushes the price even higher, without giving you 80 proof quality.

80 PROOF GIN MAKES BETTER MARTINIS

It makes them extra dry, as you like them, but not extra strong. Twenty years ago, the 3-to-1 Martini was standard. Today, with the trend to dryer Martinis, they're made 6-, 7-, even 8-to-1. As a result the modern Martini has climbed from a smooth 76.5 proof to an overwhelming 84 proof! Solution? Mix with 80 proof gin. It gives you the same full, dry gin flavor, but it returns the Martini to its original, more moderate proof.

80 PROOF GIN MAKES BETTER TALL DRINKS

When you mix a tall drink, like a collins or a gin 'n tonic, you dilute the strength of the gin "to taste." You also mix for balance of flavor. 80 proof gin will give you better balance. You don't have to drown it to drink it.

HOW TO MAKE DRY MARTINIS MAKE MORE SENSE

Using Standard 36 Proof Dry Vermouth	Using 90 Proof Dry Gin	Using 80 Proof Dry Gin (or Vodka)
3 — to — 1 (Traditional)	76.5 Proof	69.0 Proof
5 — to — 1 (Dry)	81.0 Proof	72.6 Proof
8 — to — 1 (Extra Dry)	84.0 Proof	75.1 Proof

(The "standard" proof for today's bottled Martinis is a moderate 67.5 proof!)

OLD MR. BOSTON IS THE FINEST GIN YOU CAN BUY

It's vacuum distilled at an unusually low temperature in special glass-lined stills. Only at such a low temperature, is it possible to capture the most delicate essence of the herbs. This is one reason for Old Mr. Boston's flavor distinction. It is America's first and largest-selling 80 proof Dry Gin!

9 School Heads Will Continue to Have Pupils Pray

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Superintendents in nine school districts in the state say they will defy the U. S. Supreme Court ban on use of prayers in public schools.

But most educators, while expressing chagrin, said they would comply with the Monday decision, which was directed specifically at a prayer recommended by the State Board of Regents and considered non-sectarian.

Meanwhile, Upstate church leaders Tuesday joined the widespread outcry against the ruling.

W. Ralph Ward, bishop of the Syracuse area of the Methodist Church, said he believed a way could be found "which, constitutionally, will permit the thousands of American public school teachers and millions of pupils who sincerely believe in God. . .to express this feeling not only in the privacy of their own homes but in the classroom itself."

"This is. . .a freedom which must not be denied in America," Bishop Ward said.

Sees Hostility

The Most Rev. William A. Scully, bishop of the Albany Roman Catholic Diocese, saw in the decision "evidences of hostility to religion."

On another front, Gov. Rockefeller told delegates to the 25th annual session of Boys' State at Hamilton that "We should not blame minority groups for the decision."

He said the ruling "was made through the proper channels of government."

When the decision was announced, the governor said he hoped that the prayer might be rewritten so that its use would still be constitutional. He had not seen the text of the decision when he made the comment.

Tuesday, Robert MacCrate, the governor's counsel, said after reading the 6-1 majority opinion that he was pessimistic that a prayer could be written that would escape the court's broad prohibition.

It appears that the constitution must be amended if the use of prayers in public schools is to be resumed, MacCrate said.

Amendments Introduced

Several moves in that direction were made Tuesday in Congress. Proposed constitutional amendments were introduced in both houses and others were being planned.

The State Board of Regents, which recommended use of their prayer in 1951, will discuss the situation at a meeting Thursday and Friday.

Edgar W. Couper, chancellor of the board, said the decision was accepted "with regret" and State Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. said it would be enforced immediately.

Most public schools have closed for the summer.

A state order to discontinue prayers will not necessarily mean that their use will end.

The State Education Department said he had no plans for strict enforcement of such an order, and Allen said he would force a school to obey it only when an appeal was brought to him.

Eight of the school superintendents who said they intended to continue prayers in their schools direct school districts on Long Island. The ninth is the superintendent of the Chenango Forks Central School District in the Southern Tier.

Using Lord's Prayer

Five of the nine districts have been using the Lord's Prayer, which the Education Department long has considered sectarian an, therefore, illegal.

"As far as I am concerned, the schools will have one prayer or another or they might as well not have any school at all," Robert Eaton, president of the Hicksville School Board on Long Island, said.

Another viewpoint was expressed by Robert Shaffer, president of the Niagara Falls Teachers Association.

"I know many teachers who felt the prayer a violation of the rights of the individual," he said.

William Anderson, supervising principal of the Maine-Endwell Central School near Binghamton, said government had no business prescribing forms of prayer.

Most educators questioned in a spot survey by The Associated Press said that use of prayers in their schools would be stopped or that they would leave the matter to their boards of education.

Strip Joints Closed

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Police closed all five of Miami Beach's strip joints Tuesday night. The police chief said they were fire traps.

Testimony before a Senate investigating committee in Washington last week indicated that some of the night clubs at Miami Beach were controlled by the underworld and allowed open solicitation for prostitution.

"I've been planning this for months," said Police Chief Michael Fox. "Other investigations held it up."

Fox said he intended to keep the clubs closed until they complied with fire department regulations.

Questions Motive Behind Criticism Of Pa. Troopers

HARRISBURG (AP) — A top state police official has questioned the motive behind criticism of the force's administration made by retired Capt. Lawrence Sapudar, former commander of Troop B at Wyoming.

"The manner in which he makes his statement at this time raises serious doubts as to his sincerity," declared Maj. John D. Kime in a statement Tuesday. Kime is chief traffic officer at regimental headquarters in Harrisburg.

Kime contended that Sapudar's criticism of State Police Commissioner Frank G. McCartney should have been made before Sapudar retired.

Sapudar said Monday that state police morale was at its lowest point in history. McCartney's administration, he said, has 'been marked with indecision, vaccilation, political expediency and vindictiveness beyond reason."

Sapudar retired last week. He was 56 and had 36 years of service with the force.

McCartney said Monday night he defied Sapudar to prove any of his charges and claimed his men are doing a better job today than ever before.

Egbert Replaced By Alco Switch

NEW YORK (AP)—William G. Miller, president of Alco Products Inc., has taken over the responsibilities of the chief executive officer from Perry T. Egbert, chairman.

The switch, effective July 1, was announced Tuesday. No reason was given.

Miller has been with the company since 1932. He was named a vice president in 1960, executive vice president a year ago and president last December.

For six years prior to 1960 he had been president of the Montreal Locomotive Works Ltd., a Canadian affiliate.

Egbert, 68, joined the company in 1920 and has been chief executive officer since 1952.

Alco sales reached a high of $440.7 million in 1953, fell to a low of $86.7 million in 1960 and rose last year to $89.4 million. The company makes diesel-electric locomotives and other industrial products.

Alco said Tuesday business prospects were improving, especially in sales of locomotives overseas. First-quarter profits were $66,000, the company said.

Alco has plants in Auburn and Schenectady, N.Y., Latrobe, Pa., and Chicago Heights, Ill.

Fines Speeder $20

Carlton Mickle, 23, Sharon Springs, was arrested by state police in Town of Plattekill Tuesday on a charge of speeding. Taken before Justice of the Peace Vincent J. Porcelli a $20 fine was imposed.

Two Barns Burn In Town of Lloyd

Two barns on Pancake Hollow Road, Town of Lloyd, were destroyed by fire Tuesday night, as 40 firemen fought to prevent other nearby buildings from igniting.

Highland Fire Chief Eugene Noe and Deputy Chief Fred Visconti were in command of firemen as they battled the blaze. Chief Noe said a large barn and a smaller barn adjoining the other structure were destroyed.

Chief Noe said firemen were hampered by obnoxious smoke that filled the area from burning material in the buildings, which were owned by Eugene Perfumie.

Clintondale firemen were dispatched to the scene by mutual aid, with a tanker. Firemen returned to their stations at about 11:45 p. m. The fire was discovered shortly after 10 p. m. and when the firemen arrived they saw flames "shooting through the roof," Chief Noe said.

The cause of the fire was not immediately determined, although Chief Noe said there was a possibility the barn had been hit by lightning some time before the blaze was discovered.

Delay for Estes Trial Is Studied

PECOS, Tex. (AP)—The immediate trial which Billie Sol Estes requested came to a temporary halt today as a judge studied a surprise defense motion for indefinite delay of the case.

The 37-year-old West Texas promoter is being tried on a charge that he bilked $162,144 from a fellow Reeves County farmer who contracted to buy anhydrous ammonia fertilizer tanks.

John Cofer, an Estes attorney, asked the continuance Tuesday night.

Cofer told the court examination of prospective jurors had demonstrated that they had read and heard things about Estes' activities that would be prejudicial to him. He argued that many of the things that have been written or broadcast about Estes have no relation to the case at trial and would not be admissable as evidence.

Contending it would be impossible for his client to obtain a fair trial, Cofer asked the case to be continued "two or three terms of court" if necessary.

Dist. Judge J. H. Starley recessed court and said he would hear arguments on the request today.

Majestic Desires Dem Nomination For Assembly Job

Supervisor George Majestic, Gardiner hardware store proprietor, has announced that he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for member of assembly and William A. Kelly, Ulster County Democratic County Committee chairman, today said Majestic would have the "100 per cent support of the county organization."

Majestic, active in firemanic affairs, has served the Town of Gardiner in the Ulster County Board of Supervisors since 1958. He defeated Republican Supervisor Richard Borcherding in the November 1957 election.

Supervisor Majestic, in announcing that he will be available as the Assembly candidate at the Democratic County convention, would oppose Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson (R) of Woodstock, who will undoubtedly be the Republican choice to succeed himself.

Has Foot Injury

A police report at 8:25 p. m. Tuesday said Julian Lewis, 9, of 33 St. Mary's Street, suffered an injured foot when a car rolled over it. Police said the driver, John Brodhead, 47, of 129 Hunter Street, had told the boy to get away from the car, and he thought he had left the area when he started to drive. The boy was treated at Kingston Hospital.

9 School Heads Will Continue to Have Pupils Pray

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Superintendents in nine school districts in the state say they will defy the U. S. Supreme Court ban on use of prayers in public schools.

But most educators, while expressing chagrin, said they would comply with the Monday decision, which was directed specifically at a prayer recommended by the State Board of Regents and considered non-sectarian.

A few schoolmen applauded the decision.

Meanwhile, Upstate church leaders Tuesday joined the widespread outcry against the ruling.

W. Ralph Ward, bishop of the Syracuse area of the Methodist Church, said he believed a way could be found "which, constitutionally, will permit the thousands of American public school teachers and millions of pupils who sincerely believe in God. . .to express this feeling not only in the privacy of their own homes but in the classroom itself."

"This is. . .a freedom which must not be denied in America," Bishop Ward said.

Sees Hostility

The Most Rev. William A. Scully, bishop of the Albany Roman Catholic Diocese, saw in the decision "evidences of hostility to religion."

On another front, Gov. Rockefeller told delegates to the 25th annual session of Boys' State at Hamilton that "We should not blame minority groups for the decision."

He said the ruling "was made through the proper channels of government."

When the decision was announced, the governor said he hoped that the prayer might be rewritten so that its use would still be constitutional. He had not seen the text of the decision when he made the comment.

Tuesday, Robert MacCrate, the governor's counsel, said after reading the 6-1 majority opinion that he was pessimistic that a prayer could be written that would escape the court's broad prohibition.

It appears that the constitution must be amended if the use of prayers in public schools is to be resumed, MacCrate said.

Amendments Introduced

Several moves in that direction were made Tuesday in Congress. Proposed constitutional amendments were introduced in both houses and others were being planned.

The State Board of Regents, which recommended use of their prayer in 1951, will discuss the situation at a meeting Thursday and Friday.

Edgar W. Couper, chancellor of the board, said the decision was accepted "with regret" and State Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. said it would be enforced immediately.

Most public schools have closed for the summer.

A state order to discontinue prayers will not necessarily mean that their use will end.

The State Education Department said he had no plans for strict enforcement of such an order, and Allen said he would force a school to obey it only when an appeal was brought to him.

Eight of the school superintendents who said they intended to continue prayers in their schools direct school districts on Long Island. The ninth is the superintendent of the Chenango Forks Central School District in the Southern Tier.

Using Lord's Prayer

Five of the nine districts have been using the Lord's Prayer, which the Education Department long has considered sectarian an, therefore, illegal.

"As far as I am concerned, the schools will have one prayer or another or they might as well not have any school at all," Robert Eaton, president of the Hicksville School Board on Long Island, said.

Another viewpoint was expressed by Robert Shaffer, president of the Niagara Falls Teachers Association.

"I know many teachers who felt the prayer a violation of the rights of the individual," he said.

William Anderson, supervising principal of the Maine-Endwell Central School near Binghamton, said government had no business prescribing forms of prayer.

Most educators questioned in a spot survey by The Associated Press said that use of prayers in their schools would be stopped or that they would leave the matter to their boards of education.

Two Barns Burn In Town of Lloyd

Two barns on Pancake Hollow Road, Town of Lloyd, were destroyed by fire Tuesday night, as 40 firemen fought to prevent other nearby buildings from igniting.

Highland Fire Chief Eugene Noe and Deputy Chief Fred Visconti were in command of firemen as they battled the blaze. Chief Noe said a large barn and a smaller barn adjoining the other structure were destroyed.

Chief Noe said firemen were hampered by obnoxious smoke that filled the area from burning material in the buildings, which were owned by Eugene Perfumie.

Clintondale firemen were dispatched to the scene by mutual aid, with a tanker. Firemen returned to their stations at about 11:45 p. m. The fire was discovered shortly after 10 p. m. and when the firemen arrived they saw flames "shooting through the roof," Chief Noe said.

The cause of the fire was not immediately determined, although Chief Noe said there was a possibility the barn had been hit by lightning some time before the blaze was discovered.

Strip Joints Closed

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Police closed all five of Miami Beach's strip joints Tuesday night. The police chief said they were fire traps.

Testimony before a Senate investigating committee in Washington last week indicated that some of the night clubs at Miami Beach were controlled by the underworld and allowed open solicitation for prostitution.

"I've been planning this for months," said Police Chief Michael Fox. "Other investigations held it up."

Fox said he intended to keep the clubs closed until they complied with fire department regulations.

Questions Motive Behind Criticism Of Pa. Troopers

HARRISBURG (AP) — A top state police official has questioned the motive behind criticism of the force's administration made by retired Capt. Lawrence Sapudar, former commander of Troop B at Wyoming.

"The manner in which he makes his statement at this time raises serious doubts as to his sincerity," declared Maj. John D. Kime in a statement Tuesday. Kime is chief traffic officer at regimental headquarters in Harrisburg.

Kime contended that Sapudar's criticism of State Police Commissioner Frank G. McCartney should have been made before Sapudar retired.

Sapudar said Monday that state police morale was at it's lowest point in history. McCartney's administration, he said, has been marked with indecision, vaccilation, political expediency and vindictiveness beyond reason."

Sapudar retired last week. He was 56 and had 36 years of service with the force.

McCartney said Monday night he defied Sapudar to prove any of his charges and claimed his men are doing a better job today than ever before.

Delay for Estes Trial Is Studied

PECOS, Tex. (AP)—The immediate trial which Billie Sol Estes requested came to a temporary halt today as a judge studied a surprise defense motion for indefinite delay of the case.

The 37-year-old West Texas promoter is being tried on a charge that he bilked $162,144 from a fellow Reeves County farmer who contracted to buy anhydrous ammonia fertilizer tanks.

John Cofer, an Estes attorney, asked the continuance Tuesday night.

Cofer told the court examination of prospective jurors had demonstrated that they had read and heard things about Estes' activities that would be prejudicial to him. He argued that many of the things that have been written or broadcast about Estes have no relation to the case at trial and would not be admissable as evidence.

Contending it would be impossible for his client to obtain a fair trial, Cofer asked the case to be continued "two or three terms of court" if necessary.

Dist. Judge J. H. Starley recessed court and said he would hear arguments on the request today.

Egbert Replaced By Alco Switch

NEW YORK (AP)—William G. Miller, president of Alco Products Inc., has taken over the responsibilities of the chief executive officer from Perry T. Egbert, chairman.

The switch, effective July 1, was announced Tuesday. No reason was given.

Miller has been with the company since 1932. He was named a vice president in 1960, executive vice president a year ago and president last December.

For six years prior to 1960 he had been president of the Montreal Locomotive Works Ltd., a Canadian affiliate.

Egbert, 68, joined the company in 1920 and has been chief executive officer since 1952.

Alco sales reached a high of $440.7 million in 1953, fell to a low of $86.7 million in 1960 and rose last year to $89.4 million. The company makes diesel-electric locomotives and other industrial products.

Alco said Tuesday business prospects were improving, especially in sales of locomotives overseas. First-quarter profits were $66,000, the company said.

Alco has plants in Auburn and Schenectady, N.Y., Latrobe, Pa., and Chicago Heights, Ill.

Chinese Orphans on Way

HONG KONG (AP)—Forty-eight Chinese orphans left Hong Kong by jet airliner today for adoption by American families.

Most were between 8 and 14 years of age, and they were evenly divided between boys and girls. It was the biggest group of orphans sent to the United States since the program was inaugurated here in 1958. All came to Hong Kong prior to the mass refugee exodus from Red China last month.

The program is sponsored by the International Social Services, which has moved 650 orphans from Hong Kong to the United States in the last four years.

May Abolish '58 Feed Grain Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Agriculture Committee is putting together a farm bill with somewhat stricter provisions than present law to substitute for the tightly controlled administration program rejected by the House last week.

No final decisions have been made, but among preliminary proposals is one to abolish the 1958 feed grain plan, blamed by Democrats for increasing surpluses. This plan would go back into effect if Congress took no action.

The committee change would provide for reversion to an earlier authorization for the secretary of agriculture to set corn and feed grain support prices at from zero to 90 per cent of parity and impose acreage allotments, but not marketing quotas.

There would be no price support for non-complying farmers, if allotments were set, and the Commodity Credit Corporation would be barred from selling grain at less than 50 per cent of parity.

Red, Not The Big Apple Is Customer Dish

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most shoppers seem to prefer their Red-Delicious apples to be red.

That is the Department of Agriculture's conclusion after a test of customer preference.

Marketing researchers found that the greater the proportion of red color in the apple display the greater the sales even though there was little or no difference in taste or nutritive value.

It appears that the premium paid for highly colored Red-Delicious apples, the department said, has some justification on the basis of consumer acceptance.

Extends Pan Am Strike Ban

Review Is Sought Of Judge's Action

NEW YORK (APz — A federal judge has ordered a 10-day extension of his temporary ban against a strike by Pan American World Airways' 500 flight engineers.

Daniel Kornblum, counsel to the engineers' union, said he would seek an immediate review of U.S. Dist. Judge George Rosling's action by the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Rosling ordered the extension Tuesday 20 minutes before the expiration of his order which last Saturday ended a strike against Pan Am four hours after it started.

To Continue Argument

Rosling called counsel for Pan Am and the union back before him again today for continued argument on the airline's application for a full-fledged injunction.

Eastern Air Lines—shut down since Saturday when the engineers struck it along with Pan Am—said it would await the outcome of further court proceedings in the Pan Am case before deciding on its course of action.

Eastern said resumption of service would take several days to arrange, and added: "If resumed under present circumstances, there would be no assurance that operations would continue."

That was widely interpreted to mean that Eastern was reluctant to resume flights under a court order that was only temporary.

Seek Third Seat

The issue between the two airlines and the AFL-CIO Flight Engineers International Association is basically the engineers' fight to preserve their jobs when the cockpit crews of jet airliners are reduced soon from four to three men. The engineers want to get the third seat in the cockpit along with two pilots. They also fear their union would be swallowed up by the larger AFL-CIO Air Line Pilots Association in the proposed merger of the two unions.

Present jet cockpit crews are three pilots and one engineer.

Rosling said he was continuing the case because he needed time for an orderly, extensive hearing of testimony that would aid him in reaching a decision.

Pan American has been maintaining normal operations. The line carries about 15,000 passengers a day on international flights.

Eastern, which has 575 flight engineers, normally carries about 30,000 passengers a day on 1,424 domestic and international flights.

Hospital Presses Probe About Key Used by Escapees

Investigation was being pressed today by authorities at Harlem Valley State Hospital, Wingdale, in an attempt to determine how six inmates obtained a key used by them to escape from the institution Monday night.

Dr. Lawrence P. Roberts, director of the hospital, made known the planned investigation Tuesday afternoon. He said the six inmates either used a regular key or one fashioned from metal.

Shortly after 10 p. m. Monday, the six unlocked a barred second floor window of Building 26, a closed ward, and fled by sliding down an improvised rope made of bed sheets.

Five of the inmates were apprehended within three hours south of Wingdale by Henry Reimer, Wingdale, who is awaiting appointment as a state trooper. Reimer spotted the quintet and summoned Dover Plains troopers. The five were returned to the state hospital.

The sixth was found yesterday at about 6:30 a. m. hiding behind a filling station not far from the institution.

Ship Hobby Is Topic for Lions

A fascinating hobby that became a lifelong work was described by Karl F. Wede in a talk given before the regular Tuesday meeting of the Kingston Lions Club.

Wede, born in Germany and now a resident in the Glenerie Lake area between Kingston and Saugerties, became a dealer in nautical antiques and ship models as a result of becoming a youthful collector of valuable specimens during his early years in Germany. The speaker illustrated his talk on "Sailing Ships and their part in the Development of America" with a fine display of ship models.

Starting with the Viking ships, which he described as "actually rowboats with sails," the speaker enlightened his audience with interesting descriptions of the more advanced sailing vessels that followed.

Wede told of Henry Hudson's "Half Moon" in which he sailed the Hudson River in 1609, and of the life-size replica which was constructed in connection with the 300th anniversary celebration of that celebrated voyage. Extensive though the research had been in the construction of the replica, additional information showed that the original had been different in many details. The replica was brought to this country, and, after being used in the celebration, was ultimately put up on land at Poughkeepsie, Through neglect, it deteriorated and finally it burned.

Among the fine, detailed models exhibited by the speaker were those of the U..S. Constitution and the U.S.S. Constellation.

As part of the brief business meeting Stuart Munson, new president of the Kingston Lions Club, accepted the gavel from retiring president Dr. Stephen McGrath.

It was announced that the Kingston Rotary Club will join the Lions at their meeting next week, due to the Fourth of July holiday.

The answers to everyday insurance problems* by HERMAN J. EATON, C.L.U.

QUESTION: Last year we paid a motel owner for a cigarette burn in a chair but this year we stopped there again and they told us their insurance company paid for it. Is there any way we could get our money back?
ANSWER: Yours is a legal question but we can tell you the motel owner was not entitled to payment from both you and his insurance company. Better see an attorney if you want to collect.

Chinese Orphans on Way

HONG KONG (AP)—Forty-eight Chinese orphans left Hong Kong by jet airliner today for adoption by American families.

Most were between 8 and 14 years of age, and they were evenly divided between boys and girls. It was the biggest group of orphans sent to the United States since the program was inaugurated here in 1958. All came to Hong Kong prior to the mass refugee exodus from Red China last month.

The program is sponsored by the International Social Services, which has moved 650 orphans from Hong Kong to the United States in the last four years.

May Abolish '58 Feed Grain Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Agriculture Committee is putting together a farm bill with somewhat stricter provisions than present law to substitute for the tightly controlled administration program rejected by the House last week.

No final decisions have been made, but among preliminary proposals is one to abolish the 1958 feed grain plan, blamed by Democrats for increasing surpluses. This plan would go back into effect if Congress took no action.

The committee change would provide for reversion to an earlier authorization for the secretary of agriculture to set corn and feed grain support prices at from zero to 90 per cent of parity and impose acreage allotments, but not marketing quotas.

There would be no price support for non-complying farmers, if allotments were set, and the Commodity Credit Corporation would be barred from selling grain at less than 50 per cent of parity.

Red, Not The Big Apple Is Customer Dish

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most shoppers seem to prefer their Red-Delicious apples to be red.

That is the Department of Agriculture's conclusion after a test of customer preference.

Marketing researchers found that the greater the proportion of red color in the apple display the greater the sales even though there was little or no difference in taste or nutritive value.

It appears that the premium paid for highly colored Red-Delicious apples, the department said, has some justification on the basis of consumer acceptance.

Extends Pan Am Strike Ban

Review Is Sought Of Judge's Action

NEW YORK (APz — A federal judge has ordered a 10-day extension of his temporary ban against a strike by Pan American World Airways' 500 flight engineers.

Daniel Kornblum, counsel to the engineers' union, said he would seek an immediate review of U.S. Dist. Judge George Rosling's action by the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Rosling ordered the extension Tuesday 20 minutes before the expiration of his order which last Saturday ended a strike against Pan Am four hours after it started.

To Continue Argument

Rosling called counsel for Pan Am and the union back before him again today for continued argument on the airline's application for a full-fledged injunction.

Eastern Air Lines—shut down since Saturday when the engineers struck it along with Pan Am—said it would await the outcome of further court proceedings in the Pan Am case before deciding on its course of action.

Eastern said resumption of service would take several days to arrange, and added: "If resumed under present circumstances, there would be no assurance that operations would continue."

That was widely interpreted to mean that Eastern was reluctant to resume flights under a court order that was only temporary.

Seek Third Seat

The issue between the two airlines and the AFL-CIO Flight Engineers International Association is basically the engineers' fight to preserve their jobs when the cockpit crews of jet airliners are reduced soon from four to three men. The engineers want to get the third seat in the cockpit along with two pilots. They also fear their union would be swallowed up by the larger AFL-CIO Air Line Pilots Association in the proposed merger of the two unions.

Present jet cockpit crews are three pilots and one engineer.

Rosling said he was continuing the case because he needed time for an orderly, extensive hearing of testimony that would aid him in reaching a decision.

Pan American has been maintaining normal operations. The line carries about 15,000 passengers a day on international flights.

Eastern, which has 575 flight engineers, normally carries about 30,000 passengers a day on 1,424 domestic and international flights.

Hospital Presses Probe About Key Used by Escapees

Investigation was being pressed today by authorities at Harlem Valley State Hospital, Wingdale, in an attempt to determine how six inmates obtained a key used by them to escape from the institution Monday night.

Dr. Lawrence P. Roberts, director of the hospital, made known the planned investigation Tuesday afternoon. He said the six inmates either used a regular key or one fashioned from metal.

Shortly after 10 p. m. Monday, the six unlocked a barred second floor window of Building 26, a closed ward, and fled by sliding down an improvised rope made of bed sheets.

Five of the inmates were apprehended within three hours south of Wingdale by Henry Reimer, Wingdale, who is awaiting appointment as a state trooper. Reimer spotted the quintet and summoned Dover Plains troopers. The five were returned to the state hospital.

The sixth was found yesterday at about 6:30 a. m. hiding behind a filling station not far from the institution.

Ship Hobby Is Topic for Lions

A fascinating hobby that became a lifelong work was described by Karl F. Wede in a talk given before the regular Tuesday meeting of the Kingston Lions Club.

Wede, born in Germany and now a resident in the Glenerie Lake area between Kingston and Saugerties, became a dealer in nautical antiques and ship models as a result of becoming a youthful collector of valuable specimens during his early years in Germany. The speaker illustrated his talk on "Sailing Ships and their part in the Development of America" with a fine display of ship models.

Starting with the Viking ships, which he described as "actually rowboats with sails," the speaker enlightened his audience with interesting descriptions of the more advanced sailing vessels that followed.

Wede told of Henry Hudson's "Half Moon" in which he sailed the Hudson River in 1609, and of the life-size replica which was constructed in connection with the 300th anniversary celebration of that celebrated voyage. Extensive though the research had been in the construction of the replica, additional information showed that the original had been different in many details. The replica was brought to this country, and, after being used in the celebration, was ultimately put up on land at Poughkeepsie. Through neglect, it deteriorated and finally it burned.

Among the fine, detailed models exhibited by the speaker were those of the U.S. Constitution and the U.S.S. Constellation.

As part of the brief business meeting Stuart Munson, new president of the Kingston Lions Club, accepted the gavel from retiring president Dr. Stephen McGrath.

It was announced that the Kingston Rotary Club will join the Lions at their meeting next week, due to the Fourth of July holiday.
